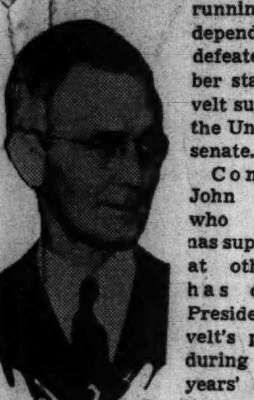
ROOSEVELT MAN BEATEN IN RACE FOR U. S. SENATE

Robinson Seat Won by Independent.

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—A lukewarm Roosevelt man, running as an independent, today defeated a rubber stamp Roosevelt supporter for the United States senate.



John E. Miller. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

Congressman John E. Miller, who sometimes has supported and at other times has opposed President Roosevelt's policies during his seven years' service in the house of representatives, piled up an impressive majority over Gov. Carl G. Bailey, who pledged himself as "100 per cent for Roosevelt," in today's special election to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Joseph T. Robinson.

Unofficial returns from 1,542 of the state's 1,923 precincts gave Miller 61,528 votes to 40,390 for Gov. Bailey.

Bailey Concedes Defeat.

In a statement addressed "to the people of Arkansas," Bailey late tonight conceded his defeat.

"I concede the election of Congressman Miller to succeed Senator Robinson," the statement said. "I shall continue to serve you as governor to the best of my ability."

Although the national administration stood out as the chief issue in the election, the campaign was punctuated with bitter factional strife within the Democratic party, which is dominant in this state. There was no Republican entry in the contest. The unexpired term will end Jan. 1, 1943.

Court Issue Injected.

Miller won his impressive victory despite Bailey's campaign cry that to elect the congressman would be "a slap in the face" for President Roosevelt. Bailey frequently charged that Miller was "anti-Roosevelt" and had the "backing of the Liberty league." The governor also accused Miller of helping to block the Roosevelt Supreme court reorganization plan as a member of the house judiciary committee.

Gov. Bailey, who is 43 years old and a former union railroad worker, was nominated by the state Democratic committee. He promised to support President Roosevelt's program to the letter if elected to the senate.

Congressman Miller, who is 49 and a lifelong Democrat, referred frankly in his campaign to the fact he had voted to override Mr. Roosevelt's veto on the veterans' bonus. He also declared that he did not agree with some of the President's farm legislation ideas and that he was against the Black-Connery wages and hours bill.

Insists on Independence.

The congressman emphasized throughout his speeches that although he admired the "humanitarian aims" of President Roosevelt he reserved the right to vote independently on presidential proposals.

Miller fanned the flames of strife within the state Democratic ranks with a charge of "Bailey dictatorship." He accused the governor of dictating the action of the state committee in having himself nominated for the senate post. Furthermore, the congressman charged, the state committee acted illegally in turning down petitions for a primary.

WAGNER FOR MAHONEY

New York, Oct. 18.—[Special.]—New York City's bitter mayoralty fight took on added zest tonight as Robert F. Wagner, liberal United States senator, ignored the appeals of labor leaders to remain neutral and at a meeting of 1,500 cheering partisans urged the election of Tammany candidate Jeremiah T. Mahoney.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the American Federation of Labor affiliates which Mayor Fiorello La Guardia's labor backer has charged is a phoney labor group called into existence for campaign purposes only. La Guardia is seeking reëlection on a good government issue. He has the support of the Re-

SNOW HINDERS SEARCHERS IN CLIMB TO PEAK

Scout Planes See No Sign of Life.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Searchers fought through dense wilderness and heavy snow in the Uinta mountains, 80 miles southeast of here tonight toward Hayden Peak and the scattered wreckage of a huge transcontinental airliner that had carried nineteen persons. The big ship had been sighted from other airplanes hours before.

Hoping against hope, the rescue parties were equipped to give medical aid to any of the passengers and crew who might still be alive, but every indication was that all aboard the shattered ship were beyond aid. Airmen who flew over the wreckage said there was no indication of life there.

Wings Gone, Front Crushed.

"We flew as close above the smashed plane as we dared and it doesn't seem possible that any one survived," said Carl Reynolds, staf photographer of the Salt Lake Telegram.

"The front of the plane is all smashed in and the wings are sheared off. The front part of the fuselage is intact. There was not a sign of the people who had been aboard it."

Although it will not be known definitly until the searchers reach the ship—the plane struck at an altitude of 10,000 feet—it now appears that the wreck was the most tragic in the history of American air line operations.

17 Dead Previous Mark.

The largest number of persons previously killed in the crash of a heavier-than-air machine occurred on Jan. 14, 1936, at Goodwin, Ark., when 17 persons died.

The mountainside where the plane smashed up is only a ten minute flight from the Knight, Wyo., landing field, but the wreckage is in Utah. Flyers who found it said the nearest town appeared to be Holiday Park, Utah, but that "it's just about straight up from there."

Those attempting to reach the peak faced steep walls of granite, cliffs, and canyons hundreds of feet high, mud, and débris from recent cloudbursts in the lowlands, and soft, deep new snow higher up.

They faced also the great danger of rock slides which thunder down without warning, and the likelihood of sudden, fierce blizzards which rage violently for hours.

Many Never Climbed.

"Those airline people were just lucky to find that plane," observed one townsman.

"Winter's about here, and tonight we might have a storm that would bury every trace of the ship until next summer."

Many peaks in the region never have been climbed and much of its area never has been explored by white men. There are only a few scattered ranches.

It may be several days, according to Sherif Frank L. Narramore of Knight, who is leading one of the searching groups, before it will be possible to reach the ship.

Several rescue crews were on their way by pack train and on foot for the ridge-top. Some were forced to return to Knight, Holiday Park, and other starting points, while others spent the night at remote ranch houses, ready to renew their climb at dawn.

May Reach Goal Today.

A member of one of the crews reported by telephone to Salt Lake City that the "going is extremely rough" and it is doubtful if any searchers would reach the wreck before tomorrow afternoon.

The wrecked airliner was a new Douglas DC-3 machine owned by United Air Lines. It had disappeared shortly after 9:16 o'clock [central standard time] on Sunday evening after its pilot, Earl D. Woodgerd, an airways veteran, had reported it over Rock Springs, Wyo., and bound for Salt Lake City where it was due 26 minutes later.

Other members of the crew were Co-pilot John Adams, 27, of Denver, and Miss Leah Derr, 23, of Salt Lake City, the stewardess.

The passengers as reported by United officials were:

A SKITTISH FEMALE LAPS UP HER BEER, BURPS, AND IS GONE

For three hours yesterday Deputy Sherifs Stanley Christian and Frank Kazlausky clambered over, around, and inside the roadhouse of Louis Zannini, a mile south of Waukegan on Green Bay road, in the interests of Susie, a runaway monkey with a weakness for fast living.

But Susie remained immune to all the male blandishments. The deputies even played the roadhouse piano. Susie liked the tunes and scampered inside, but flitted out again when they tried to grab her.

Then they played their trump, and filled a dish with beer, setting it on the bar. But before they could snatch her, Susie had lapped up the beer, and with a polite burp, scampered outside and disappeared. She belongs to a filling station owner in Waukegan.

Jury Hears of Money Willed to Mrs. Hahn

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—A motive for the alleged poison murder of Jacob Wagner, 78 year old retired German gardener, by the plump little blonde, Mrs. Anna Marie Hahn, 31 years old, was supplied to her murder jury tonight.

In a special night session to which the 11 women jurors came attired in becoming costumes, a purported will of Wagner's leaving his money to Mrs. Hahn was read by Assistant Prosecutor Loyal Martin. Previously, in an opening statement to the jury Prosecutor Dudley Miller Outcalt said Wagner left $4,000.

Earlier in the day the jury heard about Mrs. Hahn's attempt to cash a $1,000 savings withdrawal order on his account which she later admitted was forged a few hours after Wagner's death.

Find Arsenic in Basement.

Another link in the states' chain of circumstantial evidence against Mrs. Hahn was provided by police testimony of a bottle containing white substance found in the basement of her home. An analysis of the contents of the bottle showing it was arsenic later will be introduced, according to the state.

State witnesses previously had related how in the middle of last May Mrs. Hahn came to the German-American neighborhood in which Wagner resided and asked if any old men lived there. Thus she made herself known to him at that time, the state contends.

The "will" read to the jury, however, was dated Jan. 10, 1936, and read:

"I have my money in the Fifth Third Trust company. I want all my bills paid and my funeral paid for. The rest I want to go to my relative, Mrs. Anna Hahn. I want no flowers and I don't want to be laid out."

Lets Clerk in Wagner's Room.

Charles Dotzauer, deputy clerk of the Probate court, said that he was called to Wagner's residence, June 4, the day after he died in Good Samaritan hospital. There, Mrs. Hahn let him in Wagner's room with her key.

"I searched the room and found a letter, supposed to be a will, on the mantel piece, under a newspaper," he said.

The jury spent most of the evening

RHEIMS CATHEDRAL, RUINED BY GERMAN SHELLS, REDEDICATED

RHEIMS, France, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The historic Rheims cathedral, almost completely destroyed by German shells during the world war, was reconsecrated today. Cardinal Emmanuel Suhard, archbishop of Rheims, and Msgr. Valerio Valeri, the papal nuncio to France, were among the hundreds of prelates and priests who heard the bishop of Troyes celebrate the pontifical mass reconsecrating the cathedral. The bishop said the last mass in the cathedral before a German bombardment shattered it 23 years ago. The cathedral is 700 years old.

SEVEN CHICAGO INMATES FLEE STATE HOSPITAL

Seven young inmates of the Dixon State hospital, Dixon, Ill., escaped shortly after 9 o'clock last night and were believed heading for Chicago this morning. The institution is for feeble-minded and epileptic boys and girls and is about 104 miles west of Chicago.

The fugitives as named by hospital authorities and their addresses at the time they were sent to the hospital are: Charles Hayes, 25 years old, 1445 West Erie street; Donald Reibeling, 15, of 2248 West Madison street; Rocco Padavan, 21, of 925 South Laflin street; Harry Swiatkowski, 16, of 844 Greenview avenue; Alfred Bracey, 19, colored, of 3920 Langley avenue; Richard Kenny, 18, colored, of 3815 Cottage Grove avenue, and William Turner, 18, colored, of 5433 Indiana avenue.

All were committed from the Chicago Juvenile court.

The escape followed the usual Monday night dance. While other patients were being checked back into the building from the assembly hall the seven slipped through a window. Their flight was soon discovered and a radio warning was broadcast.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Stock prices on America's leading markets yesterday crashed to the lowest levels in more than two years. Weakened by two months of persistent sharp declines, the quotations on leading issues dropped $2 to as much as $15 per share as wave upon wave of selling flooded into the stock exchanges during the afternoon hours.

The market was weak during the early hours of trading, but the big burst of selling orders came into the exchanges after the publication of the weekly forecast on steel production by the American Iron and Steel Institute, which predicted that the nation's steel plants this week would be operating at only 55.8 per cent of their theoretical capacity. This was a drop of 7.8 points for the week.

U. S. Steel Leads Decline.

United States Steel common stock promptly led the retreat on the New York Stock exchange, followed by other steel stocks and motor shares, particularly Chrysler. The high speed tickers soon lagged far behind actual transactions on the floor of the exchange. The final quotation of an active issue did not appear on the tape until seventeen minutes after the closing gong [2 p. m., Chicago time].

According to the Dow-Jones average of thirty industrial stocks yesterday's decline was the worst single day's performance since June 16, 1930. On that day the average dropped 14.20 points. Yesterday it closed at 125.73, off 10.57 points for the day.

Leaders Decline Sharply.

U. S. Steel closed at $61.50 per share, off $7. Other important stocks closed as follows: Chrysler 62¼, off 11; Allied Chemical 163, off 10¼; Bethlehem Steel 49½, off 8⅜; General Motors 36, off 4⅜; Westinghouse 97, off 9½; Deere 71½, off 15; U. S. Rubber 22⅛, off 6¾; Sears-Roebuck 60⅞, off 5⅛; Douglas Aircraft 31½, off 6; U. S. Smelting, 61, off 6¼; du Pont 122⅞, off 6⅜; Anaconda 27⅝, off 4⅝, and Radio corporation — most active stock of the day—5⅝, off 1⅜.

Yesterday's trading volume was the largest on the New York and Chicago Stock exchanges and the New York curb since last March, when the "recovery" market definitly ended and prices began to slide downhill. Transactions on the New York Stock exchange totaled 3,227,-

President Reveals Deficit Nearly 700 Millions.

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—President Roosevelt appeals to private charities for relief funds; warns government expenditures must be slashed to prevent heavy increase of federal tax. Details on page 2.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—With expenditures still going up and receipts failing to measure up to his expectations, President Roosevelt today issued a new budget estimate in which he admitted that the deficit for the 1938 fiscal year will be nearly 700 millions, compared with the 418 millions he estimated on April 20 last.

Apparently 700 millions is the minimum deficit in prospect for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1938. How much more it actually will be is anybody's guess. The President achieved a showing of a deficit not exceeding 700 millions only by revising downward by 115 millions the investment requirements for the old age pension reserve and by estimating prospective economies at 208 millions.

Potential Billion Deficit.

If the executive and congress fail to achieve these economies the deficit will be in the neighborhood of 1 billion dollars. What with the deficiency appropriations yet to be voted for this fiscal year and with a further decline in anticipated income tax receipts unless business takes a decided turn for the better the deficit might easily top 1½ billions.

At the time Mr. Roosevelt forecast a 418 million dollar deficit in April and detailed his plans for balancing the budget this fiscal year Representative Bertrand H. Snell [R., N. Y.], minority leader of the house, predicted that the deficit would be nearer 2 billions. It will be Uncle Sam's eighth year in the red.

In the budget message today the President makes no further promise in regard to balancing the budget. In April he said he expected to wipe out the deficit in 1938 through economies and through liquidation of assets of the emergency agencies. He now estimates the economies to be achieved at 208 millions but omits any estimate of liquidation of assets.

Tax Revenue Overestimated.

The increase in the prospective deficit is due mainly to the overestimate of tax revenue by the treasury. The President now finds that the aggregate receipts for 1938 will be about 6 billions 650 millions, or 643 millions less than he estimated in his budget message last January and 256 millions less than he calculated last April.

It is chiefly in income taxes and social securities taxes that the government's income is failing to come up to the estimates. The undistributed profits tax, which was clapped on business, has signally failed to produce the volume of revenue expected from income taxes on the profits corporations were compelled to distribute.

Reflects Current Recession.

Anticipated income tax revenue is now far below the estimates based on the degree of recovery that has taken place, thus reflecting the current recession in business that is attributed in large measure to the tax laws and other restrictions on business and to the prospect of wages and hours and other legislation likely to increase cost of production and decrease profits.

While estimated revenue was declining to the extent of 643 millions, expenditures were going up 344 millions. But by deducting the 115 millions, which the budget director has found is unnecessary to expend for the old age pension fund, and the 208 millions of prospective economies the President makes a showing of expenditures only 21 millions greater than he estimated in April.

Explains Increased Spending.

"The enactment by congress of the new railroad retirement act which increased the number of annuitants by adding certain groups of employés, retired under railroad pension systems, who were not included under the provisions of the former retirement act, and which added a reserve feature necessitating the annual investment of funds to establish a reserve against future payments, 113 million dollars.

"The continuation by congress of reduced interest rates on federal land bank loans and the reduction, for the first time, of the interest rates on land bank commissioner's loans, necessitating an additional expenditure to reimburse the land banks and the federal farm mortgage corporation for the loss suffered through these reductions, 40 million dollars.

"The enactment by congress of legislation authorizing refund of the taxes collected under title 9 of the social security act to those states enacting, subsequent to the collection of such taxes, unemployment compensation programs, 36 million dollars.

"The legislative extension of the Public Works administration for two years and increase in the amount of funds made available for grants and administrative expenses, $25,000,000.

"The situation with respect to the impending surplus cotton crop, which will make it necessary for the Commodity Credit corporation to make cotton loans, 130 million dollars.

Claims Offsetting Reductions.

The manipulation by which the 344 millions of increased expenditures are placed in a more favorable light was set forth by the President as follows:

"As previously stated changes which have occurred since last April have added 344 million dollars to the estimated expenditures, but there have been offsetting reductions in other expenditures amounting to 323 million dollars.

"A part of this reduction was in the estimated expenditures under the old age reserve account. While the former estimate of expenditures for investments under this account was 540 million dollars, it has been found, upon a reëxamination of the status of the fund, that the total amount of investments in the account on June 30, 1928, should be 690 million dollars. Inasmuch as 265 million dollars was invested prior to this fiscal year the remaining amount necessary to place the fund in proper status at the end of this fiscal year is 425 million dollars, a reduction of 115 million dollars in the amount previously estimated.

"The remaining reductions amounting to 208 million dollars are accounted for by savings to be effected by administrative action in curtailing other classes of expenditures."

Debt Retirement Greater.

After noting that the 1938 estimates include 200 millions for debt retirement, 96 millions more than expended last year, the President said that the deficit would be $695,245,000, "which is 2 billion 12 million dollars less than the net deficit" for 1937.

"By reason of the net deficit," he continued, "the total public debt will be increased in the current fiscal year by $695,245,000 provided that the balance in the general fund on June 30, 1938, is the same as it was on June 30, 1937. The point of major significance in connection with the debt, however, will be the change in the character of the debt which will occur during the year.

"There are included in the total expenditures for 1938 which resulted in the above deficit investments in special government obligations in the amount of 575 million dollars. In addition contributions to be made by the states to the unemployment trust fund will likewise be invested in special government obligations in the net amount of 500 million dollars.

"Thus public debt receipts made available from the sale of these special obligations to investment accounts in the amount of 1 billion 75 million dollars will be used to finance the deficit of 695 million dollars and lessen the debt outstanding in the hands of the public by 380,000,000 dollars. This does not mean a decrease in the total gross debt but only a switch from the hands of the public to government investment accounts.

"This does not take into account any change in the public debt which may occur as a result of the treasury policy with respect to the sterilization of gold."

BUDGET FIGURES COMPARED

Washington, D. C., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—In revising upward his estimate of the prospective deficit for the current fiscal year from 418 million to 700 million dollars President Roosevelt made public the following summary of the 1938 budget compared with the actual 1937 expenditures:

Judge Green to Resign and Renew Law Practice

Judge Thomas A. Green of the Municipal court announced last night that he is resigning at the end of this month to return to the private practice of law. His only comment was: "I cannot afford to be judge." The salary of a Municipal court judge is $10,000 a year. Judge Green was first elected to the bench in 1930 and was reëlected last spring. His term has five and one-half years to run.

publicans, the dominant labor groups, the communists, the fusionists, and every radical group in the city.

Mahoney, a former Supreme court justice, has the solid backing of Tammany hall following his victorious primary battle with United States Senator Royal S. Copeland. James A. Farley gave a hint on whom the Roosevelt administration is supporting by coming out for the Tammany man. This in spite of the fact that the radical and allegedly communistic mayor has consistently supported the President.

Makes Bid for Labor.

Mahoney in his address took cognizance of the charges. He devoted himself largely to allying himself with Senator Wagner's labor record and attacking La Guardia as one who would lead organized labor into the "red forest" and the "communist jungle."

For his part Senator Wagner refrained from attacking La Guardia except for the indirect criticism he voiced in expressing doubt of the ability of an administration supported by heterogeneous elements to match the record of achievement for the masses piled up in Washington and Albany.

Virtually every political and economic achievement in the interest of the masses of the people, Senator Wagner said, has resulted from "battles started and fought to a successful finish by the Democratic party."

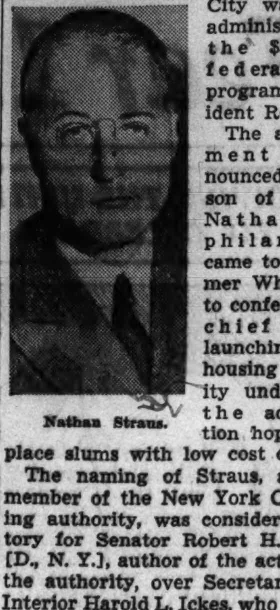
NATHAN STRAUS IS NAMED CHIEF OF U. S. HOUSING

Will Spend 526 Million in Three Years.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Nathan Straus of New York City was named administrator of the $526,000,000 federal housing program by President Roosevelt.



Nathan Straus.

The appointment was announced after the son of the late Nathan Straus, philanthropist, came to the summer White House to confer with his chief on the launching of the housing authority under which the administration hopes to replace slums with low cost dwellings.

The naming of Straus, a former member of the New York City housing authority, was considered a victory for Senator Robert H. Wagner [D., N. Y.], author of the act creating the authority, over Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, who had been urging the appointment of Howard Gray, head of the PWA housing unit.

Not Mrs. Roosevelt's Choice.

It was also a bit bitter to Mrs. Roosevelt, who had been supporting John Ihlder, head of the Washington Alley authority, the capital's anti-slum unit. And it dashed hopes of Straus' superior on the New York City authority, Chairman Langdon Post, one time New York assemblyman.

The housing authority which Straus will administer is not as powerful a unit as the administration had hoped to create. Confronted with stubborn opposition of the conservative Democrats of the south and Republicans the administration was forced to swallow many modifications.

State Shares Limited.

The chief defeat for the Wagner forces, which was largely concerned with getting as large a slice of the easy money as possible for New York City was in unwilling acceptance of a provision that no one state could receive more than ten per cent of the federal funds in a given year.

This curtailed broad plans of building permanent colonies of administration voters. The planners were positive they could count voters, who were receiving the benefits of low rent in the ranks of the Democratic party.

Straus was Mr. Roosevelt's only official caller of the day and the last of his present visit to his family home.

PRESIDENT ASKS LARGER PRIVATE HELP IN RELIEF

Says Federal Burden Must Be Cut.

Hyde Park, N. Y., Oct. 18.—[Special.] — Federal relief expenditures must be slashed to the bone so that federal taxes will not have to be greatly increased, President Roosevelt declared tonight in an appeal to local and private charities to take over the relief burden. Mr. Roosevelt participated in the annual broadcast of the community fund mobilization for human needs. He spoke from the library of his family home.

"The federal government with the return of prosperity must more and more narrow the circle of its relief activities and reduce the amount of federal revenues to be expended in the amelioration of human want and distress in the various communities of our land," he said.

Must Halt Federal Spending.

"I say this because we all agree that unless federal taxes are to be greatly increased, the expenditures have to be brought within the existing tax receipts. Although federal government relief activities have to be curtailed, there must needs be no abatement of state, local, and individual relief work. Indeed, local and private activities must be increased."

The mention of "the return of prosperity" came at a time when tobogganing of the securities markets has business talking of the "Roosevelt panic."

It was believed that Mr. Roosevelt tossed the indirect promise of no increase in taxes into the brief speech as a feeler toward a more reassuring message he may give business in the speech he will deliver in dedicating the new federal reserve board building in Washington Wednesday.

Many Still in Need.

"There is danger," he said, "we may be blinded by the welcome light of returning prosperity to the very real need that still exists for a considerable part of our population. We must not forget that there are people who still are hungry, their children undernourished; that rags are the clothing of many of our countrymen and miserable shacks or crowded city tenements their home.

"These are the things that make it imperative for us to go forward without hesitation in our efforts to bring security, opportunity, and a decent standard of living to all our people, so that our prosperity may be a true prosperity for the whole nation."

$5,000,000 FEES SUNK IN CHICAGO TRANSIT MUDDLE

Order Hearing Tomorrow to End Receiverships.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson at an important transit hearing tomorrow will seek to clear up major issues in the local transportation muddle which company and city interests have been trying to solve at great expense for more than ten years.

A comprehensive settlement of the tangle would not only provide transit riders with improved service but also should pave the way for ending the long and costly receiverships of the Chicago Surface Lines companies and the Chicago Rapid Transit company [elevated lines].

Figures Mount High.

It was estimated conservatively yesterday that five million dollars have been expended by city and company interests in legal and engineering fees in connection with receiverships and planning since the 1907 ordinances of the surface lines companies expired ten years ago.

Outlays by the companies for receivers' and attorneys' fees have been large. So have city expenditures from the traction fund. In addition there is the expense to securities groups to form and keep up reorganization and protective committees.

Last Year's Costs Limited.

Last year, for example, expenditures of the city and the companies for these purposes exceeded $350,000. The surface lines spent $105,000 in fees for receivers and receivers' attorneys. It cost the elevated company $72,000 for the same services, and the city spent $187,000 from the traction fund for planning and investigation.

There are four receivers for the surface lines company. Each received $15,000 in 1936. The receivers are Walter J. Cummings, chairman of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company; Guy A. Richardson, president of the surface lines; Edward E. Brown, president of the First National Bank, and Harvey B. Fleming, a surface lines official. Attorneys for these receivers drew $45,000 last year.

Two Handle "L" Lines.

During 1936 the elevated company had two receivers, Britton I. Budd and Col. A. A. Sprague, each receiving $24,000. Their attorneys drew $24,000. Col. Sprague has acted as sole trustee for the elevated company, drawing $2,000 a month, since the company went into 77B bankruptcy proceedings early this year.

Last year's expenditures by the city from the traction fund included $22,500 salary and expenses for William H. Sexton, special attorney for the city council's local transportation committee. Maj. R. F. Kelker and Philip Harrington, engineers for the committee, drew $16,000 and $20,000 respectively.

Expenses Smaller Recently.

Traction fund expenditures during the present reorganization negotiations have been relatively small compared with expenses from 1930 to 1932, when the discarded 1930 plan of consolidation was being prepared. Approximately $2,000,000 was spent in those 3 years. Since 1927 more than $3,000,000 dollars has been spent from the fund, chiefly for engineering and legal expenses. Since 1911 about $4,000,000 has been drawn from the fund.

Transit interests are hopeful that Judge Wilkerson's move to bring all aspects of the local transportation situation into the open may contribute to an early settlement of the ordinance problem and the end of the expensive receiverships.

Ordinance Is Problem.

Lack of agreement on a new ordinance has been the sole obstacle to the ending of the surface lines receiverships. The four surface companies are solvent with cash resources of 30 million dollars. Settlement of the ordinance problem would have paved the way to end the receivership, since it would have removed the cause by permitting refunding of bonds which matured in 1927.

The surface lines companies have pending the Abbott plan of reorganization which would allow them to come out of receivership as a single corporation. They have asked Judge Wilkerson to approve this plan without waiting for a new ordinance.

Seek Transit Consolidation.

Elevated interests, however, will reiterate their contention before Judge Wilkerson that only through a financial consolidation of the systems can a comprehensive settlement be reached.

The city's position since the breakdown of consolidation negotiations between the surface lines and elevated representatives has not been definitly stated. It is expected that a definite expression will be made at the court hearing.

Mayor Kelly said yesterday that he personally will present a message to the court on behalf of the city administration. He will make known his message this morning at a meeting of the local transportation committee.

Unification Effort Likely.

Indications are that future efforts may be devoted to working out a program for unification of all local transportation systems under one management instead of an immediate financial consolidation of the systems. This might be done through an agreement providing for lease of elevated facilities by the surface lines. The surface lines have indicated their readiness to acquire the Chicago Motor Coach company as soon as the ordinance question is settled.

GIVES UP HER SON

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Juanita Persano Borg and her son, George Marshall Borg Jr., who was given to her former husband when she became frightened by paralysis spread. She had won a bitter contest for the child's custody.

MRS. BORG GIVES BABY SON BACK TO EX-HUSBAND

Paralysis Scare Causes Custody Shift.

After a hard fought battle to win the custody of her 2½ year old son, Mrs. Juanita Persano Borg has given him back to her ex-husband and her former father-in-law, George W. Borg, wealthy manufacturer.

Full custody of the boy, George Marshall Borg Jr., was granted to the father yesterday by Judge Roscoe Luce of the Walworth County court at Elkhorn, Wis. Mrs. Borg had received custody of her son last June 30, when her husband was granted an uncontested divorce.

Judge Luce, who granted the divorce, amended the question of custody on Sept. 18 when the young couple and their lawyers appeared in court. Mrs. Borg, who is 21 years old and lives at 5518 Winthrop avenue, was represented by Attorney Samuel A. Rinella.

Mother Determines Change.

According to Judge Luce, Mrs. Borg determined on this change herself, fearful of the infantile paralysis epidemic, then reaching its height here. Believing the boy would be safer at her father-in-law's estate on Delavan lake, Judge Luce said, she voluntarily gave up his custody, but retained the right to visit him at any time.

The amended decree also relieved young Borg of paying $50 a month for support of his son, and it was understood there was a readjustment in the out of court settlement previously reached.

This settlement, it was reported, had set up a $75,000 trust fund by the elder Borg for the benefit of Mrs. Borg and the baby. They are to receive a life income, and in addition George Jr. will receive a substantial share of the principal when he reaches his majority.

18 Month Court Battle.

Baby George was the chief issue in 18 months of court battles before five judges of Cook county courts before the Borgs shifted their battleground to Wisconsin on the basis of young Borg's residence on his father's estate.

A year ago last March Judge Michael Feinberg dismissed the first suit of the case, a writ of habeas corpus brought by the senior Borg to regain custody of the boy from his daughter-in-law under terms of a guardianship contract.

The Borgs were married Jan. 24, 1934, and lived for a while at the Delavan lake home. Mrs. Borg said she was forced to leave there March 4, 1936, because her father-in-law tried to extend his domination from his son to her and the baby.

WOMEN MOBILIZE COOK COUNTY CLUBS FOR SYPHILIS TESTS

A syphilis test for every woman in Cook county was set yesterday as the goal of 23 Cook county women's organizations with a combined membership of 500,000.

Six hundred delegates, meeting at the Chicago Woman's Club theater to mobilize club women in the city's campaign against venereal disease, voted unanimously to adopt a five point plan of action presented by Dr. Bertha M. Shafer, medical clinic director of the Illinois Social Hygiene league.

Under the plan the delegates agreed [1] to take the blood test themselves, [2] recommend that all members of their clubs take the tests, [3] have their families take tests, [4] use the influence of their organizations to persuade non-club women to take tests, and [5] aid the board of health and social hygiene league in spreading anti-syphilis information and in establishing centers for treatment.

SUIT STARTS NEW FIGHT FOR PRISON MADE AUTO TAGS

Attorney General Otto Kerner said yesterday that his office is preparing a bill for an injunction to prohibit the payment of state funds on Secretary of State Hughes' contract with Hemp & Co. of Macomb, Ill., for the manufacture of the Illinois automobile license plates for 1938.

His action, which probably will be taken next week, is prompted, he said, by a request from A. L. Bowen, director of public welfare, who contends that the plates should be made by convict labor at Stateville. The plates for 1936 and 1937 were made by private contractors, but for several years were made by the state with prison labor.

Bowen contends that a law enacted in 1931, while intended primarily to keep prison made products out of competition with the products of free labor, provided that so far as possible the state itself will absorb the output of its penitentiaries. For that purpose, he holds, the law requires that a state official needing equipment or supplies that can be obtained from his department must requisition from that source before going into the outside market.

TWO HURT IN CAR CRASH.

Galesburg, Ill., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—George Ditto, 32, and August Hannig, 36, both of Keithsburg, are in a hospital here with serious injuries received when their car left the pavement near Viola late yesterday. Both were thrown through the windshield.

WORLD CATCHES UP WITH GIRL, 13, AND HER BROOD

The world almost forgot Gladys McGlory and her four small brothers and sisters. Recently their mother was taken from their home at 1905 South Pulaski road to the Chicago State hospital, in Dunning. A week ago yesterday their father, Clement, was taken to the Psychopathic hospital.

Gladys, 13 years old, tried as hard as she could to keep her younger brothers and sisters from getting hungry and cold, but there was hardly any food or any fuel. Last Saturday, social service workers and the Lawndale police found them and took them to St. Joseph's Home for the Friendless, 739 East 35th street.

But Sunday morning they disappeared. Finally, yesterday afternoon, they were found again in their home. Gladys said they left the orphanage to find their grandmother in Oak Park but couldn't find her so they had to go home. She said they walked both ways. Last night the children were cared for at the Juvenile home.

ROBBED AND STRIPPED IN ALLEY.

Two colored men dragged him into an alley at State and 18th streets Sunday night and robbed him of $70 his coat, hat and shoes, Frank C. Hall, 46 years old, an unemployed marine engineer whose home is in Erie, Pa. reported yesterday to Pekin Inn police.

HALT RACING AS QUINN'S TROOPS HOLD BIG TRACK

Rhode Island's Governor Fires Salvo at Foe.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pawtucket, R. I., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Gov. Robert E. Quinn reigned supreme over Rhode Island today when Narragansett race track, where a total of 110 million dollars has been bet on horses since 1934, failed to open for its scheduled fall meet. Three hundred National Guardsmen blocked all entrances and at the main gates the muzzles of machine guns pointed out ominously.

The governor declared that he was prepared to keep the racing arena under martial law until his political foe, Walter E. O'Hara, quit as managing director of the track. O'Hara canceled the day's races but showed no disposition to surrender to the Quinn dictatorship. In fact, fifty-one entries were taken for imaginary races tomorrow.

Newspaper Men Excluded.

Another blow was struck at the governor's rivals when Adjt. Gen. Herbert R. Dean, commandant of the Rhode Island National Guard, excluded editors, reporters, and photographers of the Providence Star-Tribune, published by O'Hara, from the track. One reporter, Leo Keneally, was forced to drive his car out of the area with two armed militiamen hanging on the running boards.

At the same time Gov. Quinn, directing the campaign from his office in Providence, issued a diatribe of charges that O'Hara was in league with the underworld. This was given as a reason for proclaiming that the track and the territory surrounding it for a mile in any direction was in "a state of insurrection."

"This is a fight between O'Hara and the decent people of this state," asserted the governor.

"O'Hara has imported a crowd of thugs and gangsters into Rhode Island and intimidated public officials. He has corrupted the sherif's office. He has used a yellow newspaper to vilify and libel decent men. There is no room for O'Hara in Rhode Island."

State House Picketed.

Two dozen former employés at Narragansett, who were thrown out of work by the governor's action, started to picket the statehouse on the hill looking over Providence tonight. They carried signs which read: "O'Hara gave us jobs—Quinn took them away." The track has employed a total of 1,800 men, with the patronage controled by the Democratic faction headed by O'Hara and Mayor Thomas McCoy of Pawtucket.

The racing oval was deserted during the day, although O'Hara, upon the advice of his counsel, went through the motions of starting the meet. Entries were taken, programs were issued, and the track was placed in the best of condition.

Shortly before the time scheduled for the first race a bugle sounded the call to the post, the notes reverberating through the silent grand stands and clubhouse. Up in the stands, where there would have been some 25,000 racing fans if the lid of martial law had not been clamped down, there were only four people, exercise boys playing a game of cards.

Horses Taken to Other Track.

By an official count of the National Guardsmen there were only forty-six racing horses in the stables where there are quarters for 1,200. During the afternoon several of the so-called "horse Pullmans," big moving vans, pulled up to the stables and carted off some of the racing horses to Rockingham, the track at Salem, N. H., which has extended its season for another thirty days because of the demise of Narragansett.

Seven horses were in stalls in the Araho [O'Hara's name spelled backwards] stable of O'Hara's wife, Cle. Outside were the water buckets and other equipment splashed with the black and white polka dot colors of the O'Hara stable.

Horses were permitted to exercise until 10 a. m., when they were led off the track on orders from the National Guard officers. The Guardsmen, however, permitted sprinkling trucks and drying harrows on the track during the rest of the day.

Assails Press Ban.

Eugene J. Moriarity, managing editor of the Star-Tribune, issued a statement declaring Gen. Dean's exclusion of the editorial staf from the track constituted abridgment of the freedom of the press guaranteed in both the state and United States constitutions. The newspaper does not intend "to allow freedom of the press to be crushed under any military heel," Moriarity said.

Col. Webster reported that the situation was well in hand and there had been no change in the last eighteen hours since the area was placed under martial law. There had been no injuries or trouble of any kind, he said, and the officers were utilizing the opportunity to train their personnel.

The two officers refused to confirm or deny the report that Mayor McCoy, the Pawtucket police chief, Leonard A. Mills, and State Senator Russell Handy, an O'Hara lieutenant, had been excluded from the racing park.

The closing of Narragansett race track followed two unsuccessful efforts of the governor to drive O'Hara out by court action. In each case the Supreme court ruled against the governor and in O'Hara's favor.

More money passed through the pari-mutuel windows at Narragansett last year than at any other single track in the other 23 states of the country which permit public wagering on horse races. The betting volume, or "handle," as the turf fans call it, amounted to $34,096,865 in 1936.

Warfare Cuts into Profits.

At the start of the current season it appeared the total "handle" for this year would exceed 40 million dollars, but the internecine warfare in the Democratic party was reflected in the track's profits. Nevertheless, the track has handled a total of $109,818,611 in bets since it opened in August of 1934.

1937.
Fall [track closed].
Summer	$ 13,784,717	$459,495
Spring	8,948,763	479,987

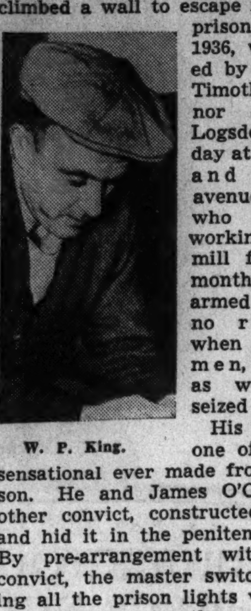
Fall	$ 8,128,011	$406,400
Summer	17,947,282	485,062
Spring	8,021,572	422,188
Total	$ 34,096,865
1935.
Fall	$ 9,943,138	$382,428
Summer	13,729,368	457,612
Spring	6,119,398	382,462
Total	$ 29,791,904
1934.
Fall	$ 11,338,073	$377,936
Summer	11,858,289	408,906
Total	$ 23,196,362
Grand total	109,818,611

O'Hara revealed late in the day he had been apprised of an order from the National Guard that no more horses could be moved into the track. The horses already in the stables and their trainers will not be molested, according to the order. O'Hara's only comment was that the new edict would work a hardship on owners who were shipping horses in from New York and Maryland. He said 200 race horses were in transit to Narragansett.

CONVICT RECAPTURED; PRISON LIGHTS TURNED OUT FOR HIS ESCAPE

William Patrick King, convict who climbed a wall to escape from Joliet prison on Nov. 7, 1936, was arrested by Detectives Timothy O'Connor and John Logsdon yesterday at 86th street and Mackinaw avenue. King, who had been working in a steel mill for several months, was unarmed and made no resistance when the policemen, disguised as workmen, seized him.



W. P. King.

His flight was one of the most sensational ever made from the prison. He and James O'Connor, another convict, constructed a ladder and hid it in the penitentiary yard. By pre-arrangement with another convict, the master switch controlling all the prison lights was turned off. The two men then climbed the wall and descended by using wires. O'Connor was recaptured last January.

King and three other men were convicted of robbery in June, 1934. His sentence was one year to life. Testimony at the trial showed that the four men had entered the home of Mrs. Rose Vovensky, 5860 Forest Glen avenue, and tortured her with lighted cigarets until she told them where she kept jewelry valued at $5,000, which they took.

Council Asked to Rename 26th Street Masaryk Road

The city council was asked yesterday by Berwyn officials to concur in a suggestion to change the name of 26th street to Masaryk road in honor of the first president of Czechoslovakia, who died recently. The suggestion was referred to the committee on streets and alleys.

KILLS WIFE, HER DAD, WOUNDS HER MOTHER AND SHOOTS HIMSELF

Mount Vernon, Ind., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Paul Williams, 23, farmer residing near New Harmony, today shot and killed his wife, Dorothy; his father-in-law, Richard Ashworth; seriously wounded his mother-in-law, Mrs. Ashworth, and then attempted to kill himself. His wife had instituted divorce proceedings today.

Seeing his wife seated in the kitchen, Williams shot through the door, but missed her. She fled, carrying her six- months old child. Williams, running around the house and seeing his father-in-law seated in the living room, placed the muzzle of the gun against the glass and fired. The elder man died instantly.

Rounding the corner of the house, Williams saw his wife run from the porch, still carrying the baby. He fired, the charge killing her.

Mrs. Ashworth grabbed the baby and started across the street. She was shot in the side and abdomen. Neighbors grappled with Williams. He then fired again, severing his arm.

DELAY HEARING TO FILE BRIEFS ON BOOKIE BETS

Hearing on a motion to quash gambling charges against 18 defendants arrested in a test raid by state's attorney's police was continued until Nov. 8 yesterday by Chief Justice John J. Stonsteby of the Municipal court. Both sides will file briefs.

Defense attorneys said they will rely on the opinion of Judge Eugene L. McGarry of Municipal court holding that the law permitting pari-mutuel betting at race tracks legalized betting on the horses at handbooks.

Judge McGarry in the South State street court meanwhile discharged 105 persons who were arrested by the police in handbook raids during the week-end. Squads under Capt. Martin Mullen of the gambling detail and Capt. George O'Connor of the Central station continued their raids and arrested twenty-four persons in eight alleged loop handbooks.

FOUND DEAD AT AUTO WHEEL.

Adolph Marwig, 45 years old, a butcher, was found dead of carbon monoxide fumes yesterday at the wheel of his automobile in the garage behind his home at 2869 Milwaukee avenue. His wife, Lottie, told police he had left the house two hours earlier to go to a wholesale meat company.

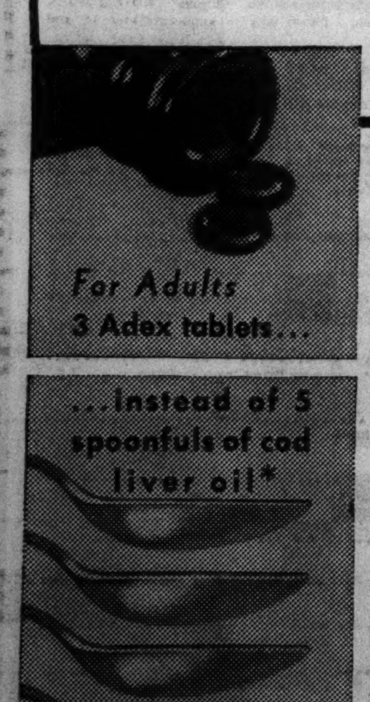
This winter take your cod liver oil vitamins this modern way



Have you often told yourself that you should be taking cod liver oil, but hesitated to start with it in the old form?

If so, try Adex this winter! Just three tablets a day give you as much Vitamins A and D as five teaspoonfuls of cod liver oil.* You get exactly the same vitamins as with cod liver oil—but the modern way—with tablets that are so easy and pleasant to take!

Although all this vitamin richness is put into an Adex tablet, the Vitamins A and D which you receive come from wholesome natural sources—such as cod and halibut liver oil. These natural vitamins help explain why Adex will do you so much good.

There are other reasons, too, why Adex may benefit you. (1) The tablets are easy to assimilate, which means that your system absorbs them quickly. (2) They are lastingly protected from the destructive action of air. (3) They are stable. The vitamin content always remains high.

For all these reasons, Adex offers the effective, convenient, pleasant form of the vitamins for you to take this winter.

Start now and keep it up regularly every day. Put a bottle right on the breakfast table so that the whole family can take Adex routinely all winter long. Adex is now available at any reliable drug store. Stop for it today.

*3 Adex tablets equal in Vitamins A and D 5 teaspoonfuls of U. S. P. XI minimum standard cod liver oil, or 3 teaspoonfuls of Squibb's

Deadline for Return of Victim Nears.

Federal agents and policemen were preparing last night to direct their search for the missing Charles S. Ross into new and more direct channels unless those who kidnaped him heed the ultimatum of Mrs. Ross and free their captive by 8 a. m. today.

Mrs. Ross, in a statement issued Sunday, indicated that the hunt had been held off for fear interference of investigators would lessen the chances of her husband's being ransomed. At the same time she announced that beginning today she would request all law enforcement officers to "proceed with a vigorous effort to locate and punish those responsible for the disappearance of Mr. Ross."

Feeble Flicker of Hope.

Admittedly, no message from his captors had been received last evening and there was only a feeble flicker of hope they would communicate with Mrs. Ross as the deadline crept nearer. The general opinion was that the kidnapers had given up all thought of collecting ransom.

The belief that Ross, who suffered from heart disease, may have died since he was seized is widespread among the investigators. If this is true, the search for the cirminals can be made much more effective. For example, it was pointed out, a reward might be offered for the conviction of the responsible persons; their arrest, not the safety of Ross, would be the main object of the investigating forces.

Ready to Negotiate.

It is known that Mrs. Ross has been ready at any time to enter into a ransom deal. Her statement indicated that there had been some preliminary attempts at collection and that these fell through on account of the failure of the kidnapers to make suitable arrangements for further communication.

Ross, who is 72 years old and a retired greeting card manufacturer, was seized in Wolf road near the entrance to the Westward Ho golf course on Sept. 25, as he was returning to Chicago from a dinner in Sycamore with his former secretary, Miss Florence Freihage, 44 years old.

Forced Into Automobile.

He was forced into the automobile of the kidnapers by one man, described by Miss Freihage as young and light haired. This man, after questioning her about Ross' financial standing and warning her not to notify the police, left her the keys to the Ross car and drove north with his companions and their prisoner.

Miss Freihage reported the occurrence to the Franklin Park police soon afterward. She has remained almost continually with Mrs. Ross in her apartment at 2912 Commonwealth avenue since then.

ADMITS $43,000 EMBEZZLEMENT; SENT TO PRISON

Raymond Compton yesterday pleaded guilty to embezzling $43,000 from his employer and was sentenced by Judge Rudolph F. Desort in Criminal court to 1 to 10 years in prison.

Compton was a $3,500 a year bookkeeper for the Steel Sales corporation, 129 South Jefferson street. He took the money over a three year period by juggling his accounts. The thefts were uncovered when he took a day off early this month to move his family to 7914 Eberhart avenue. Fellow bookkeepers searching for a voucher looked through his records, rather than summon him from his moving. He has two small children.

Right to Kill Attacker Held Out as Girl in Red's Defense

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Margaret Drennan, looking even younger than her 20 years, sat demurely today in the court of Oyer and Terminer, not unlike a quiet well-bred young girl from any fashionable finishing school, and listened to her attorneys hint they would invoke the unwritten law in the fight to have her acquitted.

[A. P. Wirephoto.]
Margaret Drennan.

Miss Drennan, charged with the murder of her married lover, Paul Reeves, on Sept. 7, accuses Reeves of being the father of her unborn child. Miss Drennan also heard state prosecutors indicate they would not insist that the jury return a verdict of death for her.

Questions Indicate Defense.

George Burton of the defense staf suggested the possible defense when he asked each talesman:

"If it is the law that a woman has the absolute right to kill her assailant if that assailant is attempting to rape her, and if the law is so charged by the court, and there is evidence that convinces you that such an attempt was made upon her, would the fact that a highly dangerous weapon was used prevent you from reaching a verdict of acquittal?"

Before the talesmen, as they answered attorneys' questions, sat the quiet girl. Her brown bobbed hair war freshly curled, smartly dressed. Her pale face had no paint or powder. She wore a small, round, dark blue, upturned felt hat, a tiny green-and-blue feather stuck in the band, and set childlishly back on her head. Her dress was high necked, a simple blue wool with white ruching at neck and sleeves. She had exchanged the flaming red polo coat she wore the night she is accused of killing Reeves for an unobtrusive dark blue chinchilla reefer—the sort that little girls have to wear at the more conservative boarding schools where uniforms are required.

Widow Sits Near By.

Separated from Miss Drennan by only a few rows of seats was Mrs. Reeves, an attractive brunette with fair complexion and with deeply rouged lips. The widow of the murdered man was dressed in black as were the parents of her dead husband, with whom she sat. She sighed frequently and sat most of the time with her eyes fixed on the floor, but Mr. and Mrs. Reeves followed the proceedings closely.

A jury of eleven men and one woman was completed late today. The trial is expected to last three days.

LARGER AIRPORT NEEDED TO FILL MILITARY NEED

Military needs increase the urgency of expanding the Chicago airport to mile-square size, Sumpter Smith, chief of the airport division of the WPA, said yesterday. Mr. Smith was one of a party of Washington officials who inspected the field Sunday.

He said that the Chicago airport is the only one near the city that could be used by the army's new four engined bombers.

"As we view it, airport expenditures serve a double purpose—military and civil," Smith said. "WPA stands ready to allot funds for such use here to the limit of the work relief appropriation. National defense demands that the port be modernized. But the railroad tracks now bisecting the proposed field must go before we can allot the money."

New York, Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Miss Grace Freed decided today to try the same tactics on Gen. Francisco Franco, Spanish rebel commander in chief, that Mrs. Harold Dahl, wife of the Champaign, Ill., aviator, used so successfully.

Miss Freed admitted she is not blonde, but despite that she proposes to send her picture to Franco to try to save her brother Edward, 27 years old, now a rebel captive.

SCIENTIST DEAD IN MYSTERY, TIED TO STOVE IN KITCHEN

Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Bailey Townshend, 42 year old head of the Johns-Manville corporation research department, was found dead in his home here today under strange circumstances.

A patrolman called to the home by his second wife said that the dead man was tied by a piece of rope to the kitchen gas range.

It was assumed that he had died of gas inhalation, but while there was a slight odor of gas in the room all the jets of the range were closed.

The policeman reported that Mrs. Townshend told him she had not turned off the jets.

Townshend, a doctor of science, was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1916.

119 Seized in Peep Show Raids Face Court Today

The seventy women and forty-nine men seized in week-end raids on South State street's burlesque and peep show row will be arraigned today in the Women's court and charged with presenting or taking part in indecent performances. Miss June St. Clair, dancer at the Rialto theater, whose surrender was promised Sunday, had not appeared at the police station yesterday.

NOTED LAWYER KILLS SELF BY RIFLE AT HOME

New York, Oct. 18.—[Special.]—William A. Winston, 39 years old, widely known as a counsel for utilities and a member of the law firm of Le Boeuf, Winston, Machold & Lamb, killed himself with a rifle today in his apartment in Sutton manor.

He had been suffering from a nervous breakdown and left a note indicating that he could no longer endure burdens pressing upon him.

He was a brother of Mrs. Frederic Delano, whose husband is related to President Roosevelt. He also is survived by two brothers, and his parents. The latter live at Saugerties, N. Y., and left at once to come to the city when notified of the death.

MERRY'S BARON ACTS TO BLOCK DIVORCE ACTION

Baron Arturo Berlingieri of Italy and Los Angeles yesterday took the first step toward contesting the divorce suit filed here last month by Merry Fahrney Berlingieri, Oak Park patent medicine heiress.

His attorney, Edward Halligan, filed a special appearance, explaining the baron would ask to have the suit dismissed on the ground that neither he nor his wife is a Chicago resident. The baroness' residence, Attorney Halligan said, is that of her husband, which is now Los Angeles. She married Baron Berlingieri, her third husband, secretly in New York after a romance which began last spring.

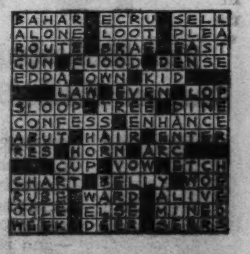
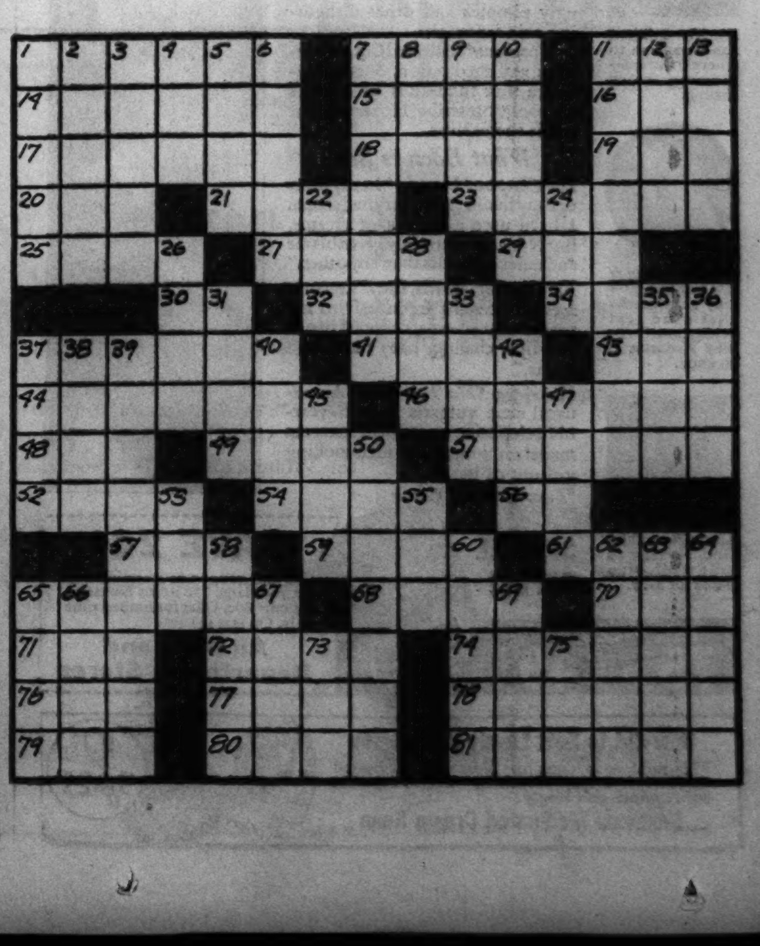
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED





CHINESE ARMIES SLOW DOWN JAP DRIVE IN NORTH

Offensive Along 2 Great Railways Checked.

BULLETIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Oct. 19 (Tuesday).—Japanese forces were reported to be nearing Changtefu, Chinese military base in Honan province, today. Chinese troops were in flight, dispatches said.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 19 [Tuesday].—(AP)—The advance of the Japanese army down the two great railroads linking North China with the south has been slowed down, according to advices today from points along the southern banks of the Yellow river.

In the east, the Japanese threat to Tsinan, capital of Shantung province, was lessened when the column operating along the Tientsin-Pukow railroad withdrew 15 miles northward to Pingyuan from Yucheng where their line had been threatening Chinese positions on the Tuhai river 30 miles from Tsinan.

A portion of the eastern forces was transferred to bolster the Japanese drive that is meeting stiff resistance 150 miles to the west on the Peiping-Hankow railroad.

250 Miles Southwest of Peiping.

Reports from North China yesterday said that an armored train had penetrated to Hantan, 35 miles in advance of the main Japanese forces at Shunteh and an equal distance from the Chinese base at Changtefu in Honan province. This would place the farthest Japanese advance 250 miles southwest of Peiping and only 15 miles from the Hopei-Honan province border.

(A Japanese military statement issued at Peiping said a Japanese armored train crossed the Honan province frontier Monday, invading the sixth province of North China. The statement said the main body of the Japanese had advanced from Shunteh to Kwangping, a distance of 30 miles, in the last 24 hours.)

At Shanghai a battle was being fought ten miles northwest of the city in the sector between Tazang and Liuhang, where the Japanese were pounding the Chinese defenses.

4,400 Die in Battle.

Chinese authorities said 1,400 Chinese and 3,000 Japanese died fighting for the Chinese supply bases at Tazang. The Chinese commander, Col. Chin Chingwu, and his entire command were reported to have been wiped out in a 33 hour battle.

Having failed to break the Chinese resistance in the Chapei sector on the northern border of the international settlement in 57 days of continuous assault by land and air, the Japanese began a concerted bombing campaign against all Chinese communication lines and supply bases. Chinese said more than 200 Chinese civilians were killed or wounded.

Shells Hit French Area.

The Japanese bombardment followed a Chinese aerial attack in the Japanese Yangtzepoo and Hongkew sections of the international settlement. During the raid and Japanese counter shelling two shells fell into the French concession. One struck a Salvation Army refugee camp and injured a child refugee.

Another shell plunged through the roof of a foreign house between residences of Maj. E. G. Hagen, assistant United States naval attaché in China, and Dr. A. M. Dunlap of Savoy, Ill. It failed to explode.

[Dr. Dunlap, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Dunlap of Savoy, five miles south of Champaign, Ill., is a second cousin of Henry M. Dunlap, former state senator.]

Japs Threatened in Shansi.

PEIPING, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Foreign observers today gave increased belief to Chinese reports from the south that thousands of Japanese troops were threatened with destruction in North Shansi province. Chinese troops, they said, were coming out of the mountain strongholds to which they retreated when the first Japanese advance bore down into Shansi through the Great Wall passes.

The Domei [Japanese] news agency reported Japanese planes were busy bombing the Shantung cities of Taian, Lincheng, Yenchow, and Tsining.

Invade Sixth Province

(Story in adjoining column.)

Arrow points to region where Japanese forces invaded Honan province, the sixth province entered by the invaders in North China. The Japanese were reported nearing Changtefu, Chinese base. Heavily shaded portion shows the area controled by the Japanese, and the heavy line indicates the outer boundaries of the five previously penetrated provinces. The dotted line forms the outer boundary of Honan province.

POISON VICTIM LEAVES CASH TO MRS. ANNA HAHN

marching in and out of the courtroom, while attorneys argued admissability of Mrs. Mattie Monroe's testimony. Mrs. Monroe, who has lived in the rooming house for four years and knew Jacob Wagner longer than that, appeared crushed when virtually all of her testimony was ordered stricken from the record.

Tells of Finding Two Bottles.

She described how Wagner, who had lived there 18 years, had the exclusive privilege of a bathrom of his own, to which he had a key. She saw Mrs. Hahn using the key and entering the room the evening before Jacob was taken to the hospital, which was on June 2, and after his death on June 3, she entered the bathroom and found two bottles.

"One was strychnine, the other arsenic, and there was a doctor's needle," she said.

This part of her testimony first was stricken, and after she said that she destroyed the bottles, the whole was stricken and the jury told to disregard it.

Reference to Other Deaths.

Mrs. Hahn is accused of not one murder by arsenic, but many, and the court indicated by allowing reference to these other deaths in the state's opening statement that it may allow evidence to be introduced concerning them, to show motive or design. Many of her elderly German friends died in a short space of time.

A week after Wagner's death, according to Mrs. Anna Eberhardt, a witness at tonight's session, Mrs. Hahn stopped her on the street and said:

"It's so hard on me. This is two uncles I've lost in one month. I'm going on vacation tomorrow. A friend of mine has a trailer. I'm going into the Kentucky mountains for a rest."

With so many women in the courtroom, including the preponderantly feminine jury, the defendant and the largely feminine mass of spectators, the witness grew confused under cross-examination and replied: "Yes, Ma'am" and "No, Ma'am" to Defense Attorney Joseph Hoodin's questions.

Jurors Hurry to Their Hotels.

As soon as the night session was over the jurors hurried back to their hotel, many of them to await calls from relatives or friends, whom they are allowed to see in the presence of deputies. Miss Stella Tragesser, the pretty blonde cashier who sits next to the man juror, had a call from her boy friend last night. Mrs. Ella Black had a visit with her son, Mrs. Edna Clark with her husband, and, as usual, the wives of Juror John Granda and Alternate Juror Fred Juergens visited them.

During the afternoon Arthur J. Schmitt, assistant vice president of the Fifth-Third Union Trust company, said that at 9:30 in the morning on June 3 Mrs. Hahn called at his bank with a savings withdrawal receipt signed by Mr. Wagner for $1,000. She also had his bank passbook and a note signed with Wagner's name reading: "Please give Mrs. Hahn a check for a thousand dollars and put the balance in her name."

Refuses to Honor Order.

"I refused to honor it, because I could not tell whether it was for $10, or $1,000," he testified.

"I personally drew another for $1,000 and told her to have him sign it."

Mrs. Hahn told him her "uncle" was in the Deaconess hospital. She returned in an hour and a quarter with a signature on the check, and a note reading: "I am giving Mrs. Hahn full power over everything," signed with Wagner's name.

Mrs. Hahn Admits Forgery.

The banker left Mrs. Hahn with another official who was to open a checking account for her at her request and called the hospital. Confronting her with a report he was not there, she confusedly recalled it was the Good Samaritan hospital where her "uncle" was.

"I left her again, and on returning, told her the Good Samaritan hospital reported that Mr. Wagner had died at 12:15 that morning," said Mr. Schmitt. "She then admitted that the signature on the second withdrawal check was forged and asked me not to institute proceedings on account of her 12 year old son."

U. S. WAR REFUGEES RETURN TO SHANGHAI TO FACE SHRAPNEL

SHANGHAI, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Nearly 1,000 American and other foreign residents of Shanghai, who fled the city at the outbreak of hostilities between China and Japan, returned today. They will face the showers of shrapnel and bullets that make the foreign areas as dangerous as when they left.

Many of them were American wives who said they preferred being with their husbands in Shanghai at their own risk to a refuge in Manila, Hongkong, Kobe, and other cities of the far east.

During the first weeks of hostilities 2,500 Americans—mostly women and children—left Shanghai. About 2,000 Americans have remained throughout the two months of undeclared war.

ELLIS TO TALK ON YORKTOWN.

Rear Admiral Hayne Ellis, U. S. N., commandant of the Ninth naval district, will speak at a dinner meeting of the Sons of the American Revolution this evening in the Great Northern hotel on the importance to American independence of the surrender of Yorktown 156 years ago today.

ITALY SLAPS AT BRITAIN'S PEACE MOVES IN SPAIN

Success of London Parley Periled by Disputes.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 18.—There were few signs tonight that tomorrow's crucial session of the nine power subcommittee for nonintervention in Spain will see the end of the deadlock over getting fighting foreigners out of Spain.

The uncertainty of what really is going on among the powers in the diplomatic fencing over Spain remained as obscure as ever. What seems as likely as anything is that tomorrow may see the end of the "hands off Spain" committee. Diplomatic exchanges today left disputed points unsettled.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, who will preside over tomorrow's meeting, conferred today with French Ambassador Charles Corbin, then with Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain. Later there was a British cabinet meeting. A surprise today was the sudden departure of Joachim von Ribbentrop, German ambassador, who flew to Berlin and conferred with foreign office officials, then flew to Berchtesgaden to confer with Reichsfuehrer Hitler.

Wrangle Over Withdrawals.

Premier Mussolini says he is ready to withdraw a certain number of "volunteers" from the rebel side provided an equal number of foreign troops fighting for the loyalist side are withdrawn. But the French maintain that an account must be taken of the disproportion between the Germans and Italians fighting on Gen. Francisco Franco's rebel side and the foreigners fighting on the Valencia side.

Italy and the Germans, furthermore, think Franco should get recognition of belligerent rights immediately after a "token withdrawal." But France and Britain want a large scale withdrawal.

Further darkening the outlook for tomorrow's meeting was the exchange of recriminations between the Italians and British. David Lloyd George, Britain's premier during the world war, in a speech Saturday described nonintervention as a "lying sham" and asserted Mussolini had at least 110,000 men in Spain.

Condemn Acts in Palestine.

The Italians returned the fire today with an official communique saying that the figure is a lie and Italy only has 40,000 men in Spain. What is important is that these are official figures.

Besides that, the British are angered over charges made today in Il Duce's Milan paper, Il Popolo d'Italia, concerning the acts of British troops in blowing up houses in Lydda, Palestine, in retaliation for the Arab dynamiting of a British airdrome.

Charges like "the news from Palestine cannot but awaken a profound sense of horror in the civilized world," and "the British are spreading devastation and destruction in the Holy Land" are not relished here, and the comment is made that "Mussolini's paper is not the best place in which to preach civilization."

Tells of Mutilation

MRS. LITA HAMLYN.

New York, Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Mrs. Lita D. Hamlyn of Freeport, N. Y., was subpenaed today to tell a grand jury about her cruise off Long Island in the course of which her only companion, Wilbur E. Johnson, 54 year old advertising executive and former commodore of the South Shore Yacht club, was mutilated.

District Attorney Martin W. Littleton declared himself dissatisfied with the stories told by Johnson and Mrs. Hamlyn.

Johnson, a widower, and the father of two sons in their twenties, took Mrs. Hamlyn for a cruise on his sixty foot cabin cruiser Saturday morning.

Johnson said he and Mrs. Hamlyn drank about a dozen highballs on the deck of the yacht, and toward dusk he went to the cabin and fell asleep. He was awakened by Mrs. Hamlyn, he said, and found himself drenched with blood, and very weak.

Although both Mrs. Hamlyn and Johnson say there was no third person aboard the yacht, the woman insisted she had no idea how Mr. Johnson sustained his injuries. Physicians said no weapon had been used in the mutilation.

Rescuers Reach British Pair Stranded in Sudan Swamp

KHARTOUM, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, Oct. 18.—(AP)—A searching party today reached Brig. Gen. A. C. Lewin and Mrs. Lewin, stranded in a swamp since their plane, bound from England to Kenya, made a forced landing nine days ago. The Lewins previously had been located by an airliner and food was dropped. The swampy ground prevented landing. The couple must now go 100 miles through treacherous country to Bor.

SPANISH REBELS MASS ALIEN ARMY FOR NEW THRUST

Moors and Italians Sent to Aragon Front.

MADRID, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Spanish government dispatches tonight reported that the rebel high command had massed large concentrations of Moorish and Italian troops and German artillery along the Aragon front. There were indications of an impending rebel major offensive there, where bursts of hard fighting have become increasingly frequent.

On a semi-circular front around Saragossa, 175 miles northeast of Madrid, government forces launched several fierce artillery and infantry attacks, apparently seeking to forestall the anticipated rebel offensive.

Concealed nests of government machine-gunners mowed down a determined rebel cavalry charge near Villamayor, 10 miles north of Saragossa.

Asturians Dig New Trenches.

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The Spanish government's dynamite-throwing Asturian troops, harassed by aircraft and artillery, stubbornly resisted today the rebel advance toward Gijon, last important government stronghold on the northern coast of Spain.

The Asturians hastily dug new lines of fortifications as they were forced to fall back. Rebel planes bombed Villaviciosa, and raided the outskirts of Gijon. Villaviciosa is about 25 miles east of Gijon.

Military dispatches said the rebel troops had advanced south of Colunga, to the village of Carrandi and seized the railroad running between Ribadessa and Gijon.

300 Italian Wounded Sail Home.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GIBRALTAR, Oct. 18.—The Italian hospital ship Gradisca carrying about 300 wounded Italian soldiers who had been fighting for Gen. Francisco Franco's rebels in Spain arrived today from Cadiz, Spain, en route to Genoa, Italy.

The Gradisca entered Gibraltar harbor to land two observers working for the international patrol for nonintervention in Spain.

Other persons arriving from Cadiz said the rebel gunboat Dato had been towed into Cadiz seriously damaged and with many casualties as the result of being fired on by loyalist warships.

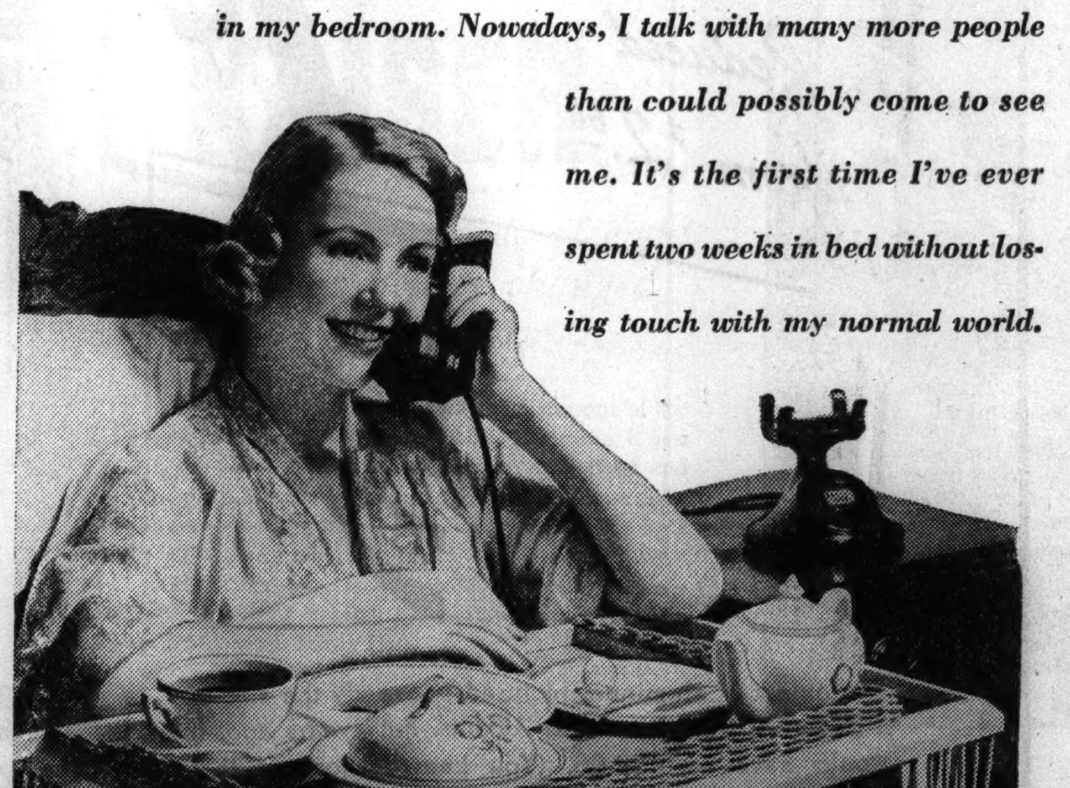
"Lonesome? NOT AT ALL..."

Getting well used to be just about the most tiresome part of illness. But not since I've had an extension telephone in my bedroom. Nowadays, I talk with many more people than could possibly come to see me. It's the first time I've ever spent two weeks in bed without losing touch with my normal world.



• Convalescence may not be the reason why you want an extension telephone in the bedroom. But if it isn't, there are many other reasons why you do.

Convenience, for one . . . an extension telephone saves many tiring steps each day. And privacy . . . so you can have personal conversations without the embarrassment of having others overhear.

And a bedroom telephone gives a reassuring sense of security at night, should emergencies of any kind arise. The cost is small. To order one, just call or write our Business Office.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

THE SELLING DILEMMA

By CALEB

A CHICAGO salesman for a large organization was chatting with a subordinate of a world-renowned St. Louis business head.

The salesman was doing considerable general complaining and said, "I don't see why Mr. B—— doesn't give us a crack at some of his business."

Mr. B——'s subordinate said, "You have just talked generalities to him, haven't you? Have you ever asked him for a contract?"

The salesman looked startled and then embarrassed. "By George, I guess I never really have!" he exclaimed, and he was out of the office like a jackrabbit.

He saw Mr. B—— the same day and was rewarded with a contract for a quarter of a million dollars!

If you could have a dollar for every time a salesman has presented his proposition and then failed to ask for an order, you could retire with a bank account reading like an insurance company's statement.

Of course this does not often happen in the case of salesmen of modern and aggressive businesses. Nevertheless, it takes diligent sales management to keep salesmen doing even the obvious thing—asking for the order.

The reason for this? It is because most of us go about the world unfocused. Our thoughts and our actions are not forced in a burning concentration on the point at issue or the objective immediately ahead.

In the department store field, this matter is not so simple of cure as it is in businesses which are avowedly established to "go out and get the business." Your satisfaction comes before salesmanship. Therefore, department store people must not be trained to sell in the same vigorous manner other merchandise businesses adopt.

Thus you have the anomaly of department store customers who feel too much has been done if a sales person makes any effort to please them by selling them. And you have other customers who want selling suggestions and aggressive sales stories. There is no simple solution which will enable any store to avoid both horns of this dilemma. You may be sure, however, that to the best of their ability, salespeople here are attempting individual solutions aimed at your particular need or mood of the moment.

Mrs. Campbell Pritchett, former society writer for a Washington, D. C., newspaper, and prominent socially.

On Regular Schedule.

The big ship, which had a seating capacity of twenty-four passengers, although only sixteen were aboard, was on one of the company's regular westbound schedules. It left Cheyenne, Wyo., at 7:25 p. m. [C. S. T.] and was due in Salt Lake City at 9:42 p. m.

When it did not arrive two pilots left Salt Lake City and flew to Cheyenne over the regular route, but reported that they sighted no signs of a wreck. The search was expanded with the coming of daylight with a number of additional pilots joining the hunt.

About 11 a. m. Chicago time the wreckage was noted from the air by Pilot Bob Bergesen, who was making a search well south of the normal route. He said that the spot where the plane was sighted was fully 25 miles off the course usually followed.

Experts Start for Scene.

Immediately after Bergesen reported his find to Salt Lake City by radio, United's technical experts headed by Vice President R. W. Schroeder, who is in charge of all flying for the company, started for the scene. Schroeder was accompanied by R. T. Freng, chief pilot, and Frank Caldwell, maintenance chief.

For the first time in the history of airline accidents in the United States the wreckage contains an instrument which may show what caused the crash. This is the automatic recording barograph which keeps a record of the altitudes flown, the number of times radio communication is attempted, records the rate of climb or rate of descent of the machine in flight, and similar data.

If the barograph in the wrecked ship is not destroyed it may yield the story which the crew probably can never tell.

The airplane was new, being the latest and largest type of ship flown in the United States, with two twin row Wasp engines each developing 1,000 horse power. Its cruising speed was about 183 miles an hour. Woodgerd was a million mile pilot with 11,800 hours on his log books, most of which had been accumulated during the 10 years he had flown the route for United.

Cross indicates where wreckage of the airliner was discovered. The dotted line marks the true course of the plane, which apparently was blown southward from its route.

CHICAGO GIRL'S FIANCE ABOARD WRECKED PLANE

One of those anxiously awaiting word last night about the plane wreck was Miss Marie Schmidt, 3830 North Claremont avenue. Her fiancé, Ralph McKeown, was aboard.

He asked her to marry him last Saturday and accompany him to California, but she deferred a definite answer. She saw him off at the Chicago airport Saturday night. He stopped overnight in Omaha, Neb., to visit a sister, and apparently boarded the liner there to continue his journey home. Miss Schmidt and McKeown met in California. He visited her and his family in Lawrenceville, Ill., his home town, on his vacation last week.

HANGS SELF IN CLOSET.

Joseph Woichlusky, 57 years old, was found hanged in his home at 912 North Fairfield avenue yesterday. One end of a muffler was tied to a hook in a closet and the other around his neck. His wife, Celia, could give no motive for the act.

SECOND AVENUE FOR ATTACK ON BLACK CLOSED

Supreme Court Refuses SEC Case Review.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Another avenue for a possible legal move to oust Justice Hugo L. Black was closed today when the Supreme court refused to review a case involving wholesale seizure of private telegrams by the Securities Exchange commission and the constitutionality of the securities act of 1933.

Lawyers seeking to dislodge Justice Black on the ground that his appointment and confirmation were unconstitutional had regarded the securities case as an ideal vehicle for one of the parties in interest to use in making the challenge, since the acts complained of the employment of dragnet subpenas to seize private telegrams, likewise were committed by the senate inquisitorial committee formerly headed by Black.

Action Is Unexpected.

Justice Black presumably participated in the court's consideration of the petition for certiorari in the telegram seizure case, the first one to reach his desk after he took office, for Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes made no announcement to the contrary. The court's action in denying the petition was unexpected in view of conflicting decisions by the Circuit Court of Appeals and the public interest in the securities legislation.

Supreme court lawyers speculated on the possibility that some of the justices were reluctant to review the securities case because of the embarrassment it would have caused their new colleague.

The petition quoted at length from the opinion of the District of Columbia Circuit Court of Appeals holding that the raids made upon the telegraph companies by Black's committee and the federal communications commission violated not only the securities commission act, but the constitutional guarantees against unreasonable searches and seizures.

Called Subpenas Void.

The petition denied was that of Frank J. Ryan, the Ryan Florida corporation, and the Florida Tex Oil company, who had sought by injunction to restrain seizure of their telegrams covering a period between Jan. 1, 1936, and March 10, 1937.

The district court holding that the subpenas violated the fourth and fifth amendments to the constitution and were null and void, issued a permanent injunction, but it was dissolved by the Circuit court.

The petitioners challenged the securities acts of 1933 and 1934 as constituting unlawful delegations of legislative power.

CHICAGOANS WARNED AGAINST DRUG FATAL TO EIGHT AT TULSA

Following the death of eight Tulsa, Okla., persons who used a new drug preparation, the American Medication association yesterday warned the public against the unsupervised use of sulfanilamide which, at the same time, it conceded to be one of the greatest discoveries in medicine for streptococcic infections.

Reports to the association from Tulsa medical centers showed that ten persons, two of whom survive, took a compound called elixir of sulfanilamide prepared by a Bristol, Tenn., company. Pending laboratory analysis, the association was of the opinion that another ingredient and not the basic drug probably caused the deaths. Nevertheless it emphasized the dangers inherent in sulfanilamide when not administered under strict control by a physician.

The association reported that 375 shipments of the elixir had been made to drug stores throughout the country, but that the company was withdrawing them. Sulfanilamide has been used successfully in the treatment of throat infections.

TWO DENHARDT SLAYERS GO ON TRIAL; 3D ILL

Shelbyville, Ky., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—A bench warant for Dr. E. S. Garr, one of the three Garr brothers scheduled to go on trial here today for the murder of Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt, was issued by Circuit Judge Charles S. Marshall when he failed to appear.

Physicians for Dr. Garr said he was "mentally ill" in a sanitarium at Peewee, Ky., and in no condition to be brought into court. Upon learning this, Judge Marshall directed the sherif to accept a $20,000 bond to insure Dr. Garr's appearance at the February term of court. Trial of the two other brothers, Roy and Jack, who were present today, was ordered to proceed.

Selection of a jury was begun. Early in the afternoon the trial was halted for the day with seven men in the jurybox. The panel of 24 veniremen called for the case had been exhausted. Judge Marshall ordered a new panel of 100 veniremen called for today. Denhardt was slain the night before he was to have gone on trial for the slaying of Mrs. Verna Taylor, sister of the three brothers.

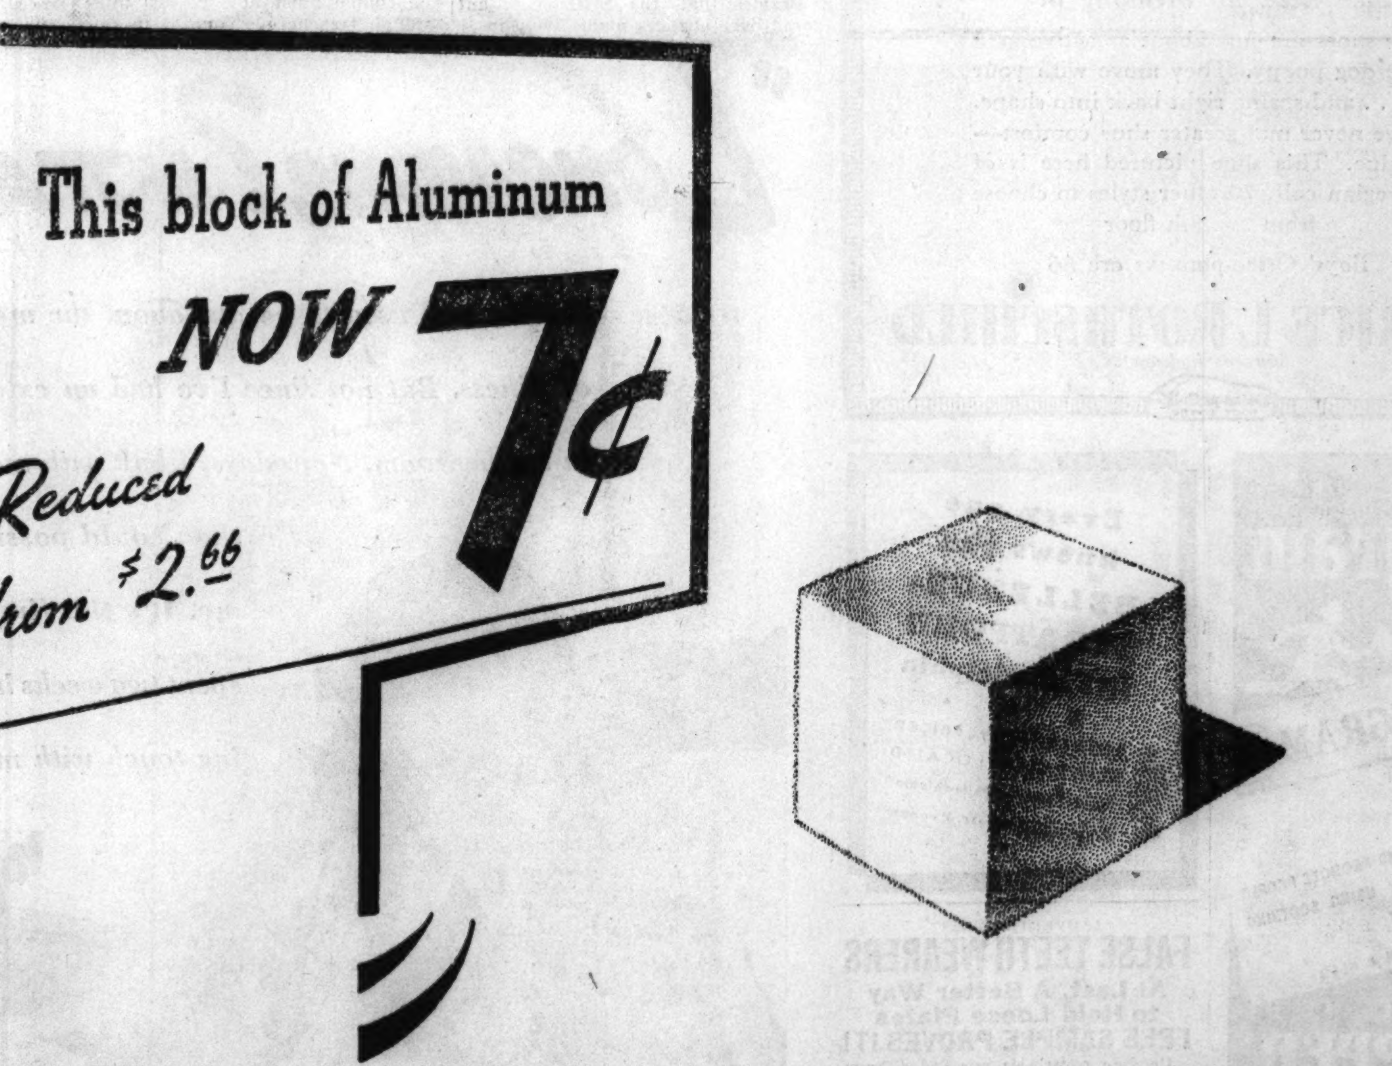
I DIDN'T KNOW THAT ABOUT ALUMINUM



The chunk of aluminum pictured is exactly the size of a pound of iron. It's worth 7 cents. Fifty years ago, it would have cost $2.66. (You know of course that aluminum weighs only a third as much as iron.)

Aluminum sold for 8 dollars a pound fifty years ago, and wasn't of much use to anyone — just a novelty.

It sells in bulk for 20 cents a pound today, and is useful to everyone.

Considering the thousand ways in which aluminum, bought from foreign and domestic sources, is used by scores of manufacturers in the United States, you'd think others here besides ourselves would reduce it from its ores. There is a plentiful supply of ore, and the process is well known and available to all.

Others seemingly are unwilling to risk the investment necessary to produce raw aluminum in this country to sell for 20 cents a pound.

Because of the extreme difficulty and costliness of getting aluminum out of its ores, 20-cent aluminum is surprisingly cheap aluminum.

Naturally, we want aluminum to be as cheap as it possibly can be, in order that the use of it will increase.

BATTLE SYRIANS TRYING TO INVADE THE HOLY LAND

British Troops Inflict Heavy Casualties.

JERUSALEM, Oct. 18.—(AP)—British troops inflicted heavy casualties on a large band of Syrians attempting to cross the Palestine frontier today, unconfirmed reports said, as the government of British-mandated Palestine retaliated for recent outrages.

Military sappers [army engineer units] blew up homes of Arabs involved in raiding a derailed train Friday, the reports stated, and at the same time blasted two houses in Lydda in punishment for the burning of new airport buildings there Saturday.

Strong guard detachments patroled many Holy Land districts to prevent further violence between Jews and Arabs.

Arabs Raid Police Arsenal.

[In London the colonial office said Palestine officials had been given plenary powers to deal with any situation arising.]

Kilted Scottish soldiery deployed over the Hebron countryside southwest of Jerusalem in a pursuit of Arabs who had raided a police arsenal almost under the noses of native constables.

A company of the famous Black Watch, newly rushed to Palestine, thus went into action. Other British troops patroled the streets of Jerusalem. They wore steel helmets for the first time since the Arab-Jew conflicts of 1936.

An Armenian and an Arab were wounded today. The Armenian, a street photographer, was shot and critically wounded by an assailant who apparently mistook him for an Arab.

Keep to Homes 22 Hours a Day.

Lydda inhabitants have remained in their homes 22 hours a day since a strict curfew regulation permitted them only two hours daily in which to buy food and graze their animals.

The government gazette announced that Sheik Hussam ed Din Jarallah, considered one of the likeliest successors to the Moslem mufti as president of the Palestine Supreme council, had accepted appointment to a commission administering Moslem funds.

Gets 7 Years in Prison for Marrying Own Daughter

Riverside, Cal., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Anstruther MacDonald, 40 years old, who was convicted of marrying his own daughter, today was sentenced to serve a minimum of seven years in San Quentin prison. MacDonald had contended his wife, Marjorie, whom he had married last December following the birth of a child to her last October, was his foster daughter.

FLAMES DAMAGE LARGE BARN AT M'LAUGHLIN HOME

Fire of mysterious origin at 4 o'clock this morning attacked a large barn on the estate of Maj. Frederic McLaughlin at 1713 West Old Mill road, in Lake Forest.

The house is now occupied by his wife, Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin, who is suing him for divorce. He moved out last week, turning it over to her, and is now living in a home on Green Bay road, in Lake Forest.

The fire alarm was turned in from the McLaughlin home, presumably by Mrs. McLaughlin. She assisted the fire department to fight the fire. Two cars were taken from the barn. The structure itself, the upper floor of which was formerly used by Maj. McLaughlin's chauffeur, was badly damaged.

ACCUSE CZECH POLICE OF BEING BRUTAL TO NAZIS

German Press in a Rage; Warns Prague.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—The German press, still simmering over the display of caricatures of Nazi leaders at an art exhibition in Prague, raged again today over reports of alleged mishandling of Sudeten Germans [Czech Nazis] at Teplitz-Schoenau.

German papers published stories of "brutal treatment" of Sudeten German leaders by Czech police after a meeting addressed by their chief, Konrad Henlein.

"It is a provocation of the entire German nation," said the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger, which warned the Czechs that Germany "now possesses another shape and another determination to what it did before 1933."

Goebbels' Paper Angry.

Der Angriff, official paper of Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, said: "Prague must realize that the German nation of 70,000,000 is not inclined to tolerate further trampling of vital German rights by a nation of 6,500,000."

Nazi anger arose last week when the Prague art exhibit showed caricatures entitled the "Rise and Fall of a Dictator." They depicted Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler as a "hunger dictator." One caricature took a jibe at Col. Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, air minister. Another, called "Away with Beefsteak," pictured two Brown Shirts with fixed bayonets carrying off a piece of beef on which was inscribed, "I am a beefsteak of foreign origin and have damaged German stomachs."

Czechs withdrew caricatures referring to Hitler, but retained the rest.

At the time one German paper said, "a mere apology is not sufficient. The Czechoslovakian government must repair the damage."

Czech Police Deny Charge.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Austria, Oct. 18.—Reports from Czechoslovakia today said that the alleged mishandling of Sudeten Germans was of minor character.

Konrad Henlein, Nazi chieftain in Czechoslovakia, angered by the arrest of his chief aid, Ernst Ruthe, on charges of homosexuality, delivered aggressive speeches at Teplitz-Schoenau Saturday and Sunday. He demanded autonomy for the Sudeten German district.

NAZI LEADER AND 88 TRIED IN BUDAPEST FOR PLOTTING COUP

BUDAPEST, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Zoltan Boszormeny, alleged Nazi leader, and 88 of his associates faced a criminal court today for trial on a charge of plotting an armed insurrection for May Day, 1936.

Boszormeny denied the charges. Several of the accused testified that his group gathered uniforms of Hungarian army officers to wear in storming government buildings.

Witnesses said the objective of the movement was "establishment of a dictatorship, expulsion of Jews, and confiscation of property of the wealthy."

DUKE TELLS WHY HE NEEDS PRESS AGENT IN U. S.

Insists American Tour Has Not Been 'Organized.'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The duke and duchess of Windsor, who were in Dresden, Germany, today, arranged for the distribution here of an announcement that their visit to America will be "purely private and unofficial." Part of the statement was devoted to explaining why the duke has employed a press agent.

The statement said the tour would not be organized by any agency, but that because "treatment of press matters requires specialized knowledge, a noncommercial arrangement" had been made with Arthur Kudner, Inc., professional press representatives, to handle releases.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bedaux, American friends of the couple, will accompany them on the United States visit "as friends," the announcement said.

A report that the duke of Windsor flew secretly the morning of Oct. 7 to a spot near Bognor, Sussex, and there met his mother, Queen Mother Mary, in the cabin of his plane, is circulating in London.

Duke's Salute Improves.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DRESDEN, Germany, Oct. 18.—The Nazi salute which the duke of Windsor first extended while visiting Berlin has become snappier during his tour of the Ruhr district and Saxony. This was evident today when he and the duchess arrived in Dresden on their "sociological investigation tour." The Windsors came here from Leipzig, where they visited a factory and ate a 12 cent spaghetti and ham lunch with 800 workers.

They were not quartered in Leipzig's best hotel last night because the hotel owners are part Jewish, but they were entertained tonight in Dresden's best hotel at a banquet given by the governor of Saxony.

Won't Meet Streicher.

Fears of another incident due to Germany's anti-Semitic policy were allayed when it became known that Germany's No. 1 Jew baiter, Julius Streicher, now is absent from Nuremberg, capital of Franconia, where the ducal party is due tomorrow. Streicher is in Italy.

A number of anti-Semitic organs in the past have attacked the duke for accepting the hospitality of the Rothschilds. Owing to these attacks it is felt Streicher's absence simplifies the duke's visit to Nuremberg. It was learned the duke has another worry. He has admitted openly to friends that he has been much annoyed at the failure of Nazi officials to take off their hats when he doffed his. Friends are trying to warn the Nazis.

IT HAS HAPPENED IN RHODE ISLAND.

Rhode Island National Guardsmen called out by Gov. Robert E. Quinn were stationed around the Narragansett race track on Sunday to prevent the opening for the fall meet. The guard was brought out not only to stop the horses and betting but to violate Supreme court orders that quashed two rulings of Quinn's state racing commission, one suspending the license of the track and the other dismissing Walter E. O'Hara, owner of the park and Quinn's political enemy, from his place as managing director of the track.

Since the death of Huey Long, Quinn has succeeded in making himself number one dictator of the United States. Little Rhody has seen its government disappear into the hands of a man who has defied all the restraints supposed to prevent an autocratic use of power for political and personal profit. The degeneration of the little state under this rule began in January two years ago when Quinn was lieutenant governor and Green, the present United States senator, was governor. Both profess to get their inspiration from Washington and to regard themselves as administrators of the new planned society and the more abundant life. Their first maneuver was to purge the state senate of its Republican majority by firing out enough Republicans to give the Democrats a majority. They then discharged the Republican Supreme court and packed the bench with their own men. Green went to the senate and Quinn became governor. The ousted judges of the Supreme court were given a sop by being awarded pensions of $8,000 a year.

Quinn has maintained his dictatorship by adopting Huey Long's methods. He not only has the National Guard at his disposal, and it must act as he orders regardless of what the private opinions of the men may be, but has his private army of deputy sherifs, highway police, and armed private guards. He can use them to bulldoze any opposition if it arises in the legislature, as it did last spring in the house of representatives.

At his dictation any political opponent who stands against him is stripped of everything that can be taken away from him by legislation, as the mayor of Pawtucket found out when he lost all his jobholders. The Narragansett race track is recognized as the richest in the east and Quinn wants to control it. The packing of the Rhode Island Supreme court apparently failed of its purpose in this respect because Quinn found that his demand for the discharge of O'Hara from the management of his own property and for the revocation of the license were set aside by court orders. Thereupon he called out the troops to execute his own will in the matter. A race track is a ripe spot for the worst kind of scandals.

Under Quinn and Green the state of Rhode Island in the last two years has lost nearly every characteristic of a republican form of government and is an illustration that dictatorships can be established in the United States. Men can seize power. They can use it as they will. Just as in Louisiana under Long, Rhode Island saw its legislative and judicial branches of government disappear. The effect upon the people has been paralyzing. They have either made up their minds to like it or they don't know what to do about it or they don't care.

The idea that it cannot happen here, but only in lands singularly different from the United States, will not stand up. It appears that the people take it when they get it. A willful, unscrupulous and daring man using a few commonplaces of demagogy to begin with gets his hands on the controls. The rest is not so difficult if he is determined. A legislature unchecked by the court can do anything it pleases. When it does what a dictator pleases the people must submit.

Quinn has the armed forces of Rhode Island. Long had them in Louisiana. Earle in Pennsylvania and Murphy in Michigan had them and used them. So did Davey in Ohio, but he took a second thought and quit. Quinn called for bayonets against his Supreme court. Murphy's soldiers restrained the execution of court orders, kept workers and owners from the lawful use of industrial plants and protected lawbreakers in possession of property they had seized. Earle did the same thing in Pennsylvania.

Long in Louisiana thought he was a Roman emperor and one of the crazy ones at that. He dictated laws in his nightie. Green in Rhode Island also thought he was a Roman emperor and liked to admire a bust of himself. He was once a professor of Roman law. He advertised himself a wrestler in tights, a bit of Commodus. Quinn believes in two fists, his private army, and the state troops.

Americans have no mysterious genius for averting calamities which have happened to other people. All they have is a balanced system of government which will protect them so long as they preserve it. What happened in Louisiana has happened in Rhode Island. What has happened there has appeared in other states. It can happen in the United States. The government in Washington has been asking for it. The United States Supreme court barely escaped what New Dealers Green and Quinn did in Rhode Island.

THE DEATH PENALTY.

Last week Gov. Horner gave a little lesson in respect for law which, though it was probably not intended as a lesson, might well be taken to heart by a number of high officials in this country who have been confusing their personal convictions with their official duty to enforce the law as it is. Petitioned to commute the sentence of death imposed on Peter Chrisoulas, Gov. Horner said: "Notwithstanding my views on the death penalty, I find nothing in the record in this case to justify an interference with the penalty imposed by the court."

In other words, Gov. Horner regards his oath of office as binding upon his conscience and his official conduct. This is a refreshing contrast to the conduct of the governors of Michigan, Ohio, and Pennsylvania, who in pursuit of what they expected would be the favor of a majority refused their duty and made themselves partisans of lawless men.

Gov. Horner might have relied upon the approval of a certain opinion in Illinois which is opposed to the death penalty. But he acknowledged his duty to enforce the laws of the state. We would add that the law of capital punishment represents the conscience and conviction of the community. We cite in support of this conviction the fact observable not only in Illinois but pretty generally throughout the country that when and where murder and other atrocious crimes are not promptly and certainly visited by the extreme penalty under law the people often take the law into their own hands. Lynch law is a product not merely of blind mob passion but of a sense of outraged justice. We do not condone it. It is a deplorable result and should always be restrained by lawful authority. But it cannot always be dismissed as a mere explosion of brutishness, for, in spite of our indignation and our consciousness of the irresponsibility and moral consequences of lynch law, it is sometimes the revolt of a community against what it feels is a failure of formal law and essential justice.

It also may be noted that this inadequacy of the law and its administration is apparently felt by some of the representatives of the law who are compelled to deal directly with the murderous criminal. It seems that the G-men, who are continually up against armed criminals who will kill without scruple, are arresting few dangerous fugitives, and the public conscience, we are convinced, approves the tactics that take no chances with such men, though it is execution without trial. Too many of our police officers have been sacrificed because they are not ready to shoot first.

Sentimentalism, professional and nonprofessional, has been undermining the protection of the community from organized criminality. The public conscience supports the extreme penalty for the taking of human life by men or women who live conscienceless lives, and when it fails the common sense of right is outraged. Our law expresses this conscience and should be strictly enforced.

DANGER SIGNALS.

The chief of police of Bucharest has proposed that all pickpockets convicted of a second offense have their ears painted red. Our esteemed contemporary, the London Times, while pointing out that this is a more humane method of giving warning to the innocent bystander than that of cutting off the offenders' ears, objects that ears may be easily hid and suggests the nose. But as a red nose ought not be taken as a mark of criminal character, the Times offers blue.

Yet blue is as faulty as red. If it were the Los Angeles Times instead of the London, we should suspect an insidious intent to advertise the climate, but there are days in London and even in Los Angeles when most of the population have blue noses.

However, there are other colors and this detail should not obscure the merit of the central idea. We pass it along to our lawmakers and the experts in criminal control who advise them. It has been obvious to any one who follows the administration of the law against criminals in these parts that the courts, the police, the parole boards, the prison officials are frequently if not usually blissfully unconscious of the past activities of the culprit before them, though he may have a record as long as his arm. Of course, we have records. The police attend to their own score pretty well, but other authorities seem rather often to be unaware of them. For years we have had a law imposing extra penalties on habitual criminals, but for years it was forgotten or ignored by prosecutors and courts. Perhaps the Bucharest police chief offers a helpful hint. If every habitual criminal bore a conspicuous mark of some well chosen kind, not only the peaceful citizen but the authorities charged with applying the law for his protection might be put on guard.

Editorial of the Day

COMFORT IF NOT SAFETY.

[The Sun, Baltimore.]

New Yorkers have recently been reading with some interest the preliminary accounts of an eighteen month study of telephone mouthpieces as germ traps. The results of the study ought to be reasonably reassuring to nervous laymen.

Not that the researchers did not find germs on telephone mouthpieces. They did. But their survey showed, among other things, that the bacteria count on telephones which had been used only once were often as high as on public telephones that had been used thousands of times. "So it seems possible to say," they asserted, "that the numbers found on the mouthpiece of a public telephone are frequently such as might have been deposited during a single conversation." It was also learned, according to one newspaper story, that "there were no appreciable differences in the number of germs on public telephones in barrooms and restaurants on the lower east side and those in the air conditioned offices of the Radio Corporation of America." They concluded that stagnant air in booths might actually be more dangerous than contact with the actual instruments.

The upshot of it all being that unless you are prepared to make a count of bacteria every time you decide to ring up a friend you are quite as likely to be the victim of a next-to-new phone as of one over which half the population of a city have talked. So 100 per cent safety is impossible. And if that is not exactly cheerful news it at least serves to give one the virtuous feeling that one can do nothing about it.

PRACTICE UP.

The bright young thing came into the room and smiled at her mother.

"Mother," she said, "I must have some money for a new dress. Will you ask daddy for it?"

"Ask him yourself, dear," was mother's reply. "You are getting married in a month's time and you must have some practice."—Montreal Star.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

TODAY'S LITTLE EXPLORATION is for the benefit of those who wonder about the strange looking cranes they see upon the lake front rocks along the South Side outer drive. The men who crank them are semi-pro fishermen. They refer collectively to the crank, the crane, the great metal ring suspended from it, and the net they attach to the ring when fishing, as a dip net.

We always suspected the city or the park commissioners put the cranes up for fishermen to use. But an individual fisherman owns each one, built it in his spare time so that he could fish on his days off, or the days when his boss had no work for him. Everything but the net he bought second hand or found somewhere. The man we talked to made his net himself and said that, incredible as it may seem, it would have cost him $52.50 ready made. There's a sort of fraternity among the dip net men; ours said he knows no one will jump his claim or use his equipment when he's not there. Hook and line fishermen he looks down upon, because they think there's nothing in Lake Michigan but perch. In his net—this is his fish story—he regularly catches herring, blue gills, black bass, carp, and perch. It's unbelievable, he says, how many kinds of fish he gets. Look out for the black bass, though; they'll jump right back into the lake from whatever you put them in if you aren't careful.

Our fisherman has sunk a huge can into the shore with just its top above the surface, and keeps it filled with water so he can put his fish in and know they'll stay alive. A patient fellow, he cranks his net up laboriously a dozen times without catching anything. If he gets the tiniest fish he takes it with a small net on a long pole that he dips into the big one. Half a dozen fish, or no fish at all, the expression on his face doesn't change. Fish usually swim around together, he says; it'll be a waterhaul or half a dozen most of the time.

He doesn't go out and peddle the fish he catches, for he says they like fish at home and he always tells his wife he'll bring her some fine ones. But customers wander along those rocks, in cars where a car can be driven, buying a few fish for dinner. They stop and ask him, and if he has any he sells them at 15 cents a pound, weighing them with scales he carries in his pocket. With prices going up he hopes to get 20 cents next year. There isn't much money in it; he's happy if he goes home with $1.50, but that isn't bad for a factory worker of 63 who averages $16 a week at his job. His fish just always seem to be all sold when he climbs down the steps he and the others have built to the top of the rocks and goes home to buy some meat—and tell his wife he's sorry to disappoint her again.

HOW'S THAT?

I speak, I think, in diction clear
And always try to be so near
That my dull observations could
Be heard if only people would Pay small attention and refrain
From having me repeat again.
Perhaps, upon the other hand,
They'd make a point to understand
And cock attentive ears to hear
If what I say were not so drear.

INFLUENZA WILL COME. ARE YOU READY FOR IT?

"LEST we forget" it should be recalled that periodically influenza sweeps the world every 25 to 30 years, appearing in two or three succeeding waves. The first surge claims a large number of victims, although fatalities are few. The second may hit many of those who escaped previously and is generally much more violent. The third numbers fewer individuals but the severity is maintained and complications are frequent.

Many think of influenza as a serious form of cold. While it may begin with such symptoms as sore throat, tonsilitis, and an acute congestion of the air passages, nevertheless the great majority of attacks will come on suddenly. A person apparently in good health, within a few hours may become acutely ill with headache, chilly sensations, pains in the muscles, and great fatigue and prostration.

Ordinary colds accompanied by fever may spread to the bronchial tubes and to deeper regions in the sinuses, largely with local discomfort. On the other hand, the chap with flu feels sick all over and in many instances the intense backache and muscular pains will be so distressing that a narcotic may be needed.

As a rule, the course of the disease is short, that is, if there are no complications. The fever may last for only a few days and will usually drop to normal by the fourth or fifth day, remaining at that level from that time on.

The number who suffer subsequent disorders, however, is sometimes very large. Bronchial irritation may lead to a true pneumonia and all manner of organisms may then join the fray. It is like the old game of follow the leader—the virus enters the blood of its victim, settles in certain mucous areas, and proceeds to stir up inflammation. Then other bacteria are invited to participate. There is no hesitation on their part, as they are offered splendid feeding grounds.

As yet no vaccine or serum which will stop the progress of the disease has been discovered. English investigators, however, believe that with the work that has already been done the perfection of a remedy is entirely within the realm of possibility. Andrewes of the British Institute of Medical Research points out that all strains of influenza virus are not identical; nevertheless we are not very far away from a preparation which so far is protective to small animals.

In the meantime we must resort to common sense measures which will help to conserve the patient's resistance and thus aid him to avoid the infection or, if it occurs, to combat it with safety.

The precepts for the care of the body in the presence of the common cold should be even more strictly observed. More time is lost and more trouble is encountered in trying to fight illness. It just can't be done. The quicker one gives up, goes to bed, and takes plenty of fluid, the sooner will he recover.

It is much the same in influenza. Absolute bed rest is imperative and the patient is instructed not to make the slightest exertion unless absolutely necessary. Large amounts of orange juice and lemonade [hot] are administered and the strictest attention must be given to the nasal passages and the throat. This means gargling with some mild antiseptic and the breathing of moist air.

The diet should be of the starvation type—no solid material other than bits of dry toast [melba toast]. For those who care for it, weak tea in large quantities is helpful and thin vegetable soups may be added. Pain in the head can be controled by means of cold applications and an ice cap is conducive to comfort. Laxatives are not required. For the patient taking no solid material an enema after two or three days will relieve the lower bowel.

When influenza arrives in your community—and it will—do not gamble with your life. Get ahead of the menace if possible. With the onset of headache, chilly sensations, and muscle pains, leave your work without delay and go to bed.

STARCH STILL STAYS.

R. M. writes: Is it true that French fried potatoes lose their starch value entirely because they are so prepared? Does toasting remove the starch content of bread?

No and again no! Toasting bread converts a small portion of the starch to dextrin, which has a sweetish taste. It makes no difference in the food value.

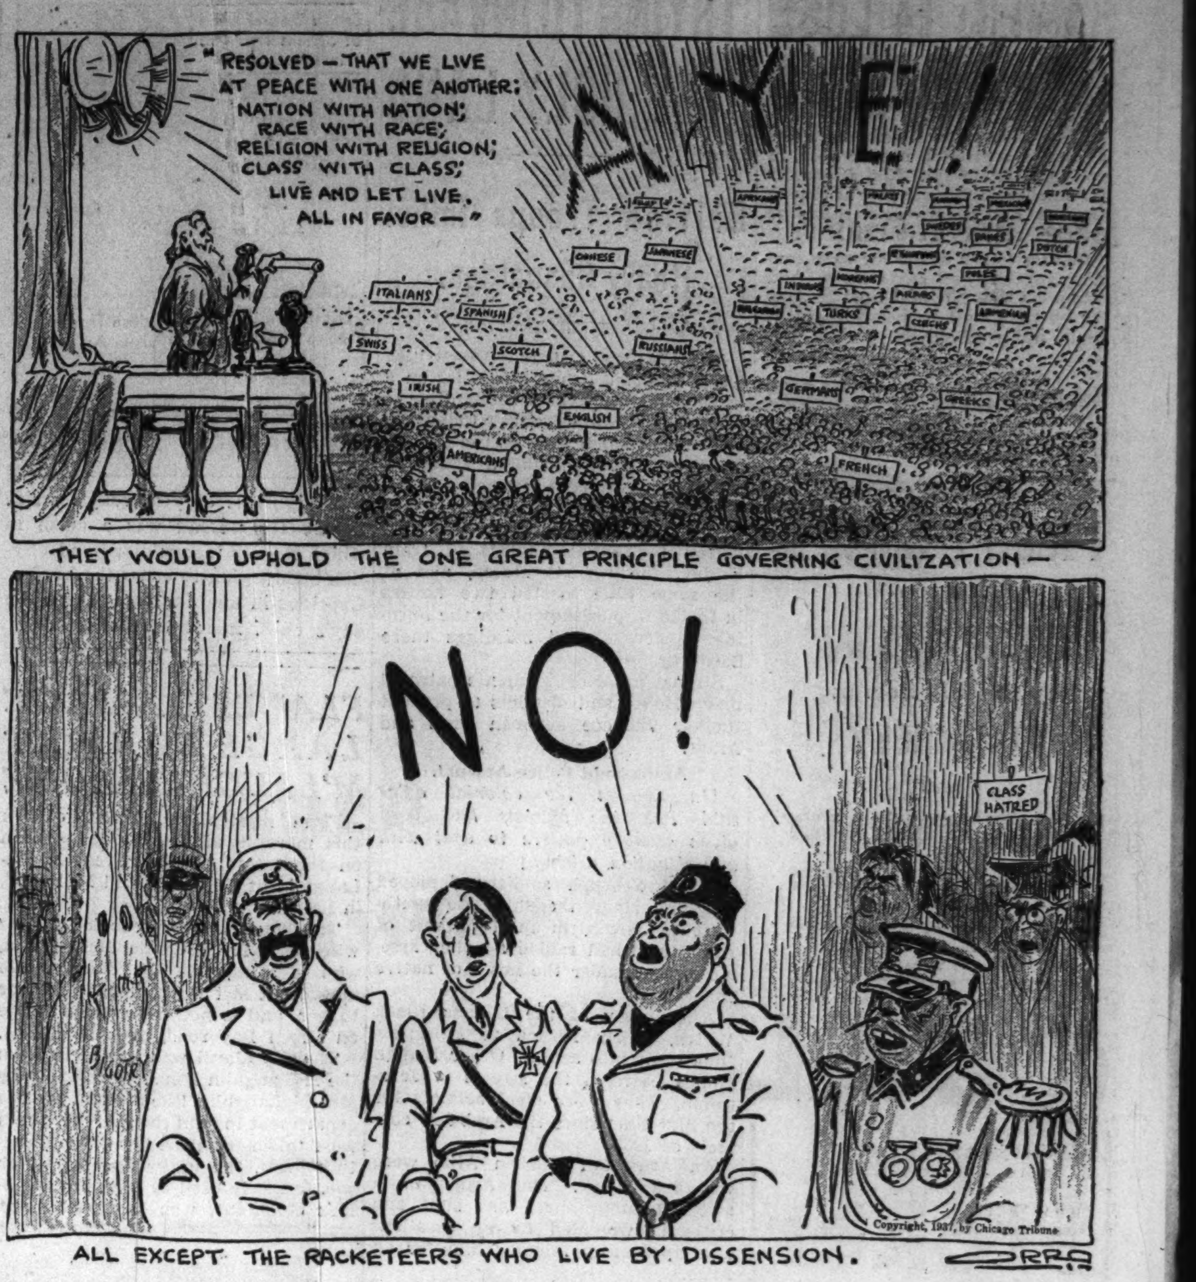
IF ALL OF THE PEOPLE OF THE WORLD COULD BE BROUGHT TOGETHER—



From Across the Sea

BY NORMAN INGREY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile.—A change in Chilean policy to "liberalize" trade and attract foreign capital has been announced by the Alessandri government through Finance Minister Francisco Garces Gana. He outlined his program to the mixed budget committee of the legislature.

Garces said the policy of the last five years was the best that could be framed in the economic circumstances, but now it was necessary to eliminate emergency organizations and adopt new measures in fitting with the normality that had largely been restored.

Two years' application of the foreign debt renewal law had not reestablished credit abroad, he admitted, but an increasing number of bondholders were accepting the plan [at present yielding 0.7 per cent interest], and the sacrifice of nitrate and copper income for this purpose was beginning to show results in facilities for overseas trade.

Importers, he said, were impressed by the new attitude toward national industry. Minister Garces intimated that home factories could not continue indefinitly if they imposed burdens upon consumers. He warned those not based on national prime materials that customs shelter may be withdrawn.

The time had arrived, with most of the crisis difficulties solved, he said, to remove business obstacles and liberalize foreign trade. That was the new policy of the government, he said.

Foreign capital must be attracted, he added in connection with this program. The control system which had held it back would have to be relaxed, to assure "the return of dividends in an easy and certain manner."

A return to "economic reality" by eliminating the discrepancy between the official and effective rates of exchange, 20 and 25 pesos to the dollar, respectively, also was foreshadowed. Artificial pressure on the market would end.

The prospect of less burdensome taxation was also dangled before the producers in a four point program announced by the government:

1. Stimulation of production by economizing in public expenditure and encouraging banking and private credit;

2. Revision of the tributary system by speeding up collections and taxing only in accord with the capacity of industry. The tarif system will also be revised under this heading to place national industry on an economic basis and to satisfy living standard necessities.

3. Simplification of exchange transactions and more freedom in the money market.

4. Readjustment of conditions for workers.

The government's plan for realization of the fourth point is to encourage higher wages. Chile adopted inflation to defeat the crisis and, although the government is now in a position to improve the value of the peso, which would cheapen living costs, it considers it less perilous that prices and pay should soar up to the new levels.

MOTOR VEHICLE LAW.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Will you inform me through your column at what age a person is eligible to drive a car in the state of Illinois, either male or female?

2. Can one obtain a tentative license for this purpose? Also if the car is owned by an adult and a minor drives it and has an accident, in which another car is damaged, [3] will the insurance company pay the damage to the other car providing property damage and liability insurance is carried, regardless of the driver's age? G. L. B.

1. Section 31 of the motor vehicle law is as follows: "No person shall operate or drive a motor vehicle who is under 15 years of age unless such person is accompanied by a duly licensed chauffeur or the owner of the motor vehicle being operated." A state law supersedes city ordinances on the same subject matter [Hoegard vs. Yellow Cab company, 320 Ill. 317].

2. Illinois has no driver's license law.

3. Depends on the wording of the insurance policy.

HOW LONG?

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 11.—When all the people in their respective spheres produce all they can at the lowest possible cost and pass their products on to the rest of the people at the lowest possible price then we have what centuries of experience teach us is prosperity. The automobile industry is an example.

When we have a government which approves and sponsors an opposite procedure in the realms of labor, trade and agriculture, any semblance of prosperity must be founded on a falsehood such as inflation. Take away the inflation and the false prosperity collapses. The collapse will stop only when the inflation is resumed.

The coyotes of the left wing stand on the side lines licking their fangs, ready to say, "See, the effort to save the capitalistic system has failed!" The truth is that a misuse of the system has failed.

CHINA'S SALVATION.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—The best thing that could happen to China now is the invasion of Japan. We all know of the abject state of poverty and misery which obtains there, as well as the backwardness of its people and the great loss of life by continuous floods and famine. In view of such conditions would it not then be far better that, by means of intervention by Japan, China be modernized, that its people be lifted out of the swamp in which they are engulfed, and bring them upon a plane of a higher standard where poverty, sickness, misery as well as ignorance, etc., may be abolished? The invasion by Japan is for China the one and only way out.

The habits and fashions of life of the Chinese people dovetail with those of Japan to a great extent and under the influence of Japan and her protection a new and modern China will rise. Japan will fight to the last man before she will see China subjugated to the unwholesome dictatorship of soviet Russia.

PRICE LEVELS.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—We are trying to adjust things the wrong way in this country. Production should never be restricted. A few years ago farmers were selling wheat at 16 cents a bushel. They wouldn't have minded this a bit if they could have bought "16 cent" plows. But the big shots only produce for the money market. What we want is 16 cent plows and 16 cent wheat and everybody will be happy. What's the big idea of trying to keep all prices high, anyway? I can't understand it.

PAYING FOR PWA.

Newark, O., Oct. 15.—We want to commend most of your editorial of Sunday, Oct. 3, in which you criticize severely the federal dam and reclamation projects of the New Deal. This reclamation work has been a scandal under previous administrations as well as this one. It is practically all pork barrel legislation. But there is no more justification for Washington building a bridge over the mouth of the Chicago river than for building a dam in Wyoming or across the ravine on my farm. The whole thing, whether done by Democrats or Republicans, is a vote buying scheme.

With the latter part of the editorial, however, we do not agree. If Illinois is a heavy income tax payer it is because you have the net income on which to pay the tax. However, Chicago is only a tax collector. Take the International Harvester company as an example. Its taxes are collected from the farmers all over the United States through the fixed selling price of its products. The same is true of your mail order houses and hundreds of other Chicago federal taxpayers. If they did not collect their taxes off the consumer they would go bankrupt. It is these heavy taxes, local, state, and federal, passed on to the farmers since the war that are largely responsible for the farmers' troubles.

VANDALS.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—At Center street in Lincoln park the cannas and coxcombs are a blaze of autumnal glory, and the desecrating hands of primordial savages have not been laid upon them this season. But what a startling contrast you will find just north of the Lincoln monument! What once was a large bed of beautiful golden cannas is now a complete ruin, trampled down by the ruthless feet of vandals, both juvenile and adult. There seems to be no regard whatever for preserving property there. The florists find their season's work undone by insolent invaders. And all this going on right under the eyes of the park police! JACK MELONE.

HE RESENTS THE FIRESIDE CHATS.

Wittenberg, Wis., Oct. 14.—How much longer must a patient, suffering American people be compelled to endure this fireside chatter which monopolizes the choicest radio hour of the evening for the average family? Favorite musical programs and equally interesting educational features are sidetracked for the rehash of alibis for blunders of the New Deal administration.

8 WILD DRIVERS JAILED; 14 LOSE RIGHT TO AUTOS

Judge Braude Fines 7 in Busy Day.

Eight motorists, one of them a woman, were sentenced to jail yesterday by Judge J. M. Braude in Safety court. Seven of them and seven other motorists lost their driving privileges. Seven fines were imposed.

Mrs. Renneker.

The woman sentenced is Miss Mabel Cedergren, 27 years old, who said she is a singer. She was arrested Sunday after her auto hit a car driven by Charles T. Collett, 4326 Cornell avenue. Police testified she had been drinking.

Judge Braude asked her if she expected leniency because of her sex and she replied she did not. He sentenced her to five days in jail and ordered her not to drive for a year.

The others sentenced to jail are:

STEVE MORAVEK, 6848 South Rockwell street, 20 days for drunken driving and 10 days for leaving the scene of an accident. The sentences are to run consecutively.

JAMES SMITH, colored, 4712 Forrestville avenue, 5 days for reckless driving; suspended for a year.

Motorists who were fined, their charges, and suspensions are:

MRS. MARIE RENNEKER, 6825 Lafayette avenue, reckless driving; $100 and 6 months.

JOSEPH SCHADEL, 1317 West 73d place, reckless driving, $50 and 6 months.

COMMUNITY FUND RAISES $981,479 IN OPENING WEEK

A total of $981,479 has been pledged during the first week of the Community Fund campaign, it was announced yesterday by Gen. Robert E. Wood, chairman of the campaign. The goal is $3,550,000.

Gen. Wood explained that the fund is needed for the 1938 budget requirements of the 177 major organized agencies, which include Catholic, Protestant, Jewish, and nonsectarian groups.

"The demand made upon the campaign this year is $150,000 greater than last year," Gen. Wood announced. "This is accounted for by the addition of 21 new participating agencies and a general upward trend in the operating expenses of administration and supplies. More than 97.4 cents of each dollar goes direct to agency services, and more than 99 per cent of the pledges of last year were collected."

FUTURE GROWTH OF CITY LINKED TO 'L' HIGHWAYS

Need for Safe System Told by Massen.

BY HAL FOUST.

Economic and humanitarian reasons for building an elevated highway system in Chicago were presented to the public affairs committee of the Union League club yesterday by Ald. John A. Massen [48th], chairman of the city council trafic committee.

Massen declared the growth of Chicago is dependent upon development of efficient transportation, just as transportation was the basis of the growth in the past.

Auto Is Dominant Factor.

"Today," said Mr. Massen, "the automobile is the dominant factor in our transportation problem. Daily, the privately owned motor car carries 2,750,000 persons into or about our city. Daily, 730,000 persons cross the city's borders in automobiles.

"Motor trafic exceeding that which moves over more than 100,000 miles of Illinois streets and highways outside Chicago is jammed onto the 3,838 miles of streets and boulevards in Chicago. The delays incurred by this trafic on our surface level streets are an inestimable economic loss to the community.

Lives In Peril.

"On the humanitarian side, unless we achieve a change for the better, one out of every four babies born in the city today and continuing to live here will enocunter death or injury by motor car on our streets and boulevards.

"For any substantial reduction in this economic waste and this human loss, there must be built pavements free of cross trafic, free of pedestrians, free of parking, and free of those other obstructions and frictions that are responsible both for the delays and the accidents of surface street operation."

Police Investigate Death of Barber at Urbana, Ill.

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Thomas A. Dale, a barber, died today of injuries which are being investigated. He died from a skull fracture inflicted by a blunt instrument. Two youths saw Dale taken from a car and notified police.

HIT-RUN DRIVER IS HELD TO JURY IN AUTO DEATH

Nicholas Lanners, 1302 Chestnut street, was held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter yesterday after an inquest over a woman killed by his car. Lanners fled after his car killed Mrs. Georgette Stockner, 4011 North Damen avenue, at Western and Berteau avenues early Sunday. He surrendered to police Sunday night.

Mrs. Frances Anderson, 78 years old, 600 Logan avenue, Elgin, died of injuries incurred in a collision of two cars.

Miss Hilda Ohlin, 5423 Harper avenue, a singer with the Chicago City Opera company, was injured when the cab in which she was riding collided with a car at Dorchester avenue in 50th street. The driver of the car was Hans Rosenwald, 4742 Woodlawn avenue, a voice teacher.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 848 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 646 were killed in Chicago, where 18,254 were injured in the same period.

FIND TENNESSEE PROUD OF LANDS AND RESOURCES

Welcome Is Extended to Governor's Tour.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Jackson, Tenn., Oct. 18.—The "red clay" lands of central and western Tennessee, which Gov. Gordon W. Browning calls "God's country," welcomed the governor's tour today, consisting of more than a hundred newspaper and automobile club representatives from coast to coast. They rested in Memphis tonight after strenuous midland hospitality, including a plantation barbecue dinner, and tomorrow will start across the state toward Chattanooga and Knoxville.

The governor, in bidding his guests farewell, told them that in this state they would find "possibly as pure a strain of Anglo-Saxon blood as any where in the world." There is something here, he said, beside "monkey trials" and child marriages.

Marriage an Old Custom.

"The London Daily Mirror called me up a while back," he said, "and wanted to know about that child marriage. I told the caller we were not responsible for a few morons, and besides, I said, getting madder all the time, we believe here in getting married, and one of our women is going to marry the king of England. Had you heard that?" He hung up."

Gov. Browning was delayed in Nashville by his struggle in the legislature for political power against Ed Crump, boss of Memphis. His welcome in Memphis would not have been warm, according to Mayor Watkins Overton, a Crump wheelhorse, who refused to attend a breakfast with the governor tomorrow.

The political fight which has been kept out of this tour as much as possible, involves the next United States senatorship, whether Senator Kenneth McKellar, who has made a political machine of WPA, will succeed himself or not, also the next presidential election. Republicans, who hold only the eastern mountain districts, are looking forward to a permanent Democratic division.

"A New Paradise."

"The fundamentals of the southland still are with us," said the governor. "We are prompted by the same motives and hate in the same way as they did in the classical ages. We still believe in the fundamentals of democratic government, although our people are beginning to get the notion of expecting everything from Washington. As to Tennessee, after the tragedy of Eden God built Himself a new paradise here.

"We want you to feel that the prejudices and factionalism of the past are forgotten. We are devoted to the same flag as you are. Here in the southland we thought we were ruined after we lost the value of a few thousand slaves. We failed to realize that in the Tennessee river we had 60 million man power to turn the wheels of new industry.

"Coupled with that we are trying to improve the condition of our people socially. Not by revolution or by making them over, but by fitting into the community life that we have. We feel that the fundamental of government is local, and that you cannot build a good citizenship without responsibility. We decry the tendency to rush to Washington as a sort of overlord.

Old Part of United States.

The tour stopped today at Dickson, Waverly, Huntingdon and Jackson. This is an old section of the United States, with monuments in every city to heroes of the revolution, the war of 1812, and the Mexican war. Waverly one hundred years ago was a race horse center and is coming back into that industry. It is in the blue grass section that reaches in a strip from Alabama, through Tennessee to Kentucky.

Dickson is the dividing line between the Cumberland and Tennessee basins, and also is the scene of an early iron industry that is returning. In 1815 Dickson developed a rich deposit of iron ore. Richard C. Napier became one of the leading iron producers of the nation. The old Laurel furnace district was a veritable feudal empire, with the work done by hundreds of slaves. They raised their food and converted ore into pig iron. Much of it was sold to the government for munitions.

Seek Bounties of Nature.

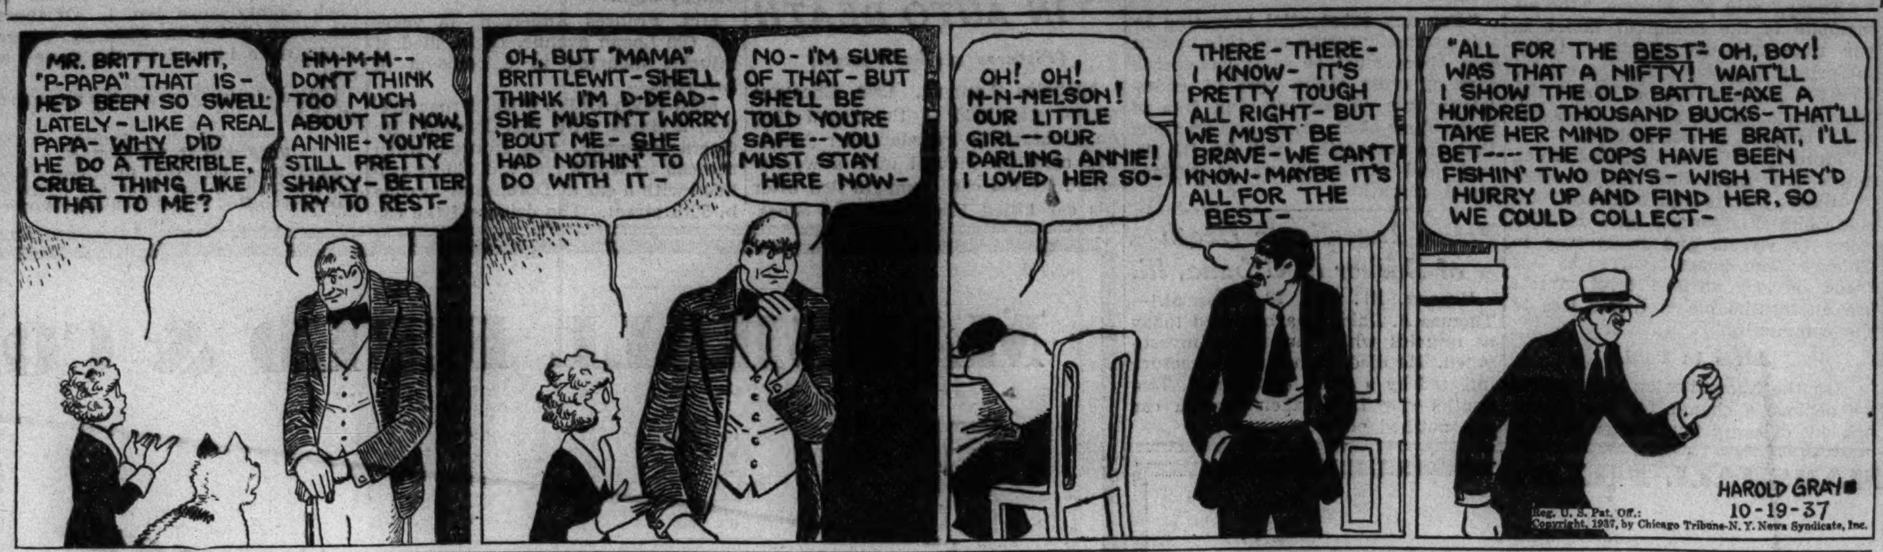
"There was a self-centered empire in this area from 1817 to the beginning of the civil war," says the Dickson Herald. "The system on which it was founded died in the smoke of battle. The methods of operation have passed entirely from the activities of the present day, but now an attempt is being made to restore some of the bounties of nature which were destroyed. Dickson also is famous for its country ham and for the first breaking away of the Cumberland Presbyterian church.

Jackson is the center of a rich agricultural section. Fifteen to 20,000 bales of cotton are grown annually in the county. It has 33 churches and 15 schools and colleges. It is half way between Chicago and the Gulf of Mexico and is called the "hub of west Tennessee," it is on the Broadway of America, the highway that runs from New York to San Diego. Union university, a Baptist institution, has an attendance of 1,313. Lambuth college, a Methodist school, and Lane, a co-educational colored college, also are here.

Thomas Martin Funeral Services to Be Tomorrow

Burial will be in All Saints cemetery. Martin, who lived at 1461 Rascher avenue, died Sunday in the John B. Murphy hospital. He formerly worked for THE TRIBUNE, where his son, Daniel B. is employed. Also surviving are his widow, Barbara, and two daughters, Mrs. Florence Hepp and Mrs. Martha Friel.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Great Expectations



GUARDS ORDERED FOR SHANAHAN WILL CASE TODAY

Widow and Cousins to Fight for Estate.

Extra bailifs were ordered yesterday by Judge Michael Feinberg to handle the large crowd of spectators expected this morning when trial of the suit to break the will of the late David E. Shanahan begins before a jury.

Mrs. Shanahan.

Charges made by relatives of the veteran legislator at preliminary hearings have revealed bitter feeling among the contestants. Because of this feeling, Judge Feinberg said, the bailifs will also serve as guards.

The present suit represents a consolidation of claims and counter claims by Mr. Shanahan's widow, Mrs. Helen Troesch Shanahan, and two of his cousins, Miss Mary Flynn and her sister, Miss Margaret Flynn.

Seek to Set Aside Will.

The Flynn sisters are seeking to set aside a will which leaves Shanahan's entire estate, estimated at between $850,000 and $1,000,000, to his widow. Charging that his signature was forged, they seek to establish the validity of a prior will which left the bulk of his estate to them.

Mrs. Shanahan, who was appointed executrix of the estate, is also attempting to regain $80,000 from Miss Mary Flynn for the estate. Miss Flynn, however, contends this sum was given to her by Shanahan prior to his death, Oct. 18, 1936.

Yesterday on the first anniversary of her husband's death Mrs. Shanahan for the first time described her marriage. The ceremony was performed at the Mercy hospital thirteen days prior to Mr. Shanahan's death, on the same day his latest will was drawn.

Tells of Long Romance.

Mrs. Shanahan had served her husband as private secretary before, during and after the five terms he served as speaker of the Illinois house of representatives. She is 41 years old. Mr. Shanahan was 74 when he died.

Because of this difference in their ages, Mrs. Shanahan said she refused his many offers of marriage, even after he insisted on giving her a diamond engagement ring in 1934. After a long period of waiting for spiritual guidance, she said, she agreed to marry him on Oct. 3 last year.

But she walked out of the ceremony, after the witnesses and the priest arrived, Mrs. Shanahan said, in keeping with a promise to God on Sept. 4 that she would wait a full month before the ceremony. Two days later, she continued, the marriage was performed, so that she could shoulder all his responsibilities and carry on his charitable work.

Miss Edith E. Short Dies Following an Operation

Miss Edith E. Short, 11940 Yale avenue, died following an operation in Woodlawn hospital yesterday. She was superintendent for seven years of St. Joseph's Episcopal Church school and was prominent as a religious education leader. Miss Short, who was 42 years old, was a member of the Railway Business Women's association. She is survived by her parents, Frederick W. and Adelaide F. Short, and a sister, Miss Dorothy Short. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday from St. Joseph's church.

JOSEPH BRUCE ISMAY, SURVIVOR OF TITANIC DISASTER, DIES AT 74

LONDON, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Joseph Bruce Ismay, 74 years old, British shipowner and former chairman of the White Star Line, died here yesterday. His widow, the former Julia Florence Schieffelin, is the daughter of George R. Schieffelin of New York.

Ismay was one of the survivors of the Titanic disaster in 1912 and was the target of bitter criticism because, as head of the line, he had left the vessel in one of the lifeboats. His conduct was investigated by the United States senate and the British Board of Trade and he was exonerated in both instances.

He resigned as chairman and managing director of the White Star Line and the International Mercantile Marine the following year. He donated $50,000 to a pension fund for widows of seamen on the Titanic. In 1924 he inaugurated the National Mercantile Marine fund for needy seamen with a gift of $125,000.

REV. C. D. WILSON, CHICAGO PASTOR 40 YEARS, DIES

The Rev. Charles D. Wilson, 72 years old, died suddenly yesterday at the home of his son-in-law, Prof. Lloyd Herrold of Northwestern university, at the Herrold home, 2210 Hartzell street, Evanston, where he had been living since his retirement three years ago. For many years he was secretary of the Rock River conference of the Methodist Episcopal church.

The Rev. Mr. Wilson held pastorates in Chicago for nearly forty years, among them at Garfield Park Methodist Episcopal church and the Mayfair Methodist Episcopal church. His wife died ten years ago. Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Phoebe Herrold, Mrs. Winifred Flack, and Mrs. Alice Warner of Holland, Mich., and a son, George J. Wilson of Pittsburgh.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow at the First Methodist church chapel in Evanston. Burial will be in Forest Home cemetery.

FERRY W. LEACH, DIES; INVESTMENT BANKING PIONEER

Ferry William Leach, a pioneer investment banker in the middle west, died yesterday at his home in the Drake Tower apartments, 179 Lake Shore drive. He was 71 years old.

He was one of the original members of the firm of Farson, Leach & Co., organized in the early 1880's. Later when A. B. Leach & Co. was organized he became the resident partner here.

Mr. Leach was a member of the Chicago Stock exchange for 43 years, but had been inactive recently because of illness. He was a member of the Chicago club, Chicago Athletic association, Bankers club, Oak Park Country club, and Grand Island lodge.

Surviving are his widow, the former Maud Shipley of Detroit; two children, George T. and Mrs. Isabel Stone, and a brother, Arthur B. Leach of New York.

Ludwig Applequist Dies; Father of Legion Leader

Ludwig Applequist, 82 years old, died yesterday in his home at 243 Evans avenue, Aurora. He was the father of Leonard G. Applequist, commander of the Illinois department of the American Legion, and had been an Aurora tailor for fifty years. He leaves his widow Ingrid, another son, Carl, and two daughters, Mary and Ruth Applequist. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 213 North Lake street, Aurora.

Several hundred persons—as many as police and railroad officials would admit—stood in the rain yesterday at the Dearborn street station and cheered and waved as Frederick B. Snite Jr., the handsome young man in the iron lung, started a trip to Florida. Among them were many who had stood on the tracks last June to greet him when he completed his homeward journey from Peiping, China, where he had been stricken with infantile paralysis.

And Frederick grinned back at them from the huge green respirator that has kept him alive for more than eighteen months.

Moved in 62 Seconds.

It took only sixty-two seconds for the crew of twelve trainmen, orderlies, and nurses, all masked, working at top speed, to transfer the youth in the ponderous iron lung on to his special section of the Dixie Limited of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railway. From the moment the white-lined van, furnished by the McNeill Ambulance service, which had borne the boy from Billings hospital, rolled up to the improvised ramp, to the Pullman observation car, which will serve as a hospital on the trip, there was no hitch in the precarious operation.

Engineer Pays Call.

Once on the train, Frederick had several last minute guests. Miss Marguerite Boa, one of the Chinese nurses who made the return trip to America with him, called to say good-by. She is a student at Cook county hospital. Then William Younglove, engineer of the four-car section, came back to greet his charge.

The Snite party, which includes Mr. and Mrs. Snite, their daughter, Mary Loretto; Terence Dillon, a Notre Dame classmate of Frederick; T. D. Griffin, business associate of the senior Snite; Dr. Claude E. Forkner, attending physician; seven nurses, and two male orderlies, will arrive in Miami Beach at 7:30 a. m. tomorrow.

QUEZON URGES FREEDOM IN 1938 FOR PHILIPPINES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 18.—A proposal to eliminate the ten-year transition period and give the Philippines independence by 1938 or 1939 instead of 1946 was made today by President Manuel Quezon. He made the plea before the national assembly, and although he was loudly applauded, signs of opposition to the proposal developed immediately among the lawmakers.

Quezon contended that if the commonwealth can be ready for independence in 1946, it can be ready on the dates which he said he had suggested to President Roosevelt—Dec. 30, 1938, or July 4, 1939.

He said the present tieup with the United States is "untenable" and added there is danger of a serious conflict between the successive high commissioners and the Philippine president.

Woman, 69, Fatally Burned by Cleaning Fluid Blast

Mrs. Lena T. Davies, 69 years old, was fatally burned in her apartment at 7020 Jeffery avenue last night when her clothing caught fire from flaming cleaning fluid. She was cleaning a coat at the time. How the fluid ignited is not known. Mrs. Davies was taken to the Jackson Park hospital, where she died. She was the widow of C. J. Davies, a lawyer. A daughter, Mrs. Ward S. Perry, wife of a boiler manufacturer, survives.

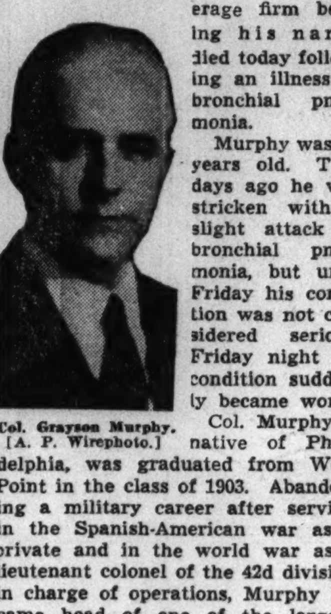
COL. GRAYSON MURPHY, POWER IN INDUSTRIAL QUARTERS, DIES AT 58

New York, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Col. Grayson M.-P. Murphy, head of the brokerage firm bearing his name, died today following an illness of bronchial pneumonia.



Col. Grayson Murphy. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

Murphy was 58 years old. Ten days ago he was stricken with a slight attack of bronchial pneumonia, but until Friday his condition was not considered serious. Friday night his condition suddenly became worse.

Col. Murphy, a native of Philadelphia, was graduated from West Point in the class of 1903. Abandoning a military career after serving in the Spanish-American war as a private and in the world war as a lieutenant colonel of the 42d division in charge of operations, Murphy became head of one of the largest and best known brokerage houses in Wall street.

He became equally prominent in the business and industrial world, and at the time of his death was a director in many corporations, including the Bethlehem Steel corporation, Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, United Cigar stores and Anaconda Copper company.

CHARLES A. DANZ, FORMER PACKER, DIES IN HOSPITAL

Charles A. Danz, 3302 Washington boulevard, president of the Chicago Metal Covering company, died yesterday in Garfield Park hospital. He was 77 years old, and a lifelong resident of Chicago. Mr. Danz was formerly in the packing business under his own name, and at one time was president of the Fulton Street Wholesale Market company. He was vice president of this company at his death. Mr. Danz belonged to the Chicago Athletic, Oak Park Country, and Midwest Athletic clubs. His widow, Ida, survives. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at the home. Burial will be in Rosehill cemetery.

COUNCIL VOTES $1,200,000 MORE IN RELIEF CRISIS

Approves Plan to Deal with Deficit.

The city council yesterday passed a resolution which will permit the raising of $1,200,000 to meet part of a $2,000,000 cash shortage in relief funds for November and December.

The council action made available an unspent share of this year's city poor relief levy which cannot legally be made available by the sale of anticipation warrants. This will be used as security, according to the resolution, either to obtain credit from food and fuel merchants or to obtain an advance from the city's cash funds.

Agree to Give Credit.

Twelve food and fuel merchants' associations agreed yesterday to extend the credit, but this would not be necessary if the cash is borrowed from the city. Leo M. Lyons, Chicago relief administrator, said he strongly favors borrowing cash, if that is legally posisble, because of the greatly increased administrative difficulty and expense of the order writing form of relief.

"In addition," Mr. Lyons said, "we could not possibly set up the necessary mechanism for the credit system before the beginning of November."

Amount Left in Fund.

The council was prevented from making more than $1,200,000 available, since that represents the amount—15 per cent—still unrealized by anticipation warrants from the maximum permitted by state law to be spent by the city for relief. Chicago's monthly relief needs amount to about $3,000,000, of which 66 per cent is supplied by the state.

The council resolution also urged the Works Progress administration to allot additional funds to this district to absorb employables on relief rolls, asked Gov. Horner to call a special session of the legislature on relief, and pointed out that since a cash shortage in relief funds still exists the problem must be studied further.

Merchants Assure Aid.

The council action followed a meeting of the finance committee at which representatives of the merchants' associations announced their willingness to coöperate.

The governor's relief council of 14, named recently as a permanent body to investigate the emergency, will meet today at the Palmer house to plan an independent study of the relief rolls in an effort to discover who are employables and what they can do.

It is easy to add sales in New York

PLANNING an effective selling campaign for New York, the world's greatest and richest market, is a simple matter. There is no mystery about it; there are few technicalities. Sales executives will find the answer in the basic principle of all profitable selling.

The one rule underlying all successful volume marketing is this—reach the families of greatest purchasing power in sufficient numbers and at economical advertising cost.

First, set down 550,000 families weekdays and 740,000 Sundays.* Label them "numbers."

Then, set these families down as "active, prospering, above-average"—the kind that want and can afford to buy and pay for the things you advertise. Label this "purchasing power."

Now, by simple addition, you get the answer—a combination of numbers and purchasing power unmatched by any other advertising medium in New York—a market for your goods reached directly and completely only through The New York Times—a volume market second to none.

The advertising record will check your finding. For almost nineteen consecutive years, advertisers have bought more space in The New York Times than in any other New York newspaper. Such a continuing record—made the more significant by The Times high standards of advertising acceptability—has been achieved only because The Times market responds consistently and profitably for advertisers who enter it.

The New York Times Advertising Department has market information that may help you start or add profitably to your sales in New York. Executives are invited to avail themselves of these facts.

Season Is Here for Making of Good Fondants

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

The holidays and accompanying candy-making sessions aren't far off. A little practice in making fondant, that basis for dozens of good candies, isn't at all amiss right now.

Fondant isn't hard to make, but there are several precautions to observe in both cooking and treatment after cooking. Chief among these is taking care to see that sugar crystals do not form in the sirup or in the cooked fondant. Sugar crystals are fatal to good candy.

Plain Fondant.

2 cups sugar
2 tablespoons light corn sirup
1¼ cups boiling water

Place ingredients in a deep, 2-quart saucepan. Using a damp cloth wrapped around a fork, wipe all sugar crystals from sides of pan. Repeat this several times during cooking. Stir over low heat until sugar dissolves, then bring to a boil. Cover and cook 3 minutes so that steam will dissolve crystals on sides of pan. Remove cover and cook without stirring to medium soft-ball stage [238-240 degrees]. Immediately pour on a platter or porcelain table top which has been rinsed with very cold water. Do not scrape pan. By so doing, sugar crystals may be introduced. Cool until fondant feels only slightly warm to the touch. Do not move candy during cooling. Scrape fondant from edges of platter toward center with a spatula or wooden spoon. Work with spatula until creamy and stiff, then knead with the hands until smooth and free from lumps. If very stiff knead only a small amount at a time. Wrap in waxed paper, place in a cool place [not the refrigerator], and allow to ripen 24 hours. Fondant may be kept this way for several weeks. Ripened fondant is kneaded, flavored, shaped, and used in these ways, among others.

1. Tint fondant various colors and flavor it with peppermint, orange, almond, and other flavors. Mold into patties, into a loaf which may be sliced, or into balls, which may be rolled in nuts.
2. Press fondant between halves of nuts, or stuff prunes or dates with it.
3. Shape it into bonbons, flavor and tint if desirable, and dip into melted hot chocolate.
4. Soften fondant over hot water and dip nuts or fruits into it.
5. Work chopped candied fruits and nuts into fondant and shape as desired.

Coffee Fondant.

4 cups sugar
2 cups strong coffee
2 teaspoons clear corn sirup
Few grains cream of tartar

Combine ingredients and cook as for plain fondant, following the same directions for working and storing.

Uncooked Butter Fondant.

3 tablespoons boiling water
2 teaspoons butter
Sifted confectioners' sugar

Add butter to water and add confectioners' sugar, a little at a time, until the mixture is pliable and may be molded by hand.

Suggested flavors: 4 drops oil of almond; ¼ teaspoon pistachio extract; 1 teaspoon vanilla extract; 1 tablespoon strong coffee; ½ teaspoon maple extract.

Episcopal Convention Approves $305,000 Boost in Budget

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 18.—(AP)—The Protestant Episcopal church was given a budget of $7,500,00 for the triennium today with which to "advance all along the lines" after years of "heart-breaking curtailment" of its work at home and abroad.

The budget, representing an increase of $305,000 over expenditures in the three years ended Jan. 1, 1937, was voted by the church's general convention as it drew near the end of its 52d triennial session.

The Rev. Dr. Frank H. Nelson, member of the joint committee on budget and program, said the financial program woulld require an increase of 20 per cent in the contributions of the 74 dioceses and 30 missionary districts for missions and general headquarters expenses.

Increased the annual salary of the presiding bishop from $12,000 to $15,-000;

Urged state legislatures to require medical certificates, showing freedom from venereal diseases, of couples desiring to marry;

Rejected an amendment which would have required couples to submit such certificates before they could be married by an Episcopalian minister.

Warm Praise Greets Debut of Louisa Hoe

BY EDWARD BARRY.

One of the most important of the year's debut recitals took place at Kimball hall last night when the Musical guild presented an evening of music by Louisa Hoe, soprano, and Milton Treshansky, pianist.

The right to appear under the sponsorship of the guild is by no means the first honor which Miss Hoe has won. It was she who placed first in the 1937 Chicagoland Music festival contests for woman soloists and who appeared at Soldiers' field on Aug. 21 before some 80,000 people.

In a program which consisted entirely of lyric songs Miss Hoe demonstrated last evening that she possesses a gift for interpretation as valuable in its way as her vocal endowments themselves. She sings with a fervor and inwardness which vitalize the content of her songs and make each one of them individual, human, and real.

Miss Hoe has at her command such valuable and often incompatible gifts as brilliance and warmth of tone coloring. Her voice seems very reliable, with no half-octave on which she must tread lightly for fear of a catastrophe. Phrasing is nobly planned, color laid on with a deft and knowing hand.

Mr. Treschansky's musical manner is simple and honest. That is, he plays straightforwardly, ably overturning technical obstacles as they come and not marring his music making by any striving for oversubtle effects. His performance of a group of Shostakovitch preludes had a delectable patness and wit which could easily have been compromised by a too conscious concern with their tempting little perversities.

However, the Chopin was too matter-of-fact, lacking that filmy magic and that delicate pianissimo which are absolutely necessary to such works as the Etude in Thirds, and this piece, like the F major etude which followed it, cannot be effectively presented at so slow a tempo.

An exceptionally cordial audience applauded both artists vociferously.

Milk Fund Benefit.

Judge Frank M. Padden of the Municipal court will serve as chairman for the annual "Tombola" festival of the Illinois Club for Catholic Women, to be held Oct. 30 at the Stevens hotel for the benefit of the Mrs. Frank J. Lewis Milk fund. The milk fund, a nonsectarian charity, serves open and suspect tubercular cases in Chicago by supplying necessities for combating and arresting the disease.

Members of the Service club yesterday tried on the costumes they will wear in the annual revue to be presented Nov. 6 at the Auditorium theater. Lucia Dixon is tying a bonnet on Margery Nicol. Rehersals are being held daily.

Cosmeticians Study New Beauty Methods at Annual Convention

Chicago's beauty operators as well as several thousand from out of town, all members of the American Cosmeticians' association, milled around the Hotel Sherman yesterday taking notes on the newest ways to beautify womanhood. The cosmeticians are holding their annual convention. They also picked up information on the newest shades of nail polish, facials, permanent waves and coiffure designing, deftly demonstrated by manufacturers and skilled operators.

The operators will hear a discussion this afternoon by Dr. G. Alexander Ward of Chicago, speaking on allergy and its relation to beauty problems. A dinner and dance in the Hotel Sherman have been planned for tonight.

New Skirted Bathing Suit Appears to Be Skirtless

A deceptive bathing suit, skirted yet appearing skirtless, and a new double-duty model, which can be stripped of its outer layer and turned into a one-piece suit, yesterday were added to the swimming suit wardrobe which opened for a three day revue at the Edgewater Beach hotel. The new colors for the mermaid? Caribbean blue, sea green, barnacle brown, cruise red, marine blue, and shell pink. And for a dressmaker touch—gay wooden nosegay buttons snapped in a row down the front or back of the costumes.

O, the Lure That Lies in Eyelashes!

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Women may choose careers instead of the other happy avenue open to them. They may pay their own half of the dinner check and theater expenses. They may shriek efficiency from every pore of their perfectly tailored ensembles, but let one of the sex, known some time ago as the weaker, hear about a trick for making eyelashes grow, and if she isn't all ears and intentions to rush out and buy the product, we're all wrong, which we aren't on this claim.

But it wasn't to tell of eyelash products that we started out today, but to report on the ten best pairs of eyelashes in Hollywood, and why, according to their recent honor roll appointment by Cecil B. De Mille:

Franciska Gaal, petite Viennese, because her eyes are the most photographic in cinema land and her unusually fine lashes contribute much to their effectiveness.

Katherine De Mille, Cecil's adopted daughter, because she has the most luxuriant lashes of any film actress.

Gladys Swarthout, because she has long lashes that do not create an impression of the coquette or the siren, but add to the frankness of her personality.

Margot Grahame, because she has unusually long and dark lashes for a blonde.

Joan Crawford, because her eyes are among the most glorious on the screen and the lashes the perfect complement.

And Anthony Quinn, Irish-Aztec actor, because, whether he likes it or not, he has eyelashes any woman would envy.

Marxes Plead Not Guilty to U. S. Copyright Charge

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Pleas of not guilty were entered today in United States District court by Groucho and Chico Marx, comedians, to an indictment charging them with copyright infringement. The Marx brothers are accused of appropriating a skit in a broadcast over a National network without permission of the copyright owners, Garrett and Carol L. Graham. The comedians previously settled a civil damage suit. Trial of the government's case was set for Oct. 28.

According to CULBERTSON

Mr. Culbertson is conducting, through this column, a national examination of bridge players. Rate yourself by subtracting from 100 the points for each wrong answer. Or mail answers to Mr. Culbertson, care of this paper, and at the end of the examination he will send you a personal certificate with your mark and bridge classification.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

Questions 14 and 15 of the National Self-Rating Bridge Examination appeared yesterday. They were:

Question 14: Both sides vulnerable. You are South. Your partner dealt and bid one spade. Second hand passed. Your holding is:

♠6 ♥Q 5 4 ♦A 10 7 5 3 ♣J 8 4 2

What call do you make, and why?

Answer: You should bid one no trump. Your hand is decidedly too good to pass but not good enough to justify the response of two diamonds. The singleton spade is, admittedly, a bad feature of the no trump response, but you would be misleading partner and increasing the contract by any other call. As between two evils, choose the lesser. [One point demerit for any call other than one no trump.]

Question 15: Both sides vulnerable. Your partner dealt and bid one spade. Next hand overcalled with one no trump. Your holding is:

♠7 ♥A 10 6 ♦Q J 10 8 5 ♣Q 9 7 4

What call do you make?

Answer: You should double, a penalty double, of course. You have no reason to feel that your side can make a game in any suit, but you yourself probably will be able to take at least five tricks against an adverse no trump, especially in view of the fact that you are on lead and can open the diamond queen. To make any call other than a double is to jeopardize a beautiful opportunity. [Two points demerit for any call other than a double.]

TODAY'S QUESTIONS.

Question 16: Opponents are vulnerable. You are not. Your partner dealt and bid one club. Next hand passed. Your holding is:

♠5 ♥K Q J 9 7 5 3 2 ♦6 2 ♣5 3

What call do you make?

Question 17: Both sides are vulnerable and you have a part score of 40 points. Your partner deals and bids one heart. Next hand passes. Your holding is:

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 no tr'p	Pass	2 clubs	2 spades
2 no tr'p	Pass	3 no tr'p	Pass
Pass	Double	Pass	Pass
Pass

South's free rebid was hardly a thing of beauty. His opening no trump had been based on absolute minimum values, three and one-half honor tricks with eight honor cards. That was all right. But when North came in with a weakness response and East overcalled with two spades it is hard to imagine why South should have felt that his hand deserved a free rebid. There can be no criticism of North's bidding. His holding almost waranted a raise of the no trump on the first round. Instead of stretching, he had properly taken the more conservative course of merely bidding two clubs. When South advertised substantially better than a minimum no trump by his free rebid North was quite justified in going to game. The result was a "bottom" for North-South.

West opened his top spade. East, having no entry outside of the spade suit itself, played correctly in refusing to part with one of his honors, contenting himself with playing the seven spot as a come-on signal. Dummy's jack holding, declarer led a low club to the king. West grabbed the trick and returned the eight of spades. There was no point in East's holding off longer. If declarer held another spade stopper that would simply mean that West was "out." After rattling off five spade tricks, during which time West gave negative heart signals, East returned a diamond, and the bad contract was down 500 points.

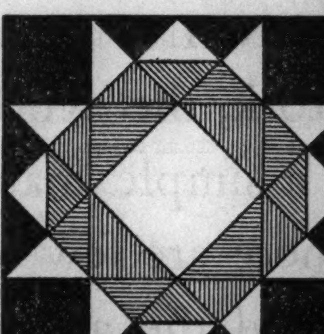
Pope to Act Oct. 26 on the Beatification of Mother Cabrini

Pope Pius on Oct. 26 will pass on a proposal that may lead to the beatification and canonization of Sister Francesca Xavier Cabrini [Mother Cabrini], who founded the missionary sisters of the Sacred Heart of Jesus.

Sister Francesca, who was born in Lodi, Italy, died in Chicago in 1917 while visiting convents of her order in America. Proceedings were begun here in 1931 to have her proclaimed as having "exercised Christian virture to a heroic degree." Diocesan authorities here and in Lodi have conducted long examinations into her life and her case has been acted upon favorably by numerous branches of the convocation of rites.

Quilt Presented Today Is Known by Many Titles



Georgetown Puzzle.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

In the history of today's quilt patterns there is much room for speculation and equal opportunity for dispute. "Georgetown Puzzle" has been variously known as "Georgetown Circle," a name which seems to be most popular. It also has been called "Crown of Thorns." When just the wreath section of the pattern was used it was called either "Wedding Ring" or "Memory Wreath." The block illustrated today, regardless of its names, measures 16 inches square when completed, and twenty pieced blocks set together with bands of white material form a coverlet which measures 86 by 108 inches.

St. Luke's Show to Bring Style Climax Today

BY JUDITH CASS.

TODAY is the day of the St. Luke's fashion show, a memorable and exciting, and perhaps frightening, day to the numerous young women who will act as models, for it is no easy thing to appear on the stage and runway of the ballroom of the Stevens hotel before an audience of the most discriminating and fashion-wise women in the city. Not that the afternoon audience isn't friendly, for in it are the mothers and aunts of the models as well as all the stylists and dressmakers in the city, and the hundreds of other women who wouldn't think of missing a St. Luke's show, but a feminine audience always is more critical than a masculine one. Tonight's audience—the show is given at 2:30 in the afternoon and again at 7:30 at night—will be a mixed one with as many men as women, for it is a dinner-dance. Usually the dance is held in the ballroom foyer immediately following the show, but this year those of the audience who want to dance will adjourn to the Continental room, where there will be no cover charge for those who have attended the fashion show and dinner.

Feature Chinese Wedding Procession.

As gorgeous and interesting as the show may be, the intermission feature bids fair to rival successfully the brand new styles, for the feature is to be a Chinese wedding procession. The 36 participants, all Chinese, will wear priceless robes. The procession itself will be an accurate reproduction of the ceremony of the upper classes in the days before the new republic. Mrs. Walter B. Wolf and Mrs. John A. Stevenson have arranged this unusual spectacle and Kenneth Foster, who has lived in China and taken part there in artistic and dramatic activities, has directed it.

Mrs. John Jay Borland II. is to be the bride in the fashion show itself—Miss Eva May Chan will be the Chinese bride—and Mrs. George T. Senseney and Miss Jean McWilliams will be Mrs. Borland's attendants. Since the marriage of Miss Barbara Hutchins and young Mr. Borland last fall, a day less than a year ago to be exact, was a small home ceremony instead of the large church one planned before the death of her grandmother, Mrs. Chauncey Keep, she is an especially fortunate choice for the bride, for comparatively few of her friends saw her in her own bridal finery. Titian haired Mrs. Senseney and blonde Miss McWilliams will complement perfectly brunette Mrs. Borland.

Two brides who were scheduled to be models are ill, so the audiences will not see Mrs. Reverdy Wadsworth and Mrs. John Stuart Jr. on the runway this afternoon or evening. Mrs. Wadsworth is the former Eleanor Roosevelt of Skaneateles, N. Y., and Mrs. Stuart was Miss Nancy Whiting of Chicago.

Mrs. John W. Gary Chairman of Show.

Mrs. John W. Gary, chairman and treasurer of the show committee and president of the woman's board of the hospital; Mrs. John L. Cochran, Mrs. Frank Hibbard, Mrs. Frank P. Hixon, Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams, Mrs. Robert J. Thorne, Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson Jr., Mrs. A. Watson Armour III., Mrs. W. Irving Osborne Jr., Mrs. Harold C. Smith, Mrs. Harold Eldridge, Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson, Mrs. John C. Pitcher, Mrs. John J. Mitchell, Mrs. Huntington B. Henry, Mrs. Walter F. McLallen III., Mrs. J. Beach Clow, Mrs. Theodore A. Shaw Jr., Mrs. Paul Willis, Miss Margaret Hixon, Miss Louise Forgan, Mrs. Walter Byron Smith, Mrs. Grant H. Laing, Mrs. Selim W. McArthur, Mrs. Louis C. Sudler, Mrs. Press Hodgkins, Mrs. Robert M. Adams, Mrs. Chauncey B. Borland, Mrs. Morrison Waud, Mrs. Gordon Lang, and Miss Harriet Borland are among those who have worked to make a success of the show.

Little ever is written of the audiences at the St. Luke's shows—this is the 11th annual one—for the models distract the attention of social and fashion reporters to such an extent that they hardly see the audience. A very complete account of the smartest in the world of fashion might be written, however, by anyone who looked only at the women attending the show for every one always wears her newest street outfit

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

HONOLULU, Hawaii.—This is Honolulu. There are lei makers sitting with lapfuls of fresh flowers near the dock, and there are Japanese maidens in kimono and obi and Chinese girls in oriental trousers and housecoats waiting on trade in the department stores that sell the finest western merchandise. Leading citizens, pineapple men and sugar men who control the destinies of the island, wear wreaths of shells or bands of feathers about their hats with no self-consciousness. A man in charge of unloading at the dock uses words from seven or eight languages [making a kind of local esperanto] in a twenty-five word sentence in directing the mixed nationalities under his supervision. One of the leading public schools is called the McKinley, its architecture is a kind of Romanesque and the majority of its children are Chinese. There is a kimono shop across from Fort de Russy. And a shop with the sign "La Corsetiere" is alongside one that says "Massage" with Japanese lettering underneath. The girl usher inside the main doorway of the Waikiki theater looks part Hawaiian and part Portuguese, and wears artificial eyelashes and a red and scarlet cape reminiscent of the feather war cloak of King Kamehameha the Great.

THERE are silver streamlined buses on the streets and the trafic on Fort street is as heavy as that of Michigan avenue, but still, when there is a Chinese funeral the herse goes lickety-split to the cemetery in the hope that the deceased may be buried before the evil spirits get to him. The accompanying shower of little white papers, each slit in the center, is scattered abroad by the mourners so that should evil spirits catch up and go along they will fall out through the slits.

The clinic is a fine white modern building, the hospitals are said to be as fine as those on the mainland, the homes of the workers in the sugar cane and pineapple fields are more modern than those of most mainland workmen, but there are tabu sticks, with gold balls atop them, marking the royal tombs in the cemetery, to keep the curious at a proper distance from the royal graves.

THERE are in Honolulu innumerable Christian churches and Shinto shrines, and Buddhist and Mormon and Japanese and Chinese temples. There is the First Chinese Church of Christ in Hawaii, its architecture an adaptation from the Chinese, and the Makiki Castle church, built in the style of an ancient feudal castle of Japan, and the interracial church called "The Church of the Crossroads," and the Korean Methodist Episcopal church and the Japanese Trinity mission. And the Arthur Murray dancers from New York are giving rhumba lessons daily at the Royal Hawaiian hotel.

ONE of the churches is built of coral rock, but its outlines are New England. It is less than forty years since the Hawaiian Islands became part of the United States by annexation, but its American culture is older than that of the states west of the Alleghanies because the college bred missionaries brought their New England culture with them. Indeed, daughters of rich westerners were sending their children to school in Honolulu during the gold rush days.

* *

THIS is Honolulu, where east is east and west is west, yet fuse harmoniously. Beautiful Honolulu, a city with a civilization and a culture as well as beauty and hospitality.

'Mme. Bovary' Is a Production of Great Merit

"MME. BOVARY."

A dramatization of Gustave Flaubert's novel by Gaston Baty, adapted by Benn W. Levy; given in the Grand Opera house Oct. 18, 1937, with Constance Cummings as star, under the management of the Theater guild.

THE CAST.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

The dramatization of Flaubert's classic novel, "Mme. Bovary," which the Theater guild staged in the Grand Opera house last night, is admirable in fidelity to its source. The ironic and ultimately terrible story of the fantasies, follies, and adulteries of a light headed, neurotic wife has been arranged for the footlights in a way that completely expresses its spirit and copiously records its essential details.

Playgoers who have read the original work, whether in French or in English translation, will find no disappointment in this fine production. Those who are unacquainted with this masterpiece of fiction will find, I believe, an unusual example of stagecraft.

The action moves slowly but with increasing momentum, through a framework of sixteen episodes, each contributing clinical data to a searching analysis of the psychology of Emma Bovary, who dreamed of romance and in groping for it found misery of spirit and a wretched death. In its writing and also, to a large degree, in its acting, the play closely approaches the spirit in which Flaubert wrote. The technique of the production is modern, but it always seeks to express the mood of the story's environment [Normandy in 1854] and the viewpoint of the novelist.

The characterizations, all along the line, come close to my idealizations of the figures in the massive novel. Emma Bovary, who holds the stage in every scene, is acted in a fascinating way by Constance Cummings, who has the cool, demure loveliness that Flaubert painstakingly recorded.

This young actress, new to playgoers in Chicago but fairly familiar to moviegoers, is a vivid personality, admirably suited for her long and exacting rôle. Her voice contains too much, perhaps, of the ingénue accent and the romantic young lady's gushing tone. These were traits of Flaubert's character that ordinarily lurked behind a mask of provincial calm. The stage, however, demands obvious strokes in characterization, and Miss Cummings' diction is in the spirit of the rôle. This performance marks her debut as a dramatic star, and it is a decided success.

Charles Bovary, the plodding, stupid, kind-hearted country doctor, is perfectly portrayed by Harold Vermilyea. The unctuous and voluble druggist, Homais, chief humorous character in the story, is interpreted admirably by Ernest Cossart, veteran comedian of Theater Guild productions. All of the other characters fit well into Flaubert's irionic record of life in the French provinces, although Eric Portman, as the heavy lover, Rodolphe, runs more to the Byronic tradition than the cynical seducer of the book.

The costumes and stage settings depart from the spirit of Flaubert. They are flossy Theater Guild stuff, not dismal illustrations of depressing provincialism. However, if the play were dressed in the style of Flaubert's elaborate descriptions, it would become too grim for theatrical effectiveness.

This production provides a long and interesting evening in the theater in the French manner, running until 11:20. Readers of Flaubert will gloat over it quietly; others will find in it something to think over and discuss freely. It is far from the typical example of Theater Guild smartness and worldliness; it is a generous slice of the solid meat of drama.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

An enchanting, youthful coiffure designed by the French artist who will create the hairdresses for St. Luke's fashion show today. The necessary high line of the season is apparent in the little girl arrangement of the front hair, brought upward and held in place with small combs beneath the hair bow. In the back the hair is long and soft.

Furred Gloves Are Last Word in Hand Luxury

BY RHEA SEEGER.

The last word in hand luxury are the fur gloves and glorified mittens which have arrived in time for the first nippy days ready to wear with all the smart, slim fur trimmed suits. A clever Viennese designer, famous for her gloves, sends these furred affairs. Having made a reputation with suedes embellished with beautiful details such as criscrossed tucks, rows of fine stitchery and delectable colors, she still causes a lot of excitement with these furry numbers.

Some are funny, for instance, the single finger models—the glove is a well fitting mitten except for the thumb and first finger out in the cold alone. Others are miracles of suave fitting with the palms a suede or fabric and the upper half made of such fur as sealskin, Persian, and others. Not just cuffs of the fur, but bands, insets, and patches cleverly appliqued into position as neatly and nicely as the tucks or appliqued rows or braid or encrustations of patent lether.

One knockout pair is made of snowy white fur, with palms of white material like suede or thick velvet. Each finger is topped with the fine soft fur. These are as smooth and sleek as anything in kidskin.

Silver fox tails, mink tails, or pompons and balls of either fur are used in a lavish manner to make some dress parade fur trimmed gloves. These luxurious gloves match either hat or fur trimmed suit. Sometimes handbags can be matched with clever fur trim copied from the details on the gloves. Buy them and wear them now, while they're so new and smart.

Freddie Will Get $98,000 a Year Now

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 18.—(AP)—After three months of bickering between his aunt and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, Freddie Bartholomew today got a $50,000 a year pay increase—plus $1 a week spending money.

The new contract, presented to Superior Judge Clement L. Shinn for ratification following last week's settlement of differences, provides the boy actor is to be paid $2,000 a week for forty weeks of film work and $3,000 weekly for six weeks of personal appearances annually—a total of $98,000.

The contract will remain in force two years, after which the studio has an option on Freddie's services at the reduced figure of $1,250 a week on the grounds he then will be 15, an age of dubious box office value.

The new contract provides $100 a week for Miss Myllicent Bartholomew, his aunt and guardian, as Freddie's caretaker.

Freddie took the stand today to say, "I made Mr. [Louis B.] Mayer sign a contract under which I am to receive $1 a week pocket money to spend myself."

"That," said Judge Shinn, "probably is the best contract of them all."

When Freddie and his aunt quit the studio three months ago the boy was under contract at $350 a week with $750 weekly in bonuses.

Cagney's Film IS 'Something to Sing About'

"SOMETHING TO SING ABOUT."

Produced by Grand National. Directed by Victor Schertzinger. Presented at the Oriental theater.

THE CAST.

Terry Rooney	James Cagney
Rita Wyatt	Evelyn Daw
Hank Meyers	William Frawley
Stephanie	Mona Barrie
Pinky	Harry Barris
Bennett O. Regan	Gene Lockhart
Fuzzy	Candy Candido
Soloist	Cully Richards
Farney	Marek Windheim
Daviani	John Arthur
Blaine	Richard Tucker
Ito	Philip Ahn
Easton	Dwight Frye
Cafe Manager	William Davidson
Miss Robbins	Kathleen Lockhart
Soloist with Orchestra	James Newill

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

This, I would say, IS something for Cagney fans to sing about! A right good vehicle for the red-headed bye.

"Something to Sing About" is a "musical." Young Mr. Cagney hoofs, he sings. He is a true, lovin' man to one woman. AND besides several minor rows, he has one swell fight in which he cleans up a whole Hollywood studio stage. Just a little three ring circus all by himself, that's all!

Terry Rooney's a Manhattan band leader, in love with his blues singer, Rita Wyatt, when the picture opens, and he's giving his last performance—he dances besides waving the baton. For Hollywood has called and he is going to become a movie actor. But soon, he tells his Rita, he'll be back . . .

His surprised but intrepid encounters with varied forms of Hollywood hooey make exciting and interesting seeing. . . . The finale shows him back in New York. Because Terry does NOT go Hollywood! And no more of the story from me to you . . .

Mr. Cagney's performance is forthright and artistic. That smile! How it DOES help! That punch! How it does HIT . . .!

The star had A1 cast support and direction. And the dialog, I thought, pretty good.

There have been more finished productions than "Something to Sing About"; but, as stands, Grand National has license to crow plenty over the fact that he who used to be Warner Brothers' Cagney is their bebby now. [One to whom Warner Brothers are remorsefully singing, "Baby, Won't You Please Come Home?"]

See you tomorrow.

Glenn Frank Tells Teachers of 2 Roosevelt Mistakes

Dr. Glenn Frank, former president of the University of Wisconsin, told 750 teachers attending the annual conference of the Du Page valley division of the Illinois Educational association yesterday at Wheaton that the Roosevelt administration is making two big mistakes. They are, he said, the attempts to curtail production and control capital. S. A. Denison of Glen Ellyn was elected president of the Du Page division to succeed Keim K. Tibbetts of Wheaton.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

A Columnist's Clock

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 18.—Midnight: A swing 7 piece band is playing in the living room of the Colleen Moore Bellair house where Countess Dorothy di Frasso's party is in full blast. Connie Bennett, Norma Sheerer, Lily Pons, Kay Francis, Dolores Del Rio, Virginia Bruce, Claudette Colbert, Miriam Hopkins, Phyllis Brooks, Beatrice Lillie, and Bette Davis are a few of the stunners cutting up terpsichorean touches with Raoul Walsh, Cesar Romero, Cary Grant, Anton Litvak, Victor Moore, Bill Goetz, Dr. Joel Pressman, Jon Hall, Bill Haines, Chico Marx, Lewis Milestone, and Ivan Lebedeff.

But a group of us have deserted the dance floor to play guessing games—Irene Dunne, Loretta Young, Groucho Marx and Ruth, the Ernst Lubitsches, Joe Mankiewicz, Charlie Feldman, and Mitch Leisen. Groucho and Gilbert Roland stump us, betting that we can't name five words that end in these four letters, d-o-u-s. We get three of them quickly, [1] tremendous, [2] stupendous, [3] horrendous. If you know the other two, wire me quick at 621 North Alta drive, Beverly Hills, and some day, I'll do something nice for you, no foolin'.

9:00 P. M.—Dinner with the L. K. Sidneys, here for six weeks. He asks me news of Broadway and I repeat excerpts from the day's mail. Bruce Cabot says: "You New Yorkers never get the feel of it out of your blood, do you?" and gets a grinning negative.

5 P. M.—A hurried lunch with Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker at the Ambassador, who is leaving within the hour to visit his son, 13, in school at Tucson, Ariz.

3 P. M.—Writing a column as pictures are being hung, rugs laid, and furniture adjusted in the new house. Generally it takes an hour to write it; today it takes longer than that. Mrs. Bob Hope, Mrs. Jack Benny, and Mrs. Hal Le Roy are aiding with suggestions in the living room, and I am nicely going nuts.

NOON—The masquers' luncheon to the Rev. Father John White, treasurer of the Catholic Actors' guild. Pat O'Brien, one of the nicer guys out here, is toastmaster, and calls on Irvin S. Cobb, Bishop Thomas Gorman of Nevada, Pedro De Cordoba, L. Wolfe Gilbert, Frank McGlynn to welcome the Staten Islander to the coast.

11 A. M.—Joe Schnitzer, head of the Western Costume company, has been showing me through the most exciting places in this exciting town. For two hours we have tramped through the six story building, where 500,000 costumes hang on storeroom pegs. The costumes range from a subway guard's uniform to the exact costume which the nobles of Venice wore in the days of Marco Polo.

SYNOPSIS.

When rich old Caleb Winter dies, his wife, Isabella, once his housekeeper, wires her daughter, Sally Lee Keyne, at school in Maryland, to come home at last. Because Caleb had demanded a housekeeper without family ties, Isabella has never told him of Sally. Sally bids a fond good-by to wise Mary Culpepper, school headmistress, and sets out. En route Sally meets Robin, who, whose family lives near the old Crewe mansion, Sally's new home—he falls in love with her. The Winter chauffeur meets Sally in Baltimore, and, driving her home, gives a lift to an arrogant tramp called Vincent. Sally orders the chauffeur to put him out. The morning after Sally's homecoming, Joseph Marr, his lawyer, reads Caleb's will, and her mother has a stroke. Informed of his wife's deception, Caleb left everything to his first wife's nephew, Obadiah Crewe. Mrs Winter, if she stays on as housekeeper, to have shelter and an income. The new heir turns out to be the tramp—Vincent Obadiah Crewe. Though she hates and fears him, Sally serves him as housekeeper in her mother's place.

INSTALMENT XIV.
HIS PERSONAL MAN.

Obadiah's lips moved silently. Marr thought that he was swearing under his breath but he was repeating the syllables of Marr's long word . . . "con—ca—ten—a—tion." Having amused or annoyed himself thus for a moment, he said aloud and with abruptness, "Do you think those two women, Mrs. Winter and her girl, will be bringing suit to break the will?"

Marr stopped, then trotted on. "Hardly. Hardly. The law in this part of the world is not particularly favorable and the fact of her long deception as to a previous marriage and the child kept on Caleb's money at a smart school would rather militate against her in a court. Besides, she would stand to lose a substantial sure income . . . three thousand six hundred a year is not to be sniffed at, Mr. Crewe.

"Who's sniffin'?"

". . . with a free home and living expenses for both her daughter and herself . . . that is, of course, unless you object to the presence of this child. . . ."

"I could throw her out, eh, could I?"

Marr, very red in his cheekbones, said unwillingly, "I suppose you could but . . . er . . . naturally it would appear to me as . . . to say the least . . . an ungenerous gesture."

Obadiah laughed shortly, a sound not very reassuring to the anxious listener. It is always difficult for a lawyer to dislike a wealthy client but Marr found himself driven against his will further and further towards that most improvident emotion. He did not like this heavyset expressionless young tramp, mistrusted, even feared him. What had Caleb known of the life and training of the nephew he had so arbitrarily chosen to be his heir. This hard eyed, close cropped, heavy jawed fellow might well have seen the inside of a prison. He was an ill conditioned owner for beautiful Crewe House. Poor little lady Jessica! thought Joseph Marr, who had loved Caleb's first girl wife and had known something of her pathetic history, which had included and been overwhelmed by a tragically thwarted love.

In the interval between his visit to the bank and his return to his new home, Crewe entered the liquor store, the billiard parlor and the room behind the parlor. By the time he returned to the long stately drive flanked by its mighty trees, he was red faced and inclined to step high over the bars of shade. A cur followed him up from the village.

For most of the afternoon he slept, stretched out on a sofa of pale blue brocade, the cur thumping his tail against a Persian rug. He woke at five, sat up with a great scared start and found himself staring at the portrait of his aunt above a carved chimney piece. He was in the library of Crewe House and on either side of the chimney the walls were lined from floor to ceiling with shelves of books. A bow window at ground level opened on the ordered tulips which seemed to be dancing their way across the sills. Jessica Crewe, in the portrait, had an open-eyed slender face beneath the full pompadour and above the square necked and puff sleeved frock of a Gibson girl. At this presentment of an aunt he had never known Obadiah Vincent stared for a long while, rolling and smoking a series of cigarets.

It would have been quite impossible for an observer to read his reflections, his eyes and mouth being the least betraying possible of human features. They were, in fact, the features of a man whose emotional reactions have been since babyhood of not the slightest interest to any one . . . not even to himself.

From the prolonged contemplation of Jessica Crewe, during which his own face began to acquire a faint reflection of that mocking and secretive look, the young man removed his eyes to the high shelves Presently he rose and, still smoking, walked along the walls studying titles and muttering to himself. "Poetry," he said aloud, and took down into his big rough hands a tiny volume of tooled leather with gilt edged delicate sheets. With this he returned to his loveseat, the cur returning with him.

Charles came in to turn on the lights.

"You'll hurt your eyes, sir."

"I reckon you're right." He laid the book down beside him on its face. Charles was now eyeing the cur with obvious disapprobation.

"How you like my dog?" asked Vincent.

"Well, sir, it ain't hardly for me to say, Mr. Crewe, but he don't look to me like a gen'man's dog, sir."

"He isn't. He belongs to me. You can look out for him, can't you? He should have a bath and be liberally de-fleaed. Also he needs a lining to his belly. His name," said Vincent, gravely "is just . . . Dawg. Hi, Dawg, how you making? See, he knows his name already."

"Yes, sir," Charles smiled, "he sure do. I reckon he's a right smart animal. Hi, you Dawg, come along with me and git you dinner."

Before leaving with his low-class companion, however, Charles said, Mr. Crewe, sir, Mr. Monkey's done come back and would powerful like you could see him."

"Mr. Monkey?"

"Yes, sir. He Mr. Winter's personal man, a Jamaican gentleman, sir. He been in service mighty long while here, Mr. Crewe. He wuk for Miss Jessica's father, old Mr. Vincent Crewe, sir. He done valet Miss Jessica's brother, too. Your pa, sir."

"Personal man! Look here, you all don't expect me to use a valet, do you?"

"Why, yes, sir, we does. You'll surely need a man for you clothes and such, sir. Pressing and cleaning and keeping in order."

Vincent looked down at his solitary suit.

"O, will I? I kind of thought my housekeeper'd sew on my buttons and darn my socks."

"O no, sir. Hardly. Not Mrs. Winter nor Miss Keyne, Mister Obadiah. You wouldn't hardly expect that. Benjamina and Ruby does the general mending. Or Zona."

"O. K. Tell this Mr. Monkey to come along in. Wait a sec though, Charles . . ."

To Charles' horror, Vincent then tore out a fly leaf from the exquisite small volume he had laid aside and wrote carefully with a pencil stub from his vest pocket, a few lines.

"See that Miss Keyne gets this, will you, Charles? Pronto."

"Yes, sir."

Charles took the folded paper. "Do you want I should send Mr. Monkey to you upstairs whilst you dress, sir?"

"Dress? Hell, I'm all the dressed I'm going to be. Tell him to come in here now and make it snappy. I kind of thought I'd duck down to the river for a swim before supper. When do I get my supper, Charles?"

"At eight o'clock, sir."

"My God! Well, that gives me plenty of time to wash back of the ears."

A few minutes later a small, thin old man in a neat, black, well cut suit, came into the room, stopped just inside the threshold and bowed.

"Mr. Crewe: Sebastian Manchi, if you please, sir."

Vincent turned slowly about.

"By God," he said in his softest voice, "you're not British, are you?"

"Yes, sir," said the pale, ageless creature, "I am a British subject. I was born in Jamaica, sir."

"West Indian nigger, eh?"

Thirty Students Start Classes at Bauhaus, School of Design

Thirty students registered yesterday for classes in the New Bauhaus, American school of design, which opened in the old Marshall Field mansion at 1905 Prairie avenue.

Remodeling of the building has not been completed, but Prof. L. Moholy-Nagy, director of the school, is conducting classes in the north wing. The formal dedication of the school will take place Nov. 9 when Dr. Walter Gropius, founder of the old Bauhaus at Dessau, Germany, teacher of Moholy-Nagy, and now professor of architecture at the University of Harvard, will lecture.

Miss Norma K. Stahle, assistant director of the school, declared that many industrial designers in Chicago have requested night classes. These will start within the second semester in February, she said.

The school of industrial design was founded by the Association of Arts and Industries. The school takes its name from its famous predecessor in Germany.

I Will Club Party.

Mrs. George Beers will entertain the I Will club at her husband's boyhood home, 3414 South Paulina street, with luncheon and cards at 12 o'clock today.

Mother Unwise to Tag Along on Girl's Date

BY DORIS BLAKE.

The kind of mother who insists upon tagging along with her girl of 20 is parental pest No. 1. She curbs her girl's chances of being included in many of the events necessary to young people's enjoyment. She belongs in another era and the wonder is that she gets the consideration she does in this day and age. Not that we are championing a complete cast-off rôle for mother by girls of about 20.

There still is a magnificent spot for mother in her girl's life. But it is not earned by mamma by advancing the theory that she must be along to watch her daughter.

This is Jinny's situation. She is a little more than 20, with mamma still treating her like a little girl that has to be taken by the hand to school.

Then, recently, a boy she likes a great deal, who seems to be in the same state of mind about Jinny, invited her to spend the week-end at his aunt's cottage. His aunt was having several of her women friends there for the week-end, too. But Jinny's mamma said: "No, daughter. It wouldn't look right for you to go without me."

Says the daughter: "You can imagine the effect of this decision of my mother's on the young man. He was distressed, thinking, of course, that my mother had no faith in him, adding that it was darned ridiculous under the circumstances, with his aunt, a mature woman, having two of her own cronies present."

We think the mother is a ridiculous sort of woman who won't act and accept her own age. She is the kind who goes around telling her friends, probably, that the young people just adore her and love to have her around.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

"Romeo and Juliet," Garbo's "Conquest," "Lost Horizon," "Prisoner of Zenda," "The Buccaneer," and "Mutiny on the Bounty." The costume order for "Romeo and Juliet" ran to $100,000, because studio designers only costume the feminine stars. Schnitzer's amazing establishment costumes everybody else.

10:30 A. M.—I asked Schnitzer, former RKO president, for some details . . . biggest hat ever made for western costume is the 7¾ size for Preston Foster. . . . Littlest hat is the 6¼ size for Charley McCarthy, Bergen's talking shingle. . . . Victor McLaglen wears the biggest shoes, size 13, and Shirley Temple the tiniest, a child's size 13. . . . Hugest costumes are for an extra, Robert Craig, with a 52 inch chest. . . . Biggest woman they ever fitted was Jolly Lee Harvey, in "High, Wide and Handsome," with a 62 inch bust, 58 inch waist and 75 inch hips.

10 A. M.—For an hour Schnitzer showed me through the research and library department, which checks almost hourly with museums all over the world to insure costume accuracy. They were just wiring a Maine police department to rush a picture of a motorcycle cop so that it could be copied exactly.

In "Old Chicago," you won't even consider that the buttons on the uniforms of the Chicago cops have been reproduced just as they were on the day of the great fire. No detail is overlooked: In the costume jewelry department we found artisans copying pieces of jewelry worn by Marie Antoinette; in the lether department expert workers in lether were fashioning the boots and saddles and bridles and coat belts and sword sheaths which you'll see in "Gone With the Wind," meticulously exact; in the metal department men were copying the bugles used in the civil war, exact duplicates.

Betty von Colditz to Wed R. P. Bassett.

From Dun Huntin on Merritt Island, Fla., comes the announcement of the engagement of Miss Betty von Colditz, daughter of Dr. G. Thomsen von Colditz of Merritt Island, formerly of Chicago, and Mrs. F. C. Shorey of Montreal, to Ralph P. Bassett of Boston and Chicago, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Bassett of Chicago.

Miss von Colditz is a graduate of the Chicago Latin School for Girls and Connecticut College for Women and Mr. Bassett was graduated from Yale university. The wedding will take place in the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. James Edward Finn of 210 East Pearson street announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret, to Harold Callaghan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Callaghan of Wilmette.

Miss Finn attended the Girls' Latin school, and was graduated from Ferry Hall in Lake Forest. Later she attended St. Mary of the Woods college at Terre Haute, Ind.

William C. Cummings of 4900 Woodlawn avenue announces the engagement of his daughter, Caryl Louise, to B. Milo Mitchel, son of J. Burris Mitchel of Los Angeles, Cal.

Make Benefit of Helen Hayes Opening.

Although Christmas week is more than two months away, and already is filled with a number of dinner-dances and balls, the announcement that the board of directors of the Ridge Farm preventorium is making today of its winter benefit will simplify plans for further entertaining that week.

The directors have taken over the opening night of Helen Hayes in "Victoria Regina" on Dec. 28. Mrs. Francis R. Dickinson is president of the board of the preventorium, which is celebrating its silver anniversary this year. She and the board members will attend a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Henry B. Babson, 1242 Lake Shore drive, on Nov. 1 to discuss plans for the event.

Miss Hayes, who is Mrs. Charles MacArthur in private life, has many friends in Chicago so her visit here will provide a round of gayety in social circles. Her brother-in-law and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Telfer MacArthur, are giving a tea-dance, Dec. 21, for their debutante daughter, Miss Dorothy MacArthur, and it is possible that Miss Hayes will come west a week early to attend the party. She was here several years ago for the debut tea of the former Miss Jean MacArthur, now Mrs. Gustavus Babson Jr.

Woman's Exchange Plans Yuletide Sales.

For the first time in years the Woman's Exchange will hold its Christmas sale on the near north side instead of at the Blackstone hotel. The sale, to be held on Nov. 16, will not be in the exchange's own shop, however, but across the street at the Drake hotel. Mrs. William M. Spencer, president, will head the volunteer saleswomen.

Mrs. Philip Schuyler Church, whose mother, the late Mrs. Harold E. Talbott, was a good friend to the exchange for a quarter of a century, will open her home in Dayton, O., on Oct. 29 for a Chicago Woman's Exchange sale. In Cleveland, at the Wade Park manor, the exchange wares will be displayed on Nov. 2 and 3.

Mrs. Jules Bloch and Mrs. George L. Cragg will pour at a meeting at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon of Le Cercle Français. Mrs. Harold G. Sperling and M. Regis Michaud will give the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Swift, Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Mr. and Mrs. Gerhardt Meyne, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Redheffer are among those who will attend the opening concert of the Musical Arts series at Orchestra hall tonight. Walter Gieseking, pianist, will present the program.

Arts Club Issues Cards for Lecture.

The Arts club has issued cards to a lecture by Vera Brittain at 11:30 o'clock Thursday morning. Her subject will be "War and Its Influence on Literature."

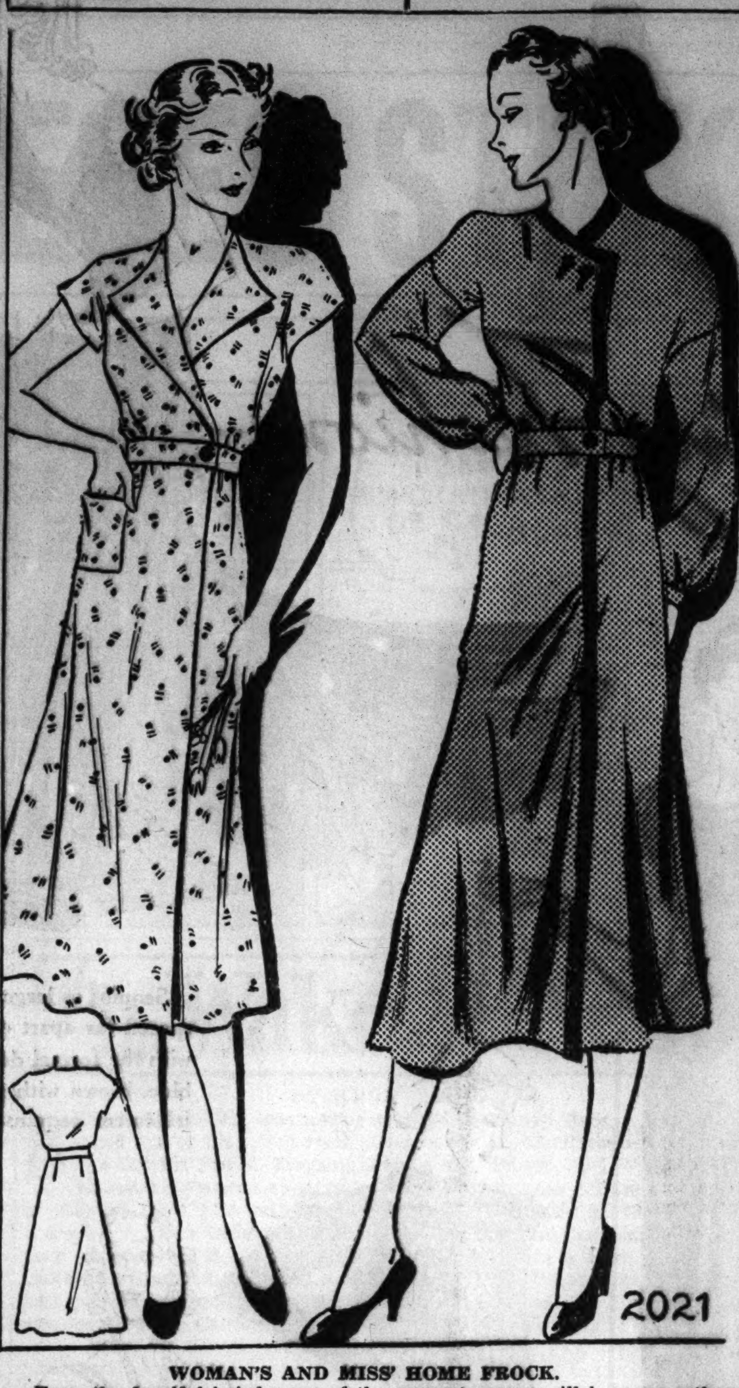
Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed have gone to White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., for a stay of a week or ten days.

Miss Bonnie-Jean Clark will go to New York to be the maid of honor at the wedding on Nov. 12 of Miss Cornelia Scott to Andrew Heiskell, son of Morgan Heiskell of Paris, France, and Mrs. A. H. Heiskell of New York. Miss Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bartlett Scott of Tarrytown, N. Y., and Miss Clark were roommates at Miss Master's school. Mr. Heiskell is a graduate of the Sorbonne in Paris, and of Harvard university.

Mrs. Oliver Dennett Grover has returned after a two months' vacation. She spent some time at Eagle's Nest camp in Oregon with her sister, Mrs. Edwin C. Bolton, and then went to Detroit with her for a visit before coming home.

Walgreen DRUG STORES

House Frock Opens in Front



WOMAN'S AND MISS' HOME FROCK.

Even the fanciful hairdresses of the current season will bear up rather well if they are cared for sensibly. We don't need to remind you that one of the things most ruinous to a carefully nurtured coiffure is the constant putting on and pulling off of dresses over the head. You can eliminate a great deal of this process by wearing a frock that opens all the way down the front. Since housewives must spend most of the day in the home, from breakfast until supper is on the table, it is well to have a supply of wash house frocks which you can change whenever necessary without mussing the hair.

A particularly pretty version of this practical mode is offered today. It hasn't that "wrap-around" appearance which some women find so offensive in frocks for household duties. [Most of us like a little dash to our practical washables, even if we must remain at home.] It may have a high neckline or a V, with a wide lapel collar. The raglan shoulderline may end with cap sleeves or long sleeves may be added. A neat belt nips the waistline in snugly. A pocket does duty on the skirt, but you may dispense with it if you wish.

All plain and figured cottons and linens make up well. If you use a figured material, you will not need any contrasting fabric. If you use plain material, bias binding may be employed for trimming.

Style No. 2021 is designed for sizes 16, 18, and 20 years, and 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material.

Knowledge of Child's Home Aids Teacher

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

The teacher who has had a chance to know children outside of school and in an intimate home environment is very fortunate. But I think this is especially important for teachers of young children.

The transition from home to school is a sharp one. Even in a progressive school there are changes which require a lot of adjustment from a small boy or girl. But the actual classroom setup in many public schools and the ground mapped out to be covered are not always as fitted to the child as they might be, so the teacher who has a vivid picture of what a day at home is like in the life of a small child has a great advantage.

The days have been carefree and time no object.

That Richard could talk and shout when he pleased.

That Arlene could run and jump and move about as she felt the impulse, to gratify that constant need for activity that possesses children.

That both Richard and Arlene could go to the bathroom whenever they needed, and also get a drink of water whenever they were thirsty.

That they are both used to warm informal ways from their grownups.

That they frequently develop either shyness or "showing off" tendencies at about the time when they first come to school.

That they are very imitative of both agreeable and troublesome behavior in others.

That at home they are [I trust] used to praise and encouragement and being helped over hard spots.

And that their mother has for years [I hope] expected them to be slow in many ways and awkward in others, and so they've gotten used to her patience.

This is the fifth in the series of articles for young teachers.

AID TO RELIEF OF PSORIASIS SYMPTOMS

The itching and irritation of psoriasis is readily relieved by Resinol Ointment, an old formula containing ingredients well known to physicians for their effectiveness.

To get best results, wash off the scales with a pure, mild soap. Resinol Soap is gently medicated and free from excess alkali. Use it with warm water, then rinse and pat dry.

Spread Resinol Ointment evenly over the surface, letting it remain for several hours during the day and over night. Note how quickly its oily base enables the Resinol medication to soothe the angry skin.

Even when the rash begins to fade, do not stop using Resinol too soon. The eruptions of psoriasis have a tendency to recur. Therefore, continue Resinol applications as long as there is any trace of irritation.

Upper Channels Are Opened to Broadcasters

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The communications commission blazed a trail into the upper frequencies yesterday which will open up a big new field of radio transmission. In a widespread reallocation of frequencies the commission marked off channels to be used by television, transoceanic, police, and aviation transmission, and provided for a possible new field for regular aural or commercial broadcasting, although for the present the broadcasting stations are not to be affected.

Allotment of 75 channels from 41,020 to 43,980 kilocycles, it was said, may open the way for applications for commercial service on these bands. Heretofore frequencies above 30,000 kilocycles have been reserved for experimentation.

The net effect of the order is that experimental work henceforth will be limited to definite ranges. Television, for instance, will be restricted to the channels from 44,000 to 108,000 cycles. Incidentally the commission noted that there does not appear to be an immediate outlook for the recognition of television service on a commercial basis.

The new assignments directly affect the safety and life transmissions which include police and aviation radio. For police, frequencies between 30,000 and 40,000 kilocycles were allotted for 29 stations. Of these 25 will be available for municipal and county governments and four to state police agencies. These police frequencies are to be assigned on a shared use basis.

For airport trafic control the commission made provision for six frequencies from 129,000 to 130,000 kilocycles. Also alloted were 11 frequencies for radio telephone service for aircraft in flight between 132,000 and 144,000 kilocycles.

Other allocations including frequencies for coastal and ship harbor service, forestry, mobile press, geophysical motion picture, special emergency, and marine fire and special service.

While the Magic Key program has not yet turned to the Russian North pole camp [about which the Moscow broadcasters are forever boasting on their short wave transmissions] it did get within 600 miles of there Sunday by bringing in the MacGregor Arctic expedition, quartered for the winter at Reindeer Point, Denmark.

The broadcast, in addition to giving a graphic picture of what goes on in a camp within view of the ice cap, seemed to reflect the high morale of the personnel. Every one who spoke appeared to be happier than a boy scout attending a jamboree.

Reception was the best ever experienced on our receiver from a distant point.

Short wave listeners can follow the affairs of this expedition several times a week from 7 to 9 p. m. on a frequency of 14,368 megacycles. The call is OX2QY [Danish].

Appeal for Bathrobe.

"Dear Miss Brown: Many people have been helped through your column, so I will make my appeal to you. I am in the 60's, unemployed, and therefore unable to buy things I need urgently. An eye operation will keep me hospitalized for two weeks or more and I am expected to bring a bathrobe with me. I have none and no means of obtaining one. I also need underwear size 42 and socks size 12. M. E."

Mr. E. is 6 feet tall and lives on the near northwest side. Perhaps some reader can supply him with these needs.

CUBS MAKE BID FOR LAZZERI; HE'S INTERESTED

Browns, Indians Also Want Ex-Yankee.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs want Tony Lazzeri, the gentleman who grew so old in active service with the title holding Yankees that he was given his unconditional release after playing the part of a leading hatchet wielder in the 1937 world series massacre of the National league Giants.

Tony Lazzeri.

The Cubs want Lazzeri, but not as a manager—they have one in Charley Grimm. But, P. K. Wrigley, owner-president of the Cubs, who only a few days ago admitted that his world series observations had left him with an impression of Yankee aggressiveness, may have an idea that the ex-American league star may be the man destined to lead the Cubs in 1939.

Wrigley admitted last night that Lazzeri had been asked to come here for a conference, but refused to reveal the purpose of the meeting.

Rowland Talks to Tony.

Lazzeri's first knowledge that the Cubs were interested in him came last week when he passed through Chicago on the way to his home in San Francisco. Clarence Rowland, the Chicago club's special emissary, talked to the Italian athlete and asked him whether he had received his release from the New York club. Tony's reply was in the negative.

After Lazzeri had started west from here word came from New York that his employers had turned him loose in accordance with his wishes. The Cub office dispatched a telegram to him en route, requesting that he phone Chicago before accepting other offers. He called back yesterday, promising to return to listen to the local proposition, but he didn't say that he'd hurry to get here. Lazzeri, according to Wrigley, fully unterstands that he is not slated for the management—immediately.

He Will Cost Plenty.

If the Cubs really covet Lazzeri they will have to bid high and without loss of time. Lazzeri has admitted that he has been approached with a managerial proposition. It is figured that the job of bossing the Cleveland Indians is his if he'll accept. The St. Louis Browns also are reported to be on his trail, which accounts for the club's delay in signing Gabby Street. Another factor operating against the Cubs is the habit of the American league of finding a place in its own ranks for desirable veterans.

If the Cubs should sign Lazzeri for 1938 it might be as a coach or a scout, but until profitable trades are made the team still will lack power in the pinches, at least so far as winning a pennant is concerned.

TONY DENIES OFFER.

Millbrae, Cal., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Tony Lazzeri said, "It's all news to me," tonight, when informed P. K. Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs, had declared that Lazzeri had accepted an invitation to confer with him.

"I have no intention right now of going east," Lazzeri said. "I don't know a thing about what Wrigley says. Besides, why should I leave here? I like to play golf around here. Don't you think I deserve it?"

ENGLISH FIGHT PROMOTER CAN'T FOOL UNCLE MIKE

New York, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Brig. Gen. A. C. Critchley, London fight promoter, arrived today with the proposal that Mike Jacobs stage a fight in London between Max Baer and Tommy Farr, but the idea fell on deaf ears largely because the Englishman asked $25,000 rent for one of his stadia. "I would gladly let Mr. Critchley promote a fight in one of our ball parks if he'll guarantee me $25,000," said Jacobs.

Expect 50,000 at St. Mel, Leo Charity Game

A crowd of 50,000 is expected to watch the annual Sisters of Mercy charity football game at Soldiers' field Sunday afternoon between St. Mel and Leo of the Catholic High School league.

Leo is leading the south section with three victories and no defeats. The south side eleven has scored 71 points while holding opponents to 19.

St. Mel has one victory, two defeats, and one tie in the north division.

The central section leadership in the City league will be at stake Saturday afternoon, when Tilden and Lindblom meet at Normal Park. Tilden is undefeated in four starts, and Lindblom has won three games.

In the south section the feature game will bring together Parker and Morgan Park at Normal Park Saturday morning. Parker is tied with Fenger, each team having won three games. Morgan Park is in third place with two triumphs, a loss and a tie.

Austin's high scoring eleven will attempt to keep its record clear in a night game with Marshall at Mills stadium Friday. In three west section games, Austin has scored 166 points while blanking its opponents.

A triple-header is scheduled at Loyola stadium Saturday with six north section teams in action. Starting at 10 o'clock, Senn, section leader with four victories, meets Sullivan. At 1 o'clock Waller plays Amundsen, and in the closing game, which starts at 3 o'clock, Lake View battles Roosevelt.

The Suburban league games for Saturday will send Oak Park against New Trier on the latter's field, and Proviso to Evanston.

N. U.? A LUCKY TEAM, DECLARES OHIO'S SCHMIDT

Buckeyes Prepare for Purple Invasion.

Columbus, O., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Northwestern may be the defending champion of the Big Ten and a strong contender for this year's title, but to Francis A. Schmidt, Ohio State coach who saw the Northwestern-Purdue game, the Wildcats are just a lucky team.

"Northwestern has a good team playing with all its usual luck," Schmidt said. "That play which gave the Wildcats victory over Purdue was one of the freakiest and luckiest I've ever seen on a football field. The ball was fumbled at least eight times and kicked a couple more before Nick Cutlich, a sophomore tackle, fell on it for the winning touchdown."

Not Impressed by Heap.

Schmidt did not think Purdue had shown any improvement over the play it displayed here two weeks ago in losing to the Buckeyes, 13 to 0.

The Ohio State coach was only mildly impressed with the play of Don Heap, Northwestern's star half back and captain.

"Heap looked fair," Schmidt said, "but the best running back the Wildcats have is Bernie Jefferson. They showed a splendid passer in Jack Ryan, a sophomore."

After taking things easy last week, the Buckeyes were to settle down to strenuous drills tomorrow. A light drill was held in a drizzling rain and later Schmidt moved activities under the stadium.

NEED LUCK—WALDORF

"If out supply of horseshoes holds out we may have a chance against Ohio State."

Thus did Coach Lynn Waldorf sum up his view of Saturday's game at Columbus when Northwestern will make its third defense of its Big Ten championship.

Waldorf's mention of Lady Luck referred to the manner in which the Wildcats scored their winning touchdown against Purdue, when Fred Vanzo fumbled on the 12 yard line and the ball rolled over the goal line, where Nick Cutlich fell on it for a touchdown.

Waldorf also pointed to comparative statistics of the Ohio State-Purdue and Northwestern-Purdue games where Purdue had been held to 22 yards from scrimmage by Ohio State, and gained 146 yards against Northwestern. Ohio also completed 8 out of 14 passes for 101 yards, while Northwestern completed only four out of nine for 57 yards.

Offense Worries Waldorf.

However, since games are not won or lost on scratch paper, Waldorf's computations should be accepted with reservations.

Waldorf still feels Northwestern's offense leaves much to be desired. In two conference games the team has yet to drive down the field for a score. Against Michigan it was a pass from the 30 yard line that scored the winning touchdown. A 35 yard run and a pass interception provided the two touchdowns against Purdue.

While the running game may not be up to standard, the Wildcats can pride themselves on the strength of their passing attack. In three games Northwestern has completed 15 out of 36 passes, which already surpasses last year's mark of 13 completions out of 47 in eight games.

Work will continue this week on developing reserves. Against Purdue eight members of the starting eleven played all but a few minutes. Bob Voigts, left tackle, played 60 minutes.

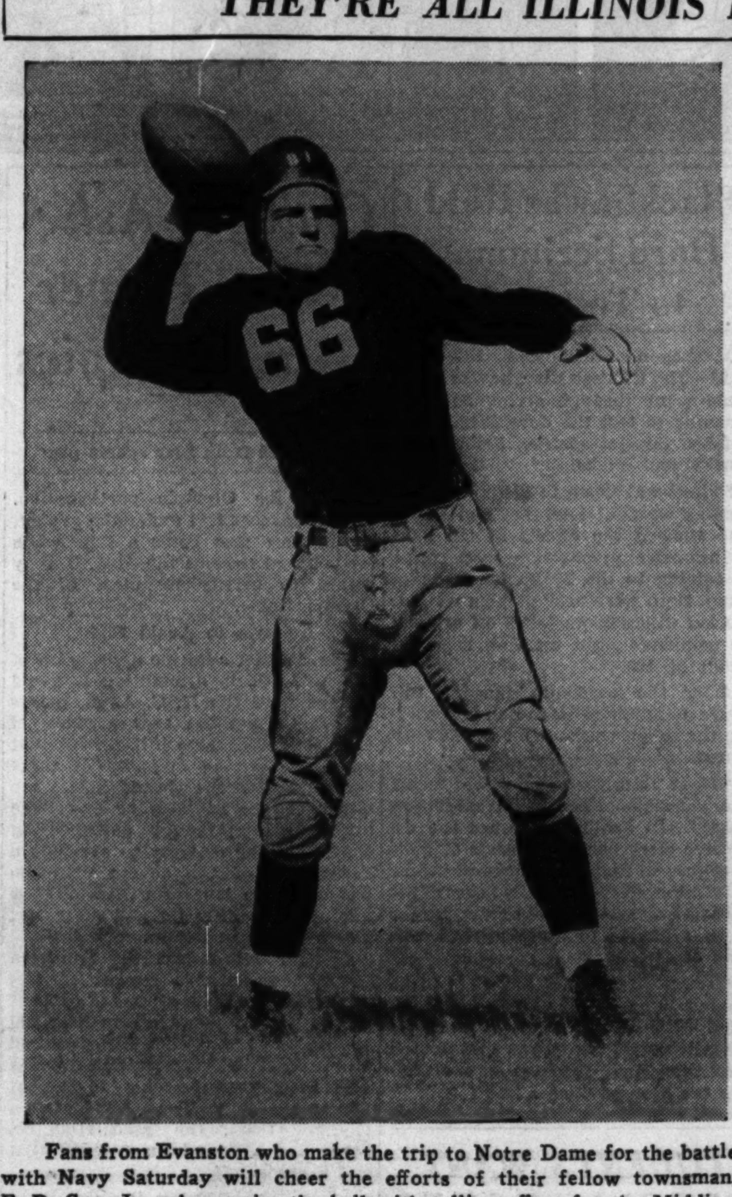
Rolfe Expected to Leave Hospital for Home Sunday

New York, Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Robert [Red] Rolfe, Yankee third baseman who has been confined to St. Elizabeth's hospital since the world series ended, should be in condition to leave the hospital for his home in Penacook, N. H., Sunday, his physician said today. Rolfe underwent an operation for a growth on the muscles of the right thigh last week.

THEY'RE ALL ILLINOIS MIDDIES



Fans from Evanston who make the trip to Notre Dame for the battle with Navy Saturday will cheer the efforts of their fellow townsman, F. D. Case Jr., who carries the ball with telling effect for the Middies.

C. M. Emrich, another end, is Casey's contribution to the Illinois motif in the Navy's lineup.

Layden Calls Off Recess to Drill in Rain

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Notre Dame will be the underdog here Saturday against Navy for the first time this season, and one of the few times in the eleven year history of the series.

With this in mind, Coach Elmer Layden passed up the usual Monday afternoon recess and drilled his squad in the rain.

Ruetz May Not Play.

Joe Ruetz, senior left guard with the regulars, probably will be unable to play against the Middies, Trainer Eugene Young announced today. Ruetz was removed from Saturday's game with a cut on his right cheek which required three stitches.

Layden said he would drill his squad on offense this week in an effort to supply the scoring punch which was lacking against Carnegie. The Irish booted four chances inside the 20 yard line Saturday. He will also scrimmage his squad on defense against Navy's tricky offense tomorrow. Navy is undefeated, but was held to a scoreless tie by Harvard last Saturday.

NAVY WATCHES MOVIES.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—The Navy varsity was excused from field work today, but Head Coach Hardwick showed his charges movies of Saturday's game with Harvard. The Navy will meet Notre Dame Saturday at South Bend.

Explain Rules That Puzzle Football Fans

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Sooner or later that old hobgoblin of football, "Is it a safety, a touchdown, or a touchback?" bobs up to confuse spectators and reduce the glib phrases of radio commentators to indecisive stop-gap remarks.

The majority of football fans sincerely believe they understand the differences, perhaps they do, if the terms are carefully considered as one reads the definitions and examines hypothetical cases. But when a decision is required immediately, as on Saturday in the Purdue-Northwestern game at Dyche stadium and the following day at Wrigley field in the Cardinal-Bears game, the hushed suspense which envelopes the stands indicates perplexity.

Officials Indicate Ruling.

For many this bewilderment may have been founded on inability to see what happened in the mass of players at the goal line. But this supposition is shattered when subsequent action of the officials clearly indicated the ruling and the spectators failed to understand the significance.

In Sunday's game, Buddy Parker, the Cardinals' full back, fumbled on the Bears' 1 yard line. The ball shot in the end zone where it was recovered by Bernie Masterson of the Bears. The decision was a touchback and the Bears received the ball on their own 20 yard line where it was put in play by scrimmage.

Two Questions Involved.

This play could not have been a safety under college rules which prohibit the defense from running with a fumbled ball that has struck the ground. Under professional rules, since the defense is permitted to run with this type of fumble, Masterson first must have run beyond the goal line or touched the goal line and then retreated into the end zone and have been tackled there by the Cardinals to have scored a safety and two points for the Cardinals.

There were two questions to answer on this play. Did Parker bring the ball to the goal line before he

DEMAND MORE VOTING POWER ON COMMITTEES

Authority Over Four Teams Sought.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

American colleges sued for a showdown in their twenty-five year fight with the A. A. U. yesterday when the National Athletic association petitioned for adoption of an amendment giving colleges control of American Olympic teams in four sports.

The amendment, drafted by the executive committee of the N. C. A. A. and filed with Frederick Rubien, secretary of the American Olympic association, by Maj. John Griffith, president of the N. C. A. A., provides for a reapportionment of representation on Olympic committees governing track, crew racing, swimming and wrestling. It comes up for action at the quadrennial meeting of the Olympic association in Washington on Nov. 17.

Seek New Representation.

Specifically the amendment provides for three of five members of the crew committee and five of nine members on the track, wrestling, and swimming committees to be college representatives. Two-thirds of approximately 500 votes will be necessary for its adoption. At present the A. A. U. controls these sports with nine of thirteen members on each committee.

Coincidental with announcement of the N. C. A. A.'s action, which has been strategically launched at a time when the National A. A. U. is split by a political fight within its own ranks, it became known that the Southern Pacific association of the A. A. U. has drafted a petition asking the national body to surrender control of Olympic teams in these sports.

The California group suggests that the A. A. U. follow the lead of the United States Lawn Tennis association, which recently asked the colleges to take over control and management of the intercollegiate tennis tournaments. Many of its arguments are those which the N. C. A. A. has presented futilely in the past and will use again in seeking adoption of its amendment.

Colleges Produce Winners.

Chief among these is the fact that 99 per cent of the athletes who accounted for nearly all points won and championships earned in the Olympic games have been from the colleges. The colleges also financed these teams.

In discussing the amendment, Maj. Griffith said: "We do not seek control of the Olympic association. We desire only to protect ourselves against the wrong sort of men being placed in charge of the teams which we develop and finance for Olympic competition. We are unconcerned over whether these men are A. A. U. representatives or college men; we are concerned only whether they are the proper type of men to represent American colleges and to be in charge of American college athletes."

Seek Return to Old Basis.

Returning jurisdiction of these sports to the colleges would place Olympic competition back on the same basis it enjoyed when the games were revived at Athens in 1896 and colleges individually saw to it that their men were represented in the games. Following these games, the A. A. U., which had set itself up as the governing body in the United States, became affiliated with the International Athletic federation, and thereafter all sports, as far as Olympic competition is concerned, have been administered by it.

In the early days the A. A. U. served a very useful purpose and did much to preserve the amateur spirit in the United States. The colleges coöperated during this period, but animosities began to bob up and an open fight developed when the A. A. U. barred A. A. Stagg, then athletic director at the University of Chicago, from its national convention because he was a professional. Stagg had made the heinous mistake of accepting pay for coaching football at Chicago. The fight was intensified when the A. A. U. attempted to assess each college man $1 as a membership fee and later barred several Northwestern swimmers because they had competed in an amateur meet it had not sanctioned.

See Change in Situation.

The colleges contend that 30 years ago, when the schools and colleges were starting their athletic programs and the athletic clubs were the most important factor in amateur athletics, there was reason for A. A. U. control of the Olympic committees. Today, however, with athletic clubs gradually giving up the support of athletic teams for lack of finances and with approximately thirty million boys and girls enrolled in various educational institutions which are adequately equipped to promote athletics, the situation is changed.

The A. A. U. no longer is a major factor in promoting and developing swimming, wrestling, crew racing, and track. Its power is limited to the authority, by right of its recognition by the International federation, to certify the eligibility of college

ANGOTT WINS HANDILY IN HIS BOUT WITH PENA

Scrivani Is Held to Draw by Helstrom.

Sammy Angott, Louisville junior lightweight, who recently suffered his first defeat in 19 performances, came back last night to whip Johnny Pena of New York in a ten round bout at Marigold Gardens.

The match was fairly close until the eighth round when Angott pounded Pena heavily. Pena was in distress in the next round from a series of swings to the jaw.

Scrivani Held to Draw.

Andy Scrivani, Catholic Youth organization 134 pounder, and Johnny Helstrom, Rogers Park youngster, fought to a five round draw in the semi-final.

Scrivani gave Helstrom a boxing lesson in each of the first three rounds, climaxing the second by scoring an 8 count knockdown. Helstrom rallied in the last two rounds, causing Referee Harry Mueller and Judge Harry Hall to vote for a draw. Carl Witt, the other judge, scored for Scrivani.

Campagna Scores K. O.

Emil Campagna, west side light heavyweight, knocked out Jack Sylvester of Milwaukee and Tony Zale, Gary 158 pounder, stopped Bob Gerry. Both bouts ended in the second round. Joe Chizar, South Bend featherweight, pounded out a four round decision over Pat O'Brien, Milwaukee.

Everett Marshall's heavyweight wrestling championship will be at stake in a one hour bout against Bobby Bruns of Chicago at Rainbo Fronton tomorrow, Chairman Joe Triner of the Illinois athletic commission announced yesterday. . . . The commission will conduct its weekly meeting tomorrow at 2 p. m. After tomorrow's session the meetings will be held every Tuesday for the balance of the year. . . . Barney Ross, champion of the welterweights, yesterday was invited to attend the ten round fight between George Salvadore, 147 pound division challenger of Houston, Tex., and Chuck Woods at the Park casino tomorrow. Matchmaker Kid Howard Carr made the announcement shortly after Salvadore and his inconsistent foe from Detroit ended boxing workouts at Trafton's gymnasium. Salvadore, one of whose two partners was 220 pound Bernie Bowman, will rest today, but Woods will taper off by doing floor exercises. After yesterday's drill Chuck was at 150 pounds, two more than the stipulated weight, while his Texas rival scaled 143, a poundage which finds him at his best.

Buddy Knox, Dayton heavyweight, opened training yesterday for his ten round headliner with Art Oliver at White City on Friday. Close by Jack Blackburn, trainer of Joe Louis, supervised the two round sparring session of Elza Thompson, 1937 Indianapolis sectional Golden Gloves heavyweight victor, against Seal Harris. Thompson, who whipped Salvadore Ruggirello and stopped Alex Kettles in two previous professional appearances, is matched to go four rounds with Blondy Ryan of San Diego on the White City card. . . . Seventeen boxers of the Catholic Youth organization left yesterday for Detroit, where they meet Detroit C. Y. O. representatives tomorrow. The team was accompanied by Thomas O'Connell, head of the boxing department; Jack Elder, athletic director; Head Coach Paddy Kane, Lou Radzienda, an assistant trainer; Mike Murphy, and the Rev. Walter Chelminski.

Davey Day, Illinois' leading lightweight, and Co-Manager Art Winch will leave today for Day's ten round featured contest with Enrico Venturi at the New York Hippodrome Friday. . . . Leo Rodak, south side featherweight contender, sparred with Day yesterday in anticipation of getting a match soon. Chicago, Detroit, and Philadelphia promoters report that Henry Armstrong has been offered matches with Rodak but Eddie Mead, manager of Armstrong, is said to have refused to have anything to do with the Chicagoan. If Harry Jeffra, bantamweight titleholder, appears at Chicago Stadium Nov. 19 Rodak likely will be his foe. . . . Jimmy Christy resumed workouts at C. Y. O. Center yesterday in preparation for his ten round bout with Billy Marquart at Marigold Gardens next Monday. The C. Y. O. fighter is to box with Sammy Scoglio and Johnny Brown at the Center this afternoon. F. M.

George V. Brown, Boston Garden President, Is Dead

Boston, Mass., Oct. 18.—[Special]—George V. Brown, president and general manager of the Boston Garden, died late last night at his home in Hopkinton. He was 57 years of age. Brown had attended all the Olympic games since the turn of the century and had been a member of the American Olympic committee a number of years.

Smith, Cooper Take $5,000 Golf Tourney

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Horton Smith and Harry Cooper, Chicago, won the first annual Oklahoma City $5,000 four-ball golf tournament today by defeating Ralph Guldahl, national open champion from Chicago, and Billy Burke, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., 3 up. They posted a final score of plus 12.

Only a point ahead of the field at the start of the final round, Smith and Cooper fired a low ball 66, five under par, to defeat the Guldahl-Burke combination and win the $1,200 first prize money.

Revolta, Mangrum are Second.

Johnny Revolta, Chicago, and Ray Mangrum, Dayton, O., who had been right on the heels of the favorites since the second day, added only one point to their score by beating Tommy Armour, Chicago, and Jimmy Thomson, Shawnee on the Delaware, 1 up, and finished second with plus nine. Second place paid $900.

Ed Dudley, Philadelphia, and Jimmy Hines, New York, defeated Ky Laffoon and Dick Metz, Chicago, 3 up, in a match that decided third place.

Little Lands Fourth.

Zell Eaton and Frances Schneider, Oklahoma City, scored their second victory of the meet in defeating Lawson Little, former British and American amateur champion, and Paul Runyan of New York, 3 up.

That gave Little and Runyan a final score of plus 2, for fourth place money. Eaton and Scheider finished seventh with minus 8.

Columbia Yacht Club to Show Movies of Races

Members of the Columbia Yacht club will meet tomorrow night in the club ship, Grant park harbor, at 8 o'clock. Moving pictures of the start of the Mackinac race, last July, and the storm that followed, will be shown by Mel Olsen. Movies of the Michigan City and Lady Skippers' races, both sponsored by the club, will also be run. This is the first regular meeting since last spring. Vice Commodore W. G. D. Orr will tell plans for completing the club ship superstructure this winter.

Blackhawks Hold Hard Scrimmage to Test Defense

Muskegon, Mich., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—The Chicago Blackhawks hocky team went through scrimmage this morning to test the durability of the defense quartet—Burke, Seibert, Levinsky, and Wiebe.

Seibert was down to 194 pounds, his playing weight. Levinsky and Wiebe also showed the effects of ten days of intensive gymnasium work prior to coming to the Muskegon training camp. Both were near playing weight. Burke, who seldom takes off or puts on poundage while training, reported weighing 165.

After the workout Manager Bill Stewart explained his reason for ordering the tough workout for his defense squad.

"Next Saturday night we tackle the Muskegon Reds in an exhibition game." In exhibition games the defensive work usually consists of poke checking so that the chance of injury is minimized. In many cases the speedy youngsters on minor league clubs are able to score against this kind of defense.

"It's poor policy at any time to be beaten by a minor league organization. Our defense men are going to play in exhibition games exactly the way they do in the regular season—it's the best practice I know of."

A petition signed by 600 students asked the athletic board for a date rate of 40 cents. The Rev. B. J. Quinn, S. J., moderator of athletics, registered strong disapproval.

Chitwood and Alberti to Race Sunday at Hammond

For the first time since the Hammond auto speedway opened, Petri Alberti, Parisian pilot, will not be the favorite when the next series of races is held Sunday afternoon. Instead, favoritism will go to Joie Chitwood, an Indian driver. Chitwood, driving a twin car to Alberti's, set a new track record in a time trial just before the races were called off last Sunday. A downpour caused the postponement.

Colleges Ask More Power in Olympics

athletes for Olympic participation. College leaders feel under the present setup there may come a time when for political reasons the A. A. U. may refuse to certify members of the Olympic team.

Attempt to Avoid Fight.

The Southern Pacific association of the A. A. U., in attempting to avoid a fight with the N. C. A. A., points out in its petition that a study of Olympic games from 1912 reveals that an overwhelming majority of those competing for the United States are either college athletes or ex-college athletes. It proposes surrendering control to the colleges to preclude a recurrence of the severe criticism leveled at the American Olympic committee before, during and after last year's games in Berlin.

Another reason for the Southern Pacific association's suggestion lies in the fact that study of recent games reveals many errors, political strifes, and animosities that resulted from what the association admits was inefficient management of Olympic teams. The American Olympic team, the association believes, has always been overofficiated and overcoached.

College Officials Praised.

The colleges concur in this, especially with regard to political strife, which arises when men who are not sportsmen at heart attempt to control the A. A. U. for the prestige it gives them, then use the organization to further religious and racial prejudices.

"It goes without saying," the California report concludes, "that the very efficient university student body groups and athletic associations and conferences that now exist throughout America have the experience, ability, and the necessary equipment to promote and stage pre-Olympic and final try-outs."

This petition sums up the N. C. A. A.'s stand so minutely that it will be the collegian's chief argument on the floor of the convention at Washington.

San Mateo, Cal., Oct. 18.—(AP)—A $25,000 handicap race will feature the spring meet of Bay Meadows race track, Manager William P. Kyne said today.

Yost Appointed Coach of Frosh Five at De Paul

Nick Yost, regular center on De Paul university's basketball team for the last three years, was appointed freshman coach yesterday by the Rev. Howard J. Ahern, C. M., faculty supervisor of athletics.

Yost played on the De Paul academy five for three seasons, winning the most valuable player award in the Loyola National Catholic tournament in 1933. He then went on to the university, where he compiled an outstanding record.

Practice for both the varsity and freshmen will open next week. The first few weeks' drills will be nothing more than a conditioning process as a number of varsity and frosh candidates are engaged with football at present.

PACKERS LEAD LEAGUE IN TOTAL YARDS GAINED

New York, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The Green Bay Packers and the New York Giants appear to be well on their way to new offensive and defensive records in the National Football league.

Statistics released today reveal the Packers, in addition to leading in scoring with 104 points, have gained 1,459 yards in five games, an average of 291 yards per game. This exceeds the former high mark of 288 yards per game, set by the Chicago Bears two seasons ago.

On the defensive side, opponents have been able to gain only 504 yards against the Giants in four games, or an average of 126 yards per game. The Giants and Bears each have allowed opponents only 11 points.

HUNTING TRIALS KEEP OWNERS OF DOGS ON EDGE

Cocker Spaniels Have Their Innings Sunday.

BY BOB BECKER.

Hunting dogs owned by Chicagoland sportsmen are in the midst of their busy season now, with field trial days already here and the hunting season about to start. Several field trials for cocker spaniels, springer spaniels, and pointers and setters are set for the next three weeks.

The Cocker Spaniel Club of the Middle West will hold its annual fall trial next Sunday at the Mission Hills Country club, Northbrook. The club is about four miles southwest of Northbrook at the intersection of Sanders and Techny roads. There will be three events for cockers—puppy stake, novice stake, and open all-age. There also will be an open all-age stake for springer spaniels.

Judges Are Chosen.

The trial will be held on 200 acres of land which has excellent cover. The judges will be John Blow, Deerfield, and Ernest Wunderlick, Joliet.

Those seeking further information on the trial should get in touch with J. Paul Bishop, chairman of the field trial committee, 20 North Prospect avenue, Clarendon Hills.

Pointer and setter enthusiasts will assemble near Lombard this weekend for the annual meet of the Chicagoland Field Trial club. The trials will be held Saturday and Sunday over grounds located northwest of Lombard. The starting point will be on route 53, a half mile south of route 64.

All-Age Stake Is First.

The open all-age stake will start at 8 a. m. Saturday, to be followed by the open Derby. The shooting dog stake will be run over the same grounds. This event has drawn entries from Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Ohio, and Missouri. Mrs. Gordon Saint Clair, 751 Riford road, Glen Ellyn, is in charge of reservations.

Other trials to be held in the Chicago area soon are the sixth annual trial of the English Springer Spaniel Club of the Central States, to be held at the Mission Hills Country club Oct. 30 and 31, and the all-amateur shooting dog stakes to be sponsored by the Lincoln Pointer and Setter club Nov. 5, 6, and 7.

This trial will be held near Lincoln, Ill. The thirty-third renewal of the American Field Quail Futurity will open Nov. 8 at Mount Vernon.

Princeton Boys Come to Chicago Game in Trunks

New York, Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Four Princeton sophomores revealed today how they had filched a ride to Chicago and back over the week-end. Aspirants for the managership of the football team, they lost in the draw when the twelve candidates drew lots to determine who would go to the Chicago game at the expense of the Athletic association.

The four, Roger Kavanaugh Jr. of Port Washington, N. Y., Williams Leslie Jr. of Scarsdale, N. Y., John G. Owen Jr. of Eau Claire, Wis., and Henry Wiley Jr. of Haverford, Pa., evolved a complicated plan.

Leslie and Kavanaugh had themselves placed in trunks. They wore football helmets and pads to prevent injury. On arrival Kavanaugh was forced to put up for the night stretched out on a coffin.

Wiley and Owens utilized the ladies' dressing room. On the return trip all four refused to suffer the same indignities. Slipping into the cars early they stretched themselves luxuriously beneath the berths.

OPENS MEMBERS' THERAPY ROOM FOR GOLFERS

The Chicago District Golf association announced that a modern physical therapy room will be opened tomorrow in the organization's headquarters on the 18th floor of the La Salle hotel.

The new department will offer to members such services as showers, medicated steam cabinet baths, infrared and ultra violet lamps, and massage. S. C. Guffey will be in charge.

SET SKATE DATES.

Saranac Lake, N. Y., Oct. 18.—(AP)—The North American speed skating championships, recently awarded to Saranac Lake by the Amateur Skating union, will be held Feb. 11, 12 and 13, Charles H. Goldsmith, winter sports director, announced today.

HALT THAT COLD!

Put the Brakes on It Fast With This Four-Way Treatment!

No cold can be given an inch! The more rope you give a cold, the more you do to hang yourself!

No cold is a "light" cold. No cold can be ignored or neglected. The cold that is pooh-poohed today is the cold that takes a serious turn tomorrow.

The Treatment That Answers!

First, they open the bowels.

Third, they relieve the headache and fever.

Grove's Bromo Quinine tablets are nothing new or untried. They have been in use over 40 years and are the largest-selling cold tablet in the world.

That, in itself, is enough to assure you of their efficacy and dependability.

Play Safe!

The moment you feel a cold coming on, do the wise thing. Go right to your druggist for a box of Bromo Quinine tablets. Start taking the tablets immediately and you'll usually break up the cold in 24 hours. That's the speed of action you want.

Ask your druggist for Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine (LBQ tablets) and insist upon getting what you ask for. It's your money you're spending!

Players Take Look at Iowa Formations.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Badly bruised, physically and mentally, Michigan's football team took it easy today as rain prevented outside workouts and confined practice to Yost fieldhouse. Without pads, the squad ran through its offensive formations against a reserve squad and took a first look at the plays of Iowa, the Wolverine's opponent at Iowa City Saturday.

The rain also postponed the usual Monday scrimmage for reserves who did not see action the previous Saturday. The scrimmage will be held tomorrow if weather permits.

Michigan's coaches today could take nothing from the 39 to 6 victory scored by Minnesota Saturday, but there'll be a lot of tackling practice this week.

No serious injuries were reported although Dan Smick was resting a sprained shoulder which may keep him out of play this week. Joe Savilla and Archie Kodros have foot injuries, Full Back Tex Stanton a shoulder injury, and Tackle Bill Smith a head injury, but all reported today.

IOWA TAKES LIGHT DRILL.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—The Iowa regulars, with two players on the injured list, were sent through a light drill today by Coach Irl Tubbs in preparation for the encounter here Saturday with Michigan.

X-ray pictures disclosed that no bone was broken in Glenn Olson's foot as a result of the Wisconsin game, and it is hoped he will be ready to alternate with Edwin McLain at full back Saturday. Floyd Dean also was on the sidelines with an injured leg and will be out of several drills this week.

Reserves who did not play against the Badgers were sent through a long scrimmage with the freshmen by Back Field Coach Ernie Nevers.

Coach Tubbs said he planned to spend much time on the Iowa running attack as well as the aerial game this week in preparation for Michigan. The game this weekend will be Michigan's first appearance here since 1923 when Harry Kipke led the Wolverines to a 9 to 3 victory.

INDIANA STARS REST.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Fifteen Indiana football players who bore the brunt of the 13 to 6 victory over Illinois last week were excused from drill this afternoon as preparations for the Cincinnati university game at Cincinnati Saturday got under way today.

The rest of the squad forsook the rain soaked practice field and worked on fundamentals in the fieldhouse. Coach Bo McMillin seemed gratified with Indiana's showing against the Illini, despite the loose ball handling which resulted in costly fumbles.

KILIAN, VOPEL REBEL AT SPLIT FOR 6 DAY RACE

Gustav Kilian and Heinz Vopel, German stars, who won the recent Montreal six day bike race, arranged yesterday to spend two weeks in Chicago before the race at the Stadium Nov. 7.

Their early arrival is planned primarily to persuade Manager Harry Mendel to let them ride as a team. Mendel is considering splitting them this race. They have declared that if they do not compete as a team they will not ride at all.

Jerry Rodman, Chicago youth, who finished fifth in the Montreal race, is motoring back from Canada and is expected to arrive here tonight. Charley Yaccino, another Chicago lad, is with him.

Mendel arrived from Montreal yesterday, where the Germans rode exceptionally well. The victory was Vopel's seventeenth and Kilian's fifteenth. The majority of their victories have been scored as a team.

Three Augustana Players Hurt for North Central

Rock Island, Ill., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Augustana college will be handicapped Saturday when it plays its homecoming game against North Central. Don Clark, Don Anderson, and Mike Tangorra, back field men, are casualties, the last two being hurt in last week's game with St. Ambrose. Tangorra incurred a fractured ankle.

Rain Again Delays Test Run of Eyston's Thunderbolt

Bonneville Salt Flat, Utah, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Rain again forced postponement today of Capt. George E. T. Eyston's test of Thunderbolt, the car he hopes will break the world land speed record. The record, 301.12 miles per hour, is held by the British driver's countryman, Sir Malcolm Campbell.

MOON MULLINS—ALONG THE WATER FRONT

LEHNHARDT HURT; MAY BE LOST REST OF SEASON

Fred Lehnhardt, veteran full back, probably is lost to the University of Chicago football squad for the remainder of the season. Lehnhardt, a senior and a regular for the last two years, sustained a serious knee injury in the Princeton game. He was carried off the field in the last period. An examination revealed several torn ligaments.

Capt. Bob Fitzgerald, the other Maroon casualty who had to be helped from the field, is less seriously hurt. He strained the muscles of his right side during a series of spirited blocks. He probably will be ready before the next Maroon game, against Ohio State at Stagg field a week from Saturday. Davenport, Kelly, and Wasem also were hurt.

PURDUE CALLS OFF DRILL.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Purdue's football squad sat down and talked things over today. With an open date this week, Coach Mal Elward called off practice.

"I can't ask the boys to play much better football than they played against Northwestern Saturday" Elward said, "but if they can hold to that same clip during the remainder of the season, I can promise them several victories."

GOPHERS GET CHALK TALK.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—A chalk talk was the total of the Minnesota Gophers' activities today as they rested after their form reversal at Michigan last Saturday. Minnesota has an open date next Saturday, then returns to action against Notre Dame at Minneapolis the week following.

The task of finding a replacement for Andy Uram, who suffered a broken wrist in the Michigan rout, begins this week. Uram is through for the season. Both major bones in his lower arm are broken.

Harold Van Every, sophomore who played brilliantly Saturday, and Bill Matheny, who made a comeback, are to share duties at the left half back position. Van Every may be the choice, since he is a better passer and kicker than the lighter Matheny.

Rudy Gmitro, 156 pound back, suffered an arm injury, and Wilbur Moore, right half back who was forced out of the second half, suffered a lip wound which necessitated three stitches. The pair will be ready for heavy duty in a few days, however.

EVANS, SORRELLS, HARGIS WIN IN STADIUM RODEO

Joe Evans of Miles City, Mont., won the bareback bronco riding and Kan Hargis, Douglas, Ariz., the wild steer riding event in the rodeo last night at Chicago Stadium. Buck Sorrells, Tuscon, Ariz., took the calf roping in 20 seconds, and Bill Bushbaum, Topeka, Kas., the wild cow milking in 27 1-5 seconds. Other winners:

Saddle bronc riding—Alvin Gordon, Hollywood, Cal.

Pedens, Gadou-Walthour Team Tied in Six Day Race

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Two teams remained tied for the lead in Toronto's six day bike race as the field passed the twenty-four hour mark at midnight tonight. The Canadian aces, Torchy and Doug Peden, had traveled the same distance as Gadou and Walthour, but were ranked second on point scoring. Both teams had gone 465 miles and 8 laps.

Explain Plays That Puzzle Football Fans

fumbled? If he did, he scored a touchdown.

If Parker didn't bring the ball to the goal line, who recovered? Masterson recovered for the Bears and it was a touchback. Had any Cardinal player recovered the ball in the end zone he would have scored a touchdown.

And if you couldn't see the play, when the ball was given to the Bears in scrimmage on their 20 yard line, you had the answer. If there had been a safety the Bears would have had a free kick, that is a punt, a drop kick, or a place kick from their 20 yard line and the formation would have been identical with that of the initial kickoff of the game. This isn't a new rule. Several generations of college men have played under it.

Here's Another Problem.

Saturday at Dyche stadium when Fred Vanzo fumbled on Purdue's 12 yard line and the ball tumbled into Purdue's end zone as Don Heap vainly tried to retrieve it, and Nick Cutlich did recover for Northwestern, the decision had to be touchdown or touchback. There could not have been a safety. The decision revolved solely on possession. If Purdue recovered, it was a touchback with possession on Purdue's 20 yard line. Northwestern recovered for a touchdown.

Some may have thought the ball [it was called a "free ball" after Vanzo's fumble] was kicked into the end zone. Last year that would have been possible if the kick was accidental. But Yale's Larry Kelley, by his most timely accidental kick which led to a victory, caused a change in this rule.

Ryan Shows Alertness.

If Heap had kicked the ball, accidentally or otherwise, it would have been illegal. Purdue would have had possession at the point of the foul. But a ball which strikes any other portion of the player's body as he tries to gain possession and provided he does not bat the ball forward purposely, still will belong to the player who recovers it in the field or in the end zone.

There were two highly important plays Saturday at Northwestern which have not been accorded adequate recognition. The first is credited to Sophomore Jack Ryan, a capable back whose passing ability and defensive sureness against passes has been blanketed by attention to better known Wildcat ball carriers.

When Purdue had the ball on Northwestern's 8 yard line, Ryan followed Cody Isbell across and blocked Purdue's first down pass. Ryan's alertness deserves praise. It was as important as Vanzo's fourth down tackle of Cecil Isbell on the 1 foot line.

After this goal line stand, Northwestern's Bernard Jefferson went back to kick. His punt carried out to Purdue's 42 yard line. It was so high that Isbell only could return it six yards before tacklers reached him.

Marquette Will Be Ready for Michigan State

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—A checkup today revealed that the Marquette university football team had pulled through Saturday's 13 to 0 setback by Kansas State without serious mishap, the first time this fall that a game has not taken its toll in serious injuries.

Two or three men hurt early this fall are due back in uniform this week so Coach Paddy Driscoll should have the strongest team of the season on the field against Michigan State at East Lansing on Saturday. An overhauling of the Marquette offense was begun today.

Princeton Loses Al Lane, Out with Broken Wrist

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Al Lane, Princeton right guard who started against Chicago Saturday, will be lost to the Tigers for most of the season, it was learned today. Lane has a fractured left wrist. He is the brother of Art Lane, captain of the 1933 Princeton eleven.

MY PROMISE TO EVERY MAN WHO IS LOSING HIS HAIR

I'm not going to promise you a new head of hair overnight. As a scientist, I do not exaggerate. But this I tell you, after a lifetime devoted to the study of hair. You should have a full head of hair, whether you are 20 or 60. You should never lose it. Nature meant you to retain it.

STOP WORRYING ABOUT YOUR HAIR

When I announced Pro-Ker in 1932, it was my life's ambition realized. I had spent 40 years studying, experimenting with human hair ... 40 years to find a method of preventing baldness.

In 1932 I definitely stated that the Pro-Ker treatment was all that was needed to encourage normal hair replacement. Skeptics said "It won't work." But I had the facts, the evidence. I had seen the results on hundreds of heads. I knew it would work—just as years before when I announced the permanent wave, and people scoffed, I knew that would work.

PRO-KER IS GUARANTEED

At least retain the hair you now have! Follow the simple instructions that come with your Pro-Ker bottle. If your scalp itches or has dandruff, you will find those conditions promptly relieved. (Pro-Ker is not sticky or smelly.)

Remember, you risk nothing. If you're not entirely satisfied, you get back every cent you paid.

DELANCY WINS.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Al Delancy, Canadian heavyweight, gained a technical knockout over Harry Stahl, champion of Holland, in the seventh round of their bout at the National Sporting club's stadium tonight.

PICK 3 YOUNG RIDERS ON U. S. JUMPING TEAM

New York, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Two veterans and three young riders have been selected to represent the United States in the international military jumping competition at the National Horse show in Madison Square Garden on Nov. 3-10.

The veterans are Capt. Milo H. Matteson and Lieut. Franklin S. Wing. The newcomers, all developed at the Fort Riley [Kas.] cavalry school, are Capt. Royce A. Drake, Lieut. W. H. S. Wright, and Lieut. Scott M. Sanford. Wright and Sanford are recent graduates of the special advanced equitation class at the school while Capt. Drake has been on detached duty at Michigan State.

The United States officers will compete against teams from Canada, Irish Free State, Belgium, and Holland.

BADGERS BEGIN WORK FOR PITT; HARDEST TEST

Squad Expected to Be at Full Strength.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Wisconsin's football team began preparations today for its stiffest test so far this season, Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh Saturday.

The 19 players who participated in the victory over Iowa were excused from contact drill as Coach Harry Stuhldreher began working on a defense designed to halt Pitt's high geared running attack, built around Marshall Goldberg. Scrimmage against Pittsburgh plays, as put on by the freshmen, is scheduled for tomorrow and Wednesday. The squad will leave for the east after a light drill Thursday afternoon.

Benz Captain This Week.

Fred Benz, Milwaukee senior who has been the Badgers' regular end for the last two years, has been named acting captain for the first football game with Pittsburgh in Wisconsin history. Benz earned the honor by 60 minutes of outstanding play against Iowa.

The Badgers are expected to head east at full strength. Johnny Doyle, regular left guard, has a slightly wrenched shoulder and Billy Schmitz, who led the Badgers to their second touchdown against Iowa, has not quite recovered from a bruised hip, but both will be ready by Saturday.

ILLINI REGULARS REST.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Since Illinois does not play Saturday, the Illini who saw action against Indiana were given a rest today. Hope was entertained that Jay Wardley, disabled back, will be able to resume practice Wednesday. Walter Kirschke, sophomore tackle, apparently advanced to the second team by his performance against the Hoosiers.

THE BEER OF THE YEAR

Gardelle Scores Double; Two Fillies Win.

BY FRENCH LANE.

After a muddy, rainy session of racing at Sportsman's Park yesterday the customers finally came to the conclusion when darkness set in last night that there had been one hero and two heroines during the splashy party.

The hero was the youngster, Jocky Jerry Gardelle, who scored a double victory. He rode Makalaw from Billy O'Toole's Blue Ridge Farm stable to a triumph in the first race. He won the Deerfield purse on Lou Severson's filly, Plenty Charm, then finished second, beaten a head, on the Blue Ridge Farm stable's Mr. James in the fourth race.

The heroines were Plenty Charm, a daughter of Paul Bunyan-Dreana Lee, easy winner in the Deerfield, and Be Blue, the daughter of Blue Larkspur, another handy winner in the Crystal Lake purse.

Be Blue's Third in Four Starts.

The Crystal Lake at five furlongs served as the day's feature race. When Be Blue got out in front at the start, then stayed there to win by three lengths, she scored her third victory in the four starts she has made since she arrived in Chicago a little more than a month ago.

She's quite a remarkable filly. Her owner, Mrs. Tom Marshall, does not have to carry around a tailor made track for the daughter of Blue Larkspur to run over. The quick stepping brown miss has won her races at Sportsman's Park and at Hawthorne in every kind of going.

Her time in the Crystal Lake was remarkable. She glided the five furlongs through the mud in 1:02 2-5.

She's Away in Full Stride.

It made no difference whatever to Be Blue. She was in full stride an instant after the field was sent away. She raced along a straight line down to the clubhouse turn and was well in front when she arrived there. Then Jocky Horace Simmons eased her over close to the rail.

She pulled away until she enjoyed a lead of three lengths. On the last turn Novelette challenged stoutly, but was no match after Simmons gave Be Blue a crack with his whip. She bounded out into her customary lead of three lengths and stayed there. Novelette had no trouble finishing second. Pelter got third money.

Pelter was the only horse with an alibi. She was sharply squeezed back going into the first turn by Novelette and Dust Box. This cost her so much ground that she never was a contender. She had been a stoutly backed second choice.

Be Blue Gives Away Weight.

Be Blue gave away lots of weight to all her rivals in this dash. She clearly demonstrated that she is the best 2 year old at the track.

There was one happy fellow in the crowd. It was Joe Allen, the Cincinnati plunger.

The favorites were beginning to make their presence known. Makalaw, Joe Eaton, and Be Blue were among the stoutly backed choices to win.

Time, :24 3-5, :50, 1:17 1-5, 1:25 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Makalaw, $5.80 straight, $3.20 place, $2.40 show; Margaret Nadi, $6.60 place, $3.80 show; Madcap Yankee, $2.80 show. Winner trained by O. Bagley. Went to post at 2:03.

MAKALAW, forced to race wide throughout and rated under light restraint for half a mile, fell back slightly on the final turn but came with determination under strong riding in the stretch and got up in the closing strides. MARGARET NADI took command quickly, was aided by good rating and a big saving of ground and held on gamely but was not good enough. MADCAP YANKEE, on the inside throughout, was under strong urging after three-eighths and began to weaken after reaching the last three-sixteenths.

SECOND RACE—Six and one-half furlongs. Purse $700. Net value to winner, $550; second, $90; third, $40; fourth, $20.

JOE EATON, away fast but unable to keep up, began to improve his position after about three-eighths, came strongly when racing very wide in the final quarter and got up when making the last stride. CHATTER WRACK, a sharp factor from the start, took command easily before going a half mile, increased his advantage when approaching the stretch and held on well but failed to last.

CROSS BOW II. WINS BY A NOSE AT EMPIRE CITY

Wright Horse Outfinishes Little Miracle.

New York, Oct. 18.—[Special.]—A tight finish marked the opening of the fall meeting at Empire City today when Crossbow II., beat Little Miracle by a nose in the $4,325 new Rochelle handicap. The camera was used by the judges before they posted the number of Warren Wright's Calumet farm color bearer as the winner.

Crossbow II., a Chicago horse, earned $3,175 of the gross purse. He ran the course, slightly shorter than six furlongs in 1:09 flat. Hal Price Headley's Preeminent was third.

CORNELL HOLDS LEAD WITH FOUR VICTORIES IN ROW

Monmouth, Ill., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Cornell, with a schedule that requires it to meet every other Midwest conference team this year, continues to lead the conference with four victories.

Knox will play its first conference game Saturday at Beloit. Cornell probably will find stiff opposition at Ripon. Lawrence goes to Carroll to meet an old conference rival. Standing:

BROKERS GIVE VIEWS OF CAUSE OF STOCK CRASH

Federal Regulation and Fear Blamed.

Thaddeus R. Benson.

Few were optimistic, because they could not see bottom prior to the development of some show of resistance to the downsweep. Yet most of them said they believed that present prices are considerably lower than justified by business conditions or business prospects.

Thaddeus R. Benson, president of the Chicago Stock exchange, said last night that something should be done at once to stop the runaway decline or acquaint people with the facts—but declined to amplify this remark at present.

Rules Scare "Insiders."

"It is a fear market, pure and simple," said Benson. "Yet nobody seems to know just what he is afraid of—regulations, or what. Government regulation has been a factor, but it is not the whole picture.

"Insiders have been scared by the government's rules. I know several who in past years have been in the habit of supporting the market by buying stocks in their companies when they thought prices too low. Now they fear to do so because they would have to turn over to the corporation any profit they make on a turnover in less than six months—and to stand the loss, if any, themselves.

"If there were some support the decline might be checked. I see no sign of real resistance at present."

Illustrating the cumulative nature of the decline was the comment of Henry E. Greene, a partner of Paul H. Davis & Co.

"There will be plenty of calls for more margin going out tonight, and that means more trouble unless we have a rally in the morning," he said. "Everybody still seems to be as much in the dark about it all as we have been all along."

Margin Accounts Imperiled.

Similarly, Michael J. O'Brien, partner of Paine, Webber & Co., and former president of the Chicago Stock exchange, said it must be realized that a market decline of 60 points leaves no margin account exempt. He said it seems to be "a combination of everything" and said his firm's statisticians and partners in New York had been trying in vain for several weeks to figure out where the bottom might be.

O'Brien said he would not hesitate to buy stocks outright this morning, or with a "good stiff margin" to protect against further possible declines. This view was based on much the same reasoning as the daily stock letter of Thomson & McKinnon.

"With virtually all vestige of support removed from the stock list today," it said, "prices naturally tumbled in response to the liquidation that swept into the market. The inevitable distress incidental to this latest break will have to run its full and painful course. But it seems to us that the current selling carries stock quotations to levels which are ridiculously out of line with fundamental values."

Views Pessimism Exaggerated.

This also was in line with the opinion of the Brookmire corporation, large investment service, in its weekly comment before yesterday's break.

"The market decline has reached the stage of exaggerated pessimism,

Inflation Near, Insurance Man Tells Bankers

Cleveland, O. Oct. 18.—[Special.]—A period of inflation not far in the future was predicted at the convention of the Mortgage Bankers' Association of America by Charles F. Williams, president of the Western and Southern Life Insurance company of Cincinnati, O.

"The business man or banker who does not believe that we are going to have some sort of inflation in this country had better enroll in a business school," Williams declared. "The nation is suffering from an acute attack of lack of confidence, which will not likely be removed until some definite steps are taken to balance the federal budget, stop increasing taxes, and halt the high cost of living.

"The whole world seems to be in a state of unrest. The European situation is a mad dog situation. Nothing that can happen there will help this country, but almost anything that happens there in the near future is likely to hurt us. It is difficult for business men and bankers to have any feeling today but one of keen anxiety and concern when the national and international situation is as confused as it is now."

TREASURY AGAIN DRAWS ON FUNDS HELD IN BANK

New York, Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Another "call" for repayment of deposits held in commercial banks, the fourth in ten days, was issued today by the United States treasury. The latest notice called for the repayment by depositary institutions of $16,662,700 Thursday and the same amount Friday.

This withdrawal represents 10 per cent of the amounts on deposit in the banks for the account of subscriptions to the 1⅜ per cent and 1¾ per cent treasury notes, dated June 15 last. Afterward, there will still remain on deposit for the treasury's account $569,009,600.

Previous calls required the repayment on last Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and today of amounts aggregating $165,259,600. Including the amounts called for repayment Thursday and Friday, the treasury will have withdrawn $198,585,000 in less than two weeks.

The large withdrawals reflect the treasury's need for funds to carry on its operations in view of its recent decision not to borrow new money this month and next.

PENNSY AUGUST PROFIT SHARPLY UNDER LAST YEAR

The Pennsylvania railroad yesterday reported net income for August amounted to $2,344,858, compared with $3,752,606 in August, 1936. Net income for the first eight months of this year totaled $18,165,244.

CHICAGO STOCKS FALL IN LARGEST BREAK SINCE '29

Losses Range to $9 in Heavy Trading.

Chicago stocks yesterday experienced the severest break since the 1929 collapse. Losses ranged from fractions to more than $9 a share and several issues lost one-fourth to one-third of their total market value based on Saturday's close.

Only nine of the 148 issues traded closed higher. Thirty issues were unchanged, 108 declined, and one new issue made its appearance. New lows for 1937 were numerous, some shares selling at lowest prices in two or three years.

Trading volume—112,000 shares—was the largest since Feb. 19 when 133,000 shares were sold. The turnover last Friday was 85,000 shares.

Chicago Corp. Most Active.

The day's largest trading was in Chicago Corporation common, which eased ⅛ to 2⅛ on an 8,300 share volume. Next most active was Middle West common which sagged to 4½, off ⅝, on a 7,700 share turnover. Commonwealth Edison, on a 6,800 share volume, closed 1⅝ lower at 23⅜. Armour common closed at 6, off ⅝, and General Household eased ⅛ to 1⅝.

Zenith Radio suffered one of the sharpest breaks, tumbling 7¼ to close at 14. Utah Radio, one of the volume leaders, slid from 1⅞ to 1⅛.

Borg-Warner sold off 5 points to 28. Butler Brothers slipped from 8⅝ to 7⅛. Marshall Field dropped from 13⅞ to 12.

THE TRIBUNE average of 20 stocks was 10.68 at the close, off 1.73 from Saturday. Yesterday's high was 12.04 and the low was 10.64.

Bank Stock Prices Fall.

Chicago bank stocks broke to new lows for the year or longer yesterday, with losses ranging up to $30 a share. Continental Illinois stock closed $20 below Saturday at $68 bid, $71 asked. First National lost $12 a share.

Northern Trust broke 30 points to $550 bid, $575 asked. City National lost $10, Chicago Title and Trust $8, and Harris Trust, Merchandise National, and National Boulevard were each $5 lower. American National closed at $175 bid, off $25 from Saturday, but asking prices remained unchanged at $200 a share.

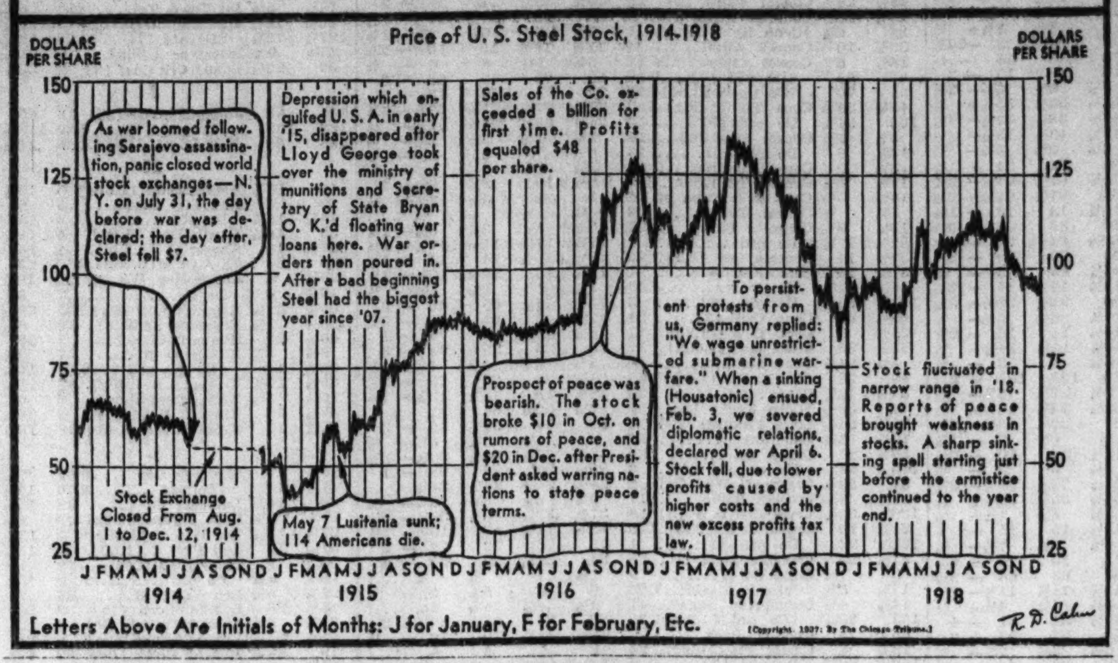
PAPER MAKER BOOSTS PRICE OF NEWSPRINT

The Great Northern Paper company yesterday boosted prices of newsprint delivered in New York to $48 a ton during the first half of 1938 and $50 a ton for delivery during the last half of the year. New prices represent advances of $5.50 and $7.50, respectively, from present quotations.

Earlier "discussion" had placed the price at about $50 in the first half of next year and $52.50 for the second half of the year.

In Montreal news of the price advance brought a rally in prices of newsprint stocks, after new 1937 lows had been reached early in the day.

HOW WAR AFFECTED BUSINESS
1. Big Steel in the World War



Selling Wave Engulfs Bonds; Prices Tumble

New York, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The bond market suffered one of the severest declines in several years today. Announcement of a sharp break in the steel mill operating rate started a wave of liquidation that beat prices down fractions to around 6 points. A number of issues were off as much as 7 points.

Stepping off to an even start with many liens pointing a little higher, a mounting wave of offerings hit the list shortly after noon. All groups joined in a headlong retreat on the heaviest turnover since last April—$11,945,650 face amount, compared with $10,064,350 last Friday.

Federal Loans Climb.

Federal loans provided the only relief in an otherwise gloomy market. Gains ranged up to 6-32 of a point, but losses, which were few, did not exceed 5-32 point. However, in trading on the over the counter market after the listed market had closed, federals worked lower, losing as much as 5-32 point.

Rails were again the principal target of selling. Not only medium and lower priced issues but low yield obligations as well plummeted lower. The Associated Press averages for 20 rails dropped 1.2 to 78, the lowest point since April, 1935, and one of the sharpest breaks for a day in several years.

Utilities joined the carrier group in the downslide. Ten utilities in the averages suffered the widest drop in two years, declining 1.4 to 91.3.

Several Are Hard Hit.

Some of the heavier losers included International Telephone 5s at 47, off 7; Studebaker 6s at 66, off 7; Great Northern 4s at 100, off 6; New York Central 5s at 75, off 5½; Southern railway 4s at 46, off 5½; Erie 5s at 46, off 5; American Water Works 6s at 96, off 4¼; International Hydro Electric 6s at 58¼, off 4⅞, and Illinois Central 4¾s at 41, off 4.

Foreign dollar loans were generally lower, with losses running up to 3 points. The decline was somewhat relieved by minor rallying tendencies in Italian obligations.

The wide crack in share prices is beginning to exert a definite influence on liens. Bonds, put up as margin for trading accounts, are being thrown on the market to cover heavy stock losses, it was explained.

FEDERAL FINANCIAL OFFICIALS WON'T TALK ABOUT STOCK SLUMP

Washington, D. C., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Federal financial officials carefully watched the market tickers today while stocks tobogganed, but had little to say publicly. At the Securities and Exchange commission, it was learned the SEC's New York office has been ordered to trace the source of rumors that the regulatory agency might close the stock exchange. In response to inquiries, authorities said they would not dignify the rumors with direct comment. The inquiry presumably was ordered to determine what influence such rumors may have had on stock prices.

Chairman William O. Douglas of the commission refused to talk to reporters. Officials explained he was adhering to commission policy in refusing to discuss the market. Last week Douglas considered making a statement in answer to assertions by Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the Chase National bank, that government regulatory policies had tended to push stock prices downward. He later decided against saying anything.

Presidents of federal reserve banks met at the federal reserve board today and conferred briefly with board members. Although they presumably discussed the market break, officials said the bank heads confined their talk with board members to other topics.

Commodities Fall; Several Hit New Lows

Commodity prices yesterday joined the flight of securities into lower ground. Rubber futures, hides, and cocoa dropped to new low levels for the year. The egg and butter futures market at Chicago registered sharp declines. Lead prices sagged. Cotton sold lower after showing early strength.

Rubber closed from .37 to .48 cent lower, with all active options selling below 16 cents a pound, and at the lowest price since August, 1936.

Hide prices opened with losses of .12 cent, and closed .78 to .79 cent lower. A dull market for spot lether was a factor in the selloff.

Cocoa Prices Slump.

Cocoa prices slumped with losses ranging from .35 cent for the distant futures to .45 cent for the November future.

The New York cotton market showed declines of .02 to .10 cent at the close, with October selling at 8.28 cents a pound, January at 8.22, March at 8.20, May at 8.24, July at 8.26, and December at 8.27.

Egg futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange were weak at the opening and slipped throughout the session, with losses ranging up to $120 a carlot. The current month showed the largest decline, closing at 19¾ cents. December futures closed at 20 cents, down ⅞ cent.

Butter Price Is Lower.

Butter dropped as much as ¾ cent in the futures market, or $144 a carlot, in light trading. November sold off ⅝ to 33 cents a pound.

Two major producers of lead reduced the price to a basis where the American Smelting and Refining company quoted the metal at 5.30 cents a pound [New York delivery].

Steel Industry Cuts Schedule as Orders Lag

Operations in the steel industry this week are scheduled at 55.8 per cent of ingot capacity, the American Iron and Steel institute reported yesterday. This is a drop of 7.8 points or 12.3 per cent from last week's schedule and compares with 74.2 per cent in the corresponding week of 1936.

Steel trade circles said the sharp drop in output reflected shrinkage of backlogs and increased caution of buyers because of the wide stock market declines and business recessions in other industries. At the same time it was pointed out that orders for steel from railroads, construction and motor industries have been disappointing.

Chicago Rate Is Lower.

The schedule in the Chicago district is 11.9 points below last week's rate with operations at only 42.9 per cent of theoretical capacity. A month ago the Chicago rate was 76.7 per cent.

Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation has taken two more furnaces out of blast, one each at Gary and South Chicago leaving six out of twelve active at Gary and four out of eleven active at South Chicago. In the early part of September the company had eighteen of its twenty-three furnaces in blast.

Inland Steel now has eighteen of its thirty-one open harth furnaces active, but will take off another before the end of this week. In August all of the open harths were melting.

Sharp Decline for Month.

Operations of the entire industry a month ago were scheduled at 76.1 per cent of ingot capacity. A year ago the rate was 74.2 per cent, a decrease of 1.7 points or 2.2 per cent from the preceding week, and two years ago operations were at 51.8 per cent, up 1.4 points or 2.8 per cent from the preceding week.

This week's rate is the lowest since the week beginning March 23, 1936, when flood conditions cut operations to 53.7 per cent from 60 per cent in the preceding week.

CREDITORS OF 2 INSULL CONCERNS SETTLE CLAIMS

Settlement of suits brought by note holders of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., and Corporation Securities company against Chicago and New York banks, which were secured creditors of the bankrupt Insull concerns, was approved yesterday by Referee in Bankruptcy Wallace Streeter. No dissent to the settlement was made at the creditors' meeting.

Holders of Insull Utility debentures will receive in liquidation approximately 8 cents on the dollar under provisions of the settlement, according to Charles H. Hamill, attorney for the bankruptcy trustee.

Corporation Securities noteholders will receive slightly less than 6 cents on the dollar, said C. J. Lord, attorney for the bankruptcy trustee of that company.

GEN. ELECTRIC'S PROFITS, SALES ABOVE YEAR AGO

U. S. Steel Earning Are Estimated.

The General Electric company yesterday reported that profit available for dividends in the first nine months of this year amounted to $39,663,931, equal to $1.38 a common share, compared with $26,533,667, or 92 cents a share, in the same period a year ago.

Sales billed in the nine months totaled $260,773,533, compared with $189,263,156 in the 1936 period. Orders received aggregated $305,276,556, an increase of 44 per cent over $211,891,038.

The United States Steel corporation earned between $30,000,000 and $32,000,000 in the third quarter, according to early estimates announced yesterday by Dow-Jones & Co. This would equal between $2.75 and $3 per common share after allowance for preferred dividend requirements, and would be the best third quarter showing of the corporation since 1929.

Previous Quarters Compared.

The estimate compared with earnings of $3.43 a share in the second quarter and $2.55 in the first quarter, making the total between $8.70 and $8.95 a share for the nine months ended Sept. 30. This also would be the best nine month showing since 1929, and compares with $1.25 per common share earned in the first three-quarters of 1936.

Dow-Jones said shipments of finished steel products in the September period were considerably less than those in the preceding two quarters. Increased efficiency and the effects of price boosts made last March were given major credit for the earnings showing. Deliveries did not reflect the higher prices until July, it was said. Satisfactory fourth quarter earnings, it was added, would complicate the situation arising from the federal tax on undistributed profits.

Gain in Earnings Shrinks.

Although fifteen of the first thirty-five companies to report on their earnings for the third quarter of this year had declines, as compared with the corresponding quarter of 1936, the total for the entire group showed a gain of 11 per cent over last year,

"LET'S put it this way. We've got a sales force of one hundred men. It's their job to cover the territory. They have to sell our products. What would we do if we found that about half of them sat down and didn't make a move for a month or two?"

"That's a silly, hypothetical question but I'll answer it. We'd fire them and get new men."

"You're wrong. We wouldn't fire the salesmen . . . we'd fire the sales manager. It's his responsibility—his job to keep the salesmen moving and producing."

"Check. But what has that got to do with the matter we were discussing?"

"Just this. Our business is good. Our receivables are high. Our customers are not discounting. We're passing up chances to open good new accounts for lack of sufficient resources to finance more volume. And why? Because half of our capital, which ought to be working for us, just like our salesmen, is taking periodic thirty to sixty day vacations . . . tied up in customer's stocks or resting in his bank balance . . . working for him until he sends it back to us. Do you get the idea?"

"You bet I do. And I think I get the solution you're leading up to ...discounting our receivables with Commercial Credit Company."

"That's right. Their proposition is a sound plan for sales-managing our capital. Lots of progressive businesses are using it now. What particularly impresses me is the new LIMITED LOSS clause. It protects us against abnormal credit losses. I'm a hard-shelled conservative when it comes to credit or financial risks, but this new Commercial Credit Company feature makes good sense to me. I'm all for it."

★ *The new LIMITED LOSS clause in Commercial Credit Company's plan of discounting accounts receivable makes this modern type of industrial financing interesting and attractive to conservative businessmen everywhere. STOCKS CRASH AGAIN; SELLING SWAMPS MARKET

Losses Range Up to $15 in Active Shares.

From the standpoint of the number of issues actively traded it was the biggest day in the history of the New York Stock exchange, 1,014 different stocks being dealt in. The previous record of 1,010 was made on Oct. 28, 1929.

Share prices on the Chicago Stock exchange followed the same general pattern as the New York quotations. Zenith Radio, closing at $14, showed a loss for the day of $7.25, or more than a third of its value at the end of last week. Losses on other stocks ranged as high as $9 per share.

Confined Largely to Stocks.

Yesterday's crash was confined largely to the stock exchanges. Grain prices at the Chicago Board of Trade closed steady to slightly higher. Other commodities were generally somewhat lower. Leading lead producers reduced the price of that metal ¼ cent per pound, the second cut in two weeks.

Until late last night margin clerks in Wall and La Salle streets were working over their books, and some houses reported that private wire systems would open 15 to 30 minutes earlier this morning in order to get calls for additional margins out to customers.

The stock exchanges require minimum 30 per cent margins, but individual brokers said last night that they were demanding 40 per cent. The Securities and Exchange commission requires no posting of additional margins when stocks decline. Its only official concern is the requirement that a minimum margin of 55 per cent be provided at the time a stock is purchased.

A canvass of the principal banks and brokerage houses last night disclosed no important new or impending development which would account for the extraordinarily sharp decline yesterday.

Called "Roosevelt Market."

Brokers both here and in New York were continuing to lay chief emphasis on what they now call the "Roosevelt bear market."

Opinions among brokers varied as to the relative importance of different discouraging influences. Some placed most blame on the Securities and Exchange commission's restrictions. Others were picking the special session of congress and the threat of revival of the essence of the NRA and the AAA. Still others were calling attention to the increase in operating costs of corporations resulting from too sudden boosts in wages. All were looking toward Washington, however, for the key to the future trend of prices.

Decline Follows Election.

Bankers, requesting the protection of anonymity, pointed to the fact that the stock market upturn, which began after the 1933 bank moratorium, ended last fall about the time of the presidential election and that the definite downtrend began early last March, when the administration began to formulate its second term program.

Bankers also recalled that it was early in March that President Roosevelt began speaking against rising prices of commodities and Chairman Eccles of the federal reserve board began his scheme of attempting to "dampen" the boom by reducing the excess reserves of the commercial banks.

Arrangements were announced yesterday for the sale of a New York Stock exchange seat for $61,000, off $11,000 from the last previous transaction on Sept. 24. This is the lowest price paid for a membership since 1919. The all-time high was $625,000 in 1929. The high this year was $134,000 on Jan. 8. Based on the old gold dollar, yesterday's price was the equivalent of approximately $36,000.

Lower After New York Close.

Such stocks as Pacific Gas, Pacific Lighting, Lockheed Aircraft, Byron Jackson, Crown Zellerbach, California Packing, Southern Pacific, Shell Oil and Union Oil fell a few cents to $1.50 a share below the New York close.

Some leading losers from Saturday were Soundview Pulp, off $11 a share, Rainier Pulp & Paper, down $10.50, and Bank of California, Marchant, Paraffine, Union Sugar, Byron Jackson, General Motors, Di Giorgio 6s, Emporium 4½s, Le Tourneau, Pacific Telephone and Home Fire and Marine Insurance, off $3 to $5.

WHEAT IGNORES CRASH IN STOCKS; CLOSES HIGHER

Short Covering Cause of Late Rally.

CHICAGO GRAIN FUTURES

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$0.99⅛	$0.99⅛	$1.14½
Corn	.60	.59	.93¼
Oats	.30⅝	.30⅛	.40⅜
Rye	.73¾	.73⅞	.82
Soy beans	.98¾	.97	1.21

Grain markets were little affected by the action of securities and other commodities yesterday. Although wheat fell 2 to 3 cents a bushel in early trading as the result of a decline in Liverpool, good rains in the American southwest and more favorable crop reports from the southern hemisphere advanced prices rapidly in the last few minutes of trading and the market closed unchanged to 1⅝ cents a bushel higher.

Eastern interests started to buy in the latter part of the session and started a short covering movement which continued until the close. Final prices were the highest of the day. Other North American wheat markets closed ⅜ to ⅞ cent a bushel lower.

News Factor Is Lacking.

There was nothing in the routine news to account for the late strength in wheat. No export sales were reported despite the early decline. Rain in the southwest and west was considered extremely favorable for the new winter wheat crop. Liverpool wheat futures closed 1 to 1¾ cents a bushel lower.

Corn showed a firm undertone throughout the day, due largely to commission house and local buying based on a belief general rains in the central west would retard the movement of the new crop. Field work is expected to be at a standstill for several days as the result of the heavy precipitation over a large area. Futures closed ¾ to 1¼ cents a bushel higher, with May showing the most strength.

Visible Supply Falls.

Despite the record movement of new corn for this season of the year—321 cars were received at Chicago yesterday—there was a reduction of 337,000 bushels in the visible supply of that grain last week, with the total sagging to 3,809,000 bushels, against 3,181,000 bushels a year ago.

Oats showed strength and closed ⅜ to ½ cent a bushel higher. No export business was reported. Rye futures closed ⅛ to ¼ cent higher in sympathy with wheat and on reports of a moderate export business.

COTTON

Heavy rains over a considerable portion of the cotton belt and a consequent letup in hedging pressure largely offset the effect of weakness in securities yesterday and cotton futures rallied sharply after a sell off which carried prices down as much as .18 cent a pound at one time. Trade buying absorbed the offerings on the decline and a rally followed. Closing trades on the Chicago Board of Trade were at net losses of .04 to .12 cent. Other American markets declined .03 to .12 cent a pound.

The holding movement on the part of farmers in the south was reported as increasing as many grades of cotton have been selling below the government loan level. The first hearing on the new proposed farm bill was held at Winston Salem, S. C., yesterday.

Spot cotton closed unchanged to .10 cent lower with New Orleans, 8.35 cents; New York, 8.50 cents; Galveston, 8.15 cents, and Houston at 8.10 cents a pound. Prices follow:

High Tensile Steel.

High tensile steel differs from ordinary steel in that it contains alloys which give it greater strength than the latter. A smaller amount of high tensile steel is needed to obtain a desired degree of strength than would be necessary if ordinary steel were used.

The use of high tensile steel enables railroads to cut down on the dead weight in freight and passenger cars.

High tensile steel is made by the open harth method in large volume. This means it may be produced economically and can be used as a substitute for ordinary steel. It gets its superior strength by a combination of alloying elements used in relatively low percentages. There are other alloy steels that differ greatly from ordinary open harth steel and require special equipment and manufacturing process. This makes the cost too high for most uses.

High tensile steel's chief advantage is that it combines low cost with high strength. It costs about $1.40 a hundred pounds more than ordinary steel, but since not as much is needed, the actual cost is less than appears from the price difference. It has an abrasion resistance one-third greater than ordinary steel, superior resistance to denting and puncturing and greater corrosive resistance.

TIME LOANS

$50 to $500 to $5,000

No matter how much you want—a big loan of $100 or more, or a small one of $5,000 or less—we lend it. No matter whether you offer stocks or bonds, a car (new or used), or just a signature—the cost is moderate, and of course the retirement plan is fitted into your budget comfortably.

There is no better way to borrow, all things considered . . . liberal amounts . . . on optional security . . . definite low cost . . . flexible terms . . . and handling from start to finish by a staff which knows all of the "ins and outs" of personal money matters.

BROKERS' LOANS FALL IN WAKE OF STOCK DECLINE

Member Banks Lend More to Business.

Brokers' loans in the week ended Oct. 13 declned 17 million dollars, a reflection of the sharp decline in stock prices during the week, the report of the federal reserve board on member bank position in 101 leading cities disclosed yesterday. The total outstanding on Oct. 13 was 1 billion 161 millions, an increase of only 14 millions over the total outstanding a year ago.

Loans made by the banks to commerce, industry and agriculture advanced 40 millions, compared with an increase of 21 millions in the preceding week. The total now outstanding is 4 billions 871 millions.

Buy More "Governments."

For the second successive week the member banks increased their holdings of government obligations. The upturn was considered significant in that it represented an interruption in the long period of liquidation of federal obligations. Of the net increase of 8 millions last week 6 millions consisted of direct obligations of the federal government and 2 millions of fully guaranteed obligations.

Demand deposits increased 173 millions last week and time deposits declined 12 millions. Government deposits dropped 50 million.

Massachusetts Mutual Life.

Investors' Guide: Kindly give me information regarding Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance company.—D. B.

Answer: Purely mutual, this large life company is owned by its policy holders. It writes only participating insurance on the annual dividend basis. Management has been most able, results achieved have been above average for the business. The company ranks high in insurance circles, and has an excellent reputation.

With $1,874,061,000 insurance in force at the end of 1936, the company ranked eleventh in size in the United States. The amount reached a high of $2,096,731,000 at the end of 1930 and dropped to $1,851,447,000 at the end of 1935. Insurance written last year amounted to $146,644,000. In the first half of 1937, $74,788,000 of insurance was written and the amount in force June 30 was $1,896,676,000.

Admitted assets increased from $533,225,000 to $572,113,000 during 1936 and to $596,000,000 on June 30. A breakdown of assets at the end of 1936, excluding $62,795,000 of policy loans, showed 58 per cent of assets in bonds considered of excellent quality, 25 per cent in nonfarm mortgages which seem of good quality, and 12 per cent in real estate.

Yield on assets as a whole was 4 per cent in 1936, a good return, compared with 3.7 per cent in 1935. Income last year amounted to $113,400,000 and total disbursements were $73,663,000—a favorable ratio.

Expenses have been very low, as has been net cost to policy holders. The mortality rate is favorable, though higher so far this year than in 1936. Lapses of policies have been low. Dividends are set up only five months in advance, but reserves against policies are set up mainly on the strongest valuation in general use in the life insurance business.

Tri-Continental Warants.

Investors' Guide: Kindly give information about Tri-Continental warrants listed on the New York Curb.—M. G.

Answer: The warrants give holders the right to buy common stock of Tri-Continental corporation, an investment company, at $18.46 a share. There is no time limit within which this right must be exercised. The potential value of the warrants lies in the possibility that the stock may be quoted in the market [listed on the New York Stock exchange] at more than $18.46 in the future.

We shall be glad to furnish you a report on Tri-Continental corporation if you wish one.

SHARP DECLINE SHOWN IN PRICES OF LIVE STOCK

Prime Steers Rise to New Peak for October.

Live stock prices declined yesterday except for a few loads of prime long-fed steers, which were strong to 25 cents higher. The top load averaged 1,441 pounds and brought at $19.90 per 100 pounds, a new all-time high for October and as high as any sale since December, 1919.

Most cattle sold from $10 to $18. The average cost of beef steers was estimated yesterday at $14, or 75 cents under the 1937 high. The bulk of inbetween and plainer classes of steers were weak to 25 cents lower than last week. Grass fed stock fell 25 to 50 cents.

Short fed hefers dipped 25 to 50 cents, and plainer classes as well as the scant supply of corn feds held steady. Beef cows were weak to 25 cents lower.

Weather Swells Movement.

The largest receipts of hogs since April 13, about 21,000 head, sent prices down 15 to 50 cents.

The first real bad weather of the fall with snow and rain in some sections caused the increased movement of spring pigs from farms. The top sale fell to $11, the lowest point since May 14. This was $2.75 under the 1937 high in August.

Most of the supply consisted of new crop hogs weighing 175 to 240 pounds that ranged between $10.75 and $10.85. Sows weighing 300 to 500 pounds bulked at $9 to $9.45. Prices for the day averaged $10.60, with the spread the narrowest in over five months.

Lamb prices slumped 25 to 50 cents. Best natives sold to shippers and city butchers at $10.35 to $10.60. Big local packers bought at $10 to $10.25. Westerns reached $10.50. Feeders sold at $10.25 and old ewes at $4.50.

BROKERS GIVE VIEWS ON CAUSE OF STOCK CRASH

Fear and Government Regulation Blamed.

with adverse factors overdiscounted," Brookmire said. "Out of this situation will logically come a very substantial rally. New funds should be promptly invested, and it is vitally important to maintain fully invested positions and not succumb to pessimistic psychology."

The market letter of Shields & Co. said: "The bear market continued unchecked last week as President Roosevelt evidenced unweakened determination to push forward with the regimentation program that has so scared capital that it fears to go to work. Business showed definite recession—with the trade line falling below the previous year for the first time since 1933—unemployment increased, price chiseling started and the labor Frankenstein threatened even more unsettlement.

"While these definitly unfavorable business developments were occurring, the President told business that instead of a breathing spell from legislative worries it faced anti-trust law investigations and further governmental domination of management. He did not mention taxes but stressed crop control that must bring subsidies and levies. At the same time the treasury was working on a new tax program, which may not pass in the next session, but adds to the worries of all industry.

Urges Roosevelt to Act.

"A Wall street conspiracy is causing consternation. Strong measures must be taken against them immediately to save the nation from a recurrence of the 1929 debacle.

"I have just been informed that the bankers and brokers are advising people to sell before it is too late, and I again urge that firm steps be taken immeadiately to frustrate this diabolical plan.

"Short sales have in great measure aided the downward trend of the market and this should be restrained by increasing the margins on short sales to 90 per cent and reducing margins on long transactions to 25 per cent.

GEN. ELECTRIC'S PROFITS, SALES ABOVE YEAR AGO

U. S. Steel Third Quarter Earnings Estimated.

according to a tabulation made yesterday by the Associated Press. The entire group had a combined net earnings of $70,336,000, against $63,513,000 in the third 1936 quarter.

That there has been a slowing down in the rate of increase, however, was indicated by the fact that in the second quarter of this year a similar group of early reporting companies had an increase of 22 per cent over the second quarter of 1936.

The Caterpillar Tractor company yesterday reported that its net profit for September—before provision for surtaxes on undistributed profits—amounted to $675,019, against $831,662 in September, 1936. Net sales totaled $4,003,324, against $4,608,763. For the nine months ended Sept. 30 net profit was $9,135,935, against $7,032,469 in the corresponding 1936 period.

Distiller Earns More.

Distillers Corporation-Seagrams, Ltd., distillers, reported for the fiscal year ended July 31, 1937, net profit of $7,444,258—Canadian currency—after taxes and charges, against a net profit of $4,208,673 in the preceding fiscal year. The 1937 fiscal year profit was equal to $3.95 a share on the common stock after deducting dividends on the 5 per cent preferred, against $2.41 a share in the preceding year.

For the quarter ended July 31, 1937, net profit was $1,414,874 after charges and preferred dividend requirements, equal to 73 cents a common share, against $1,491,356, or 85 cents a share, in the like period of the preceding year.

The American Writing Paper company reported that loss for the three months ended Sept. 30 was $34,831 after provision for interest on the current federal reserve bank loan. For the first nine months of this year, after adjusting the predecessor company's figures prior to April 1, 1937, to the basis of present operations, the present company had a profit of $82,399. This profit was after all expenses but before interest on the bank loan, general mortgage bonds, and federal income taxes. Profit for the comparable 1936 period on the same basis was $22,135.

E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. reported that its profit for the first nine months of this year was equal to $5.33 a share, against $5.31 a share in the corresponding period of last year.

Bliss & Laughlin Report.

Bliss & Laughlin, Inc., Chicago steel products manufacturer, reported that its unaudited net earnings for the first nine months of 1937 were $626,663, after federal income taxes but before provision for surtax on undistributed earnings, excess profits tax and year-end adjustment, against $436,192 in the corresponding 1936 period. Earnings for the first nine months of this year were equal to $3.60 a share, against $2.51 a share in the corresponding 1936 period.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

Ten Lambs Die

October 18, 1937.

TEN lambs from the Tribune's Wheaton farm flock have died since the middle of the summer, apparently as a result of stomach worms and lice. The entire flock recently was rounded up and drenched and put through the dipping vat. Only one lamb has died since they were treated and the others are beginning to gain flesh and show more life.

The first lambs to die were posted and found to be infested with stomach worms, although there did not appear to be enough worms to cause death. When the flockmaster noticed that many of the lambs rubbed against trees, fences, and the corners of the barn, he caught some of them and examined them closely and found lice. A veterinarian examined the flock and decided that both the lice and the worms had contributed to the deaths of the lambs that were lost.

2 Treatments Given.

The lambs were drenched with a copper sulphate [bluestone] solution made by dissolving four ounces of the copper sulphate in three gallons of water. Each lamb was given two ounces of the solution from a syringe. When treating mature sheep for stomach worms, four ounce doses are given. The lambs were dipped in a creosote solution to rid them of lice. The breeding ewes will be drenched and dipped before cold weather. The practice ordinarily followed at the farm is to dip the ewes regularly each spring soon after they are sheared. This was not done last spring because of cold weather.

Stomach worms are among most common causes of trouble in sheep, especially farm flocks. When sheep are kept on open range they are said to be less likely to become infested because they may more readily be shifted to new and clean pastures. Once a pasture has become infested with stomach worms, about a year usually is required to free the sod of the worms' eggs after the sheep are removed.

Attack 4th Stomach.

Sheep, like cattle and other ruminants, have four stomachs. Scientists have found that the small, thread-like stomach worms attach themselves to the walls of the fourth stomach and suck the sheep's blood. The worms produce their eggs in the stomach of the sheep or lamb and the eggs pass out and are scattered over the pastures. They hatch during warm weather and the larvæ crawl onto blades of grass where the sheep and lambs pick them up while grazing. The larvæ then grow into mature worms and start the life cycle over.

Stomach worms are said to be more difficult to control where sheep have access to open ponds and water holes.

Saleswomen.

This Message Is Addressed to Women of Education and culture, who have had no special training for business and who right now find it necessary or desirable to establish themselves for the future.

The selection of a vocation which will particularly suit your training and requirements is important. If you have certain qualifications, age 28 to 45, we can offer you the exact solution of your problem. We invite you to consult with our personnel director whose guidance will be valuable in making your decision. This work in our Educational Sales Division has to do with character development in children and offers splendid earning possibilities in commissions and bonuses. Come in at once and talk with Miss Helen Gillett who will gladly explain the possibilities. Suite 1004, 360 N. Michigan.

MARINELLO

OCTOBER 19, 1937.

AN OPEN LETTER TO AMBITIOUS GIRLS:

The will to accomplish elevated mankind above the savage—it taught men to fly—it made radio possible—in short, every forward step was made because some one was not satisfied with the former state of affairs.

In your personal life, you have a decision to make of just as much importance to you as inventions and progress have been to the world. Are you going to think that "a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush" and continue at a job which offers little or no hope for the future? Or are you going to determine that you are going to succeed and build for yourself a future of assured independence and financial gain?

If you have the will and desire to succeed, and if a career in Beauty Culture appeals to you, it will be to your advantage to have a personal talk with me at Marinello [National School of Cosmeticians, Inc.], 108 N. State-st., Chicago, the foremost school of Beauty Culture in the world. Day and evening classes at Marinello must necessarily be limited, therefore it will pay you to visit our school today. If you cannot do this, write or phone State 5057 for National Descriptive Manual.

LOUIS A. PERRAUD, DEAN.

YOUNG SNITE STARTS TRIP TO FLORIDA IN "IRON LUNG"—Frederick B. Snite Jr. in his respirator aboard C. & E. I. train at the Dearborn station following trip from Billings Memorial hospital in specially equipped van. The transfer was made without incident. Snite, who has been kept alive by "iron lungs" for more than eighteen months, will spend the winter at the Snite home in Miami Beach. (Story on page 12.)

WRECKAGE OF LUXURY AIRLINER FOUND ON MOUNTAIN SIDE; ALL 19 ABOARD BELIEVED DEAD—The first aerial view of United Air Lines' "Mainliner" after it crashed into snow covered slope of Hayden peak in the Uinta mountains 80 miles southeast of Salt Lake City, Utah. Searchers flying over the wreckage could detect no signs of life. It will be many hours before ground parties are able to reach the plane. There were 16 passengers and crew of three aboard. The plane was bound for the west coast from Chicago and the east. (Story on page 1.)

CABIN OF AIRLINER WHICH CRASHED IN UTAH—Interior view of Douglas DC-3 plane of the type which plunged into mountains near Wyoming-Utah border with 19 aboard. These planes have seats for 21 passengers. There is a compartment for the stewardess in addition to operating room for pilot and co-pilot. The front of the plane was smashed and the wings sheared off. Airmen who flew over the wreckage said it was unlikely that anybody survived the crash. The plane struck at an altitude of 10,000 feet. (Story on page 1.)

[World Copyright: 1937: By NEA Service, Inc.]

DIONNE QUINTUPLETS START A TRICYCLE RACE AROUND PLAYGROUND AT CALLENDER—Wearing their new tams and fall coats, the five little girls are ready for action outside their nursery. That's Marie bending over the handle bars at the head of the line. She is followed by Cecile, Yvonne, Emilie, and Annette. There is an occasional spill when the girls take the corners on two wheels but that only adds to the fun. The quintuplets enjoy outdoor sports of all kinds both winter and summer.
